Fairbanks, at Grave of Lincoln's Mother, Eulogizes Martyred President.

TALKS TO EDITORS AT LINCOLN CITY

Three Former Governors in Program of Pilgrimage to Indiana Village.

Lincoln City, Ind., June 12.—At the grave of his mother Abraham Lincoln, martyred president, was eulogized by a former vice president of the United States and three former governors during the pilgrimage today of the Indiana Republican Editorial association to this place. The grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln and the old Lincoln home are now included in a state park.

Augustus E. Willson, former governor of Kentucky, addressed the editors and their friends on behalf of the state of Lincoln's nativity; W. T. Durbin, former governor of Indiana, on behalf of the state of Lincoln's boyhood; Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois, on behalf of the state of Lincoln's final adoption, and Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president, on behalf of the nation.

The editors came here by special train and returned to Evansville this afternoon for a boat ride on the Ohio river. After reviewing the life of the civil war president, Mr. Fairbanks paid special tribute to his modest, patience and loyalty.

These Days of Hysteria.

"In these days of hysteria and of the reckless impeachment of our political institutions, in these days of anxiety for the future," said the former vice president, "it is well to recall the unwearying patience, the sublime faith and the loyalty of Abraham Lincoln to the cause of the union. His confidence in the virtue of republican government and his trust in the ultimate judgment of the American people.

"Mr. Lincoln was beset by more grave questions than ever taxed his illustrious precedessors or his great successors, but he never lost control of his better judgment; he never compromised with expediency nor never for one moment bartered sound principles for the hope of political preferment."

Reviews Lincoln's Life.

Mr. Fairbanks reviewed the life of President Lincoln, beginning with the time when he came as a boy to his mother's knee in the log cabin in the forest of southern Indiana and down to

NEW PREMIER IN PLACE BUT A DAY

Rabot Resigns When French Chamber of Deputies Opposes Policy.

FIRST VOTE DEFEATS

Paris, June 12.—The new French cabinet, of which Senator Rabot is premier, was defeated today in the first division taken in the new chamber of deputies by a vote of 306 to 262. The premier resigned. He had held office but one day.

Intense excitement was manifested in the chamber of deputies when Rabot mounted the tribune to read the cabinet's declaration of policy. In many quarters doubt was expressed whether the cabinet would be able to live through the day owing to its attitude concerning the rigid maintenance of three years' military service law. At the end of his speech Premier Rabot said he was ready to accept interpollations immediately and it was regarded as likely that a vote of confidence would be put later in the day.

The new cabinet decided today to ask for a loan of $180,000,000 at 3½ per cent. payable in twenty-five years. The proceeds were to be spent for the extraordinary requirements of the army and navy.

Will Not Admit Carranza Delegates in Absence of Armistice.

NOTABLE STEP TAKEN

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 12.—The mediators will not officially admit to the conference here the representatives Gen. Carranza has announced he will send to Niagara Falls. The South American diplomats said they could not recede from their original condition demanding an armistice.

They reiterated that while admission of the constitutionalists is and will continue to be contingent upon declaration of an armistice, the mediators would have no objection if a conference could be held between the Huerta delegates, the Carranza delegates and the Americans. In fact, such a suggestion has been under consideration for some

THREAT TO BLOW UP CUNARD LINE

Capture Man Who Demanded $10,000 as Immunity for Steamship.

New York, June 12.—Two weeks may elapse before Henry Westcott or Burton, the young West Indian negro charged with attempting to blackmail the Cunard Steamship company, by threat of blowing up a liner can be extradited from New Jersey. Meanwhile he is held in jail at Hackensack.

While extradition papers are being prepared the federal authorities will be consulted and it is believed that they may take a hand in the prosecution, because Burton used the mails in the alleged attempted blackmail. The police do not believe he had an accomplice.

To the New York detectives and secret service men of the West Shore railroad Burton is said to have confessed the authorship of the letters in which arrangements were made for the payment of the $10,000 demanded as immunity for the safety of a Cunard liner which the writer declared would be blown up at sea by placing dynamite in the coal.

Staged a Drama.

In carrying out these instructions the detectives staged a spectacular drama in life following in detail every injunction specified by the would-be steamship wrecker. Burton, too, the detectives allege, carried out the part assigned the collector of the $10,000 by blowing a police whistle as a signal for an agent of the Cunard line to drop a package containing the money from the rear platform of a West Shore train, and to the railroad tracks. Detectives stationed on a special train following seized Burton, who they say picked up the decoy package.

Previous to staging the final act of the plot last night the detectives Wednesday afternoon followed the first order. The writer of the letters demanded as an indication of good faith that an agent of the Cunard line should stand for three minutes with an arm resting on a statue in the New York City Hall park at 5:30 o'clock p. m. of that day. At the end of three minutes, the agent was to raise his hat and disappear. The writer stated that he would be in a position to see and would take this panto-

Secretary Biederwolf Says Commercial Club Would Offer Site.

If Governor Ralston really considers it advisable to ask the state legislature to take steps toward the removal of Indiana university from Bloomington, Fort Wayne will be ready and eager to enter a tempting bid for an effort to have the state lawmakers select this city as the location for the big institution.

This was determined Friday when The Sentinel interviewed a number of prominent business men and educators. For about a year Bloomington has been having trouble with its water supply, and conditions are regarded so bad that it threatens to bring serious consequences to the student body. Considering this, Governor Ralston says he is carefully investigating conditions and may ask the legislature to remove the university.

Would Make Offer.

Fort Wayne, as the second city in the state, would have something very tempting to offer to get the institution here, according to Secretary Charles L. Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, and his opinion is endorsed by many members of the club. Professor J. N. Study, superintendent of the Fort Wayne public schools, also believes that Fort Wayne has a nexcellent chance to land the university if it is finally decided to remove it from Bloomington.

"It will be worth while for Fort Wayne to keep in close touch with the proposition at any rate," said Professor Study. "Fort Wayne's facilities are especially good and transportation condi-

Disser, of the Kerr Murray company, had about decided to contract for a lease on the Kerr Murray factory buildings at Calhoun street and the Wabash tracks.

"Fort Wayne has excellent facilities in many ways. Its railroad and general transportation conditions are good and everything seems favorable for the location of our factory here," said President White Friday afternoon. "We have conferred with Receiver Disser and have also inspected the buildings of the Kerr Murray company and they appear ideal for the use we desire of them."

Mr. White is accompanied by J. M. Gardner, representative of the company, and both men this afternoon expressed entire satisfaction at the suggestion of Art Smith, the local aviator,

Utterances of Premier Little Short of Declaration of Hostilities.

NEW WAR CLOUD IS OVER THE BALKANS

Greece Rises With Fire in Eye Over Outrages by the Turks.

Athens, Greece, June 12.—A warning to Turkey which fell little short of a formal declaration of hostilities was uttered today by Premier Venizelos of Greece in the chamber of dputies. He was speaking on the treatment of Greek subjects in Turkey.

The premier's attitude showed that the tension between Greece and Turkey was near the breaking point and that the danger of war was imminent. M. Venizelos, who obviously found difficulty in restraining his language when he spoke of the way in which the Turks had treated his fellow countrymen, said:

"I do not wish to allow to escape me words which cannot be recalled but I should fail in my duty if I did not inform the chamber of deputies that the situation has become grave, even very grave. If a stop is not put to these conditions the Hellenic government will be forced not to content itself with joining in the lamentations of unhappy refugees."

Statement is Cheered.

Loud and prolonged cheers greeted the statement of the premier who added that thousands of Greek refugees had already reached the homeland from Turkey while thousands more were only awaiting transportation facilities "in order to escape from their persecutors." Such a situation, he concluded, could not be borne much longer.

INDIVIDUAL DRINKING CUPS FOR HORSES NEXT.

New York, June 12.—Individual drinking cups for horses is proposed in an ordinance before the committee on health of the board of aldermen. Every driver of a commercial vehicle will be required to carry a pail to water his own horses. Introduction of the ordinance followed an outbreak of glanders for which the public drinking troughs were held partly responsible.

CHICAGO LAWYER WILL GET PLACE

Thomas B. Jones Slated as Federal Reserve Board Governor.

LIST NOW COMPLETED

Washington, June 12.—Thomas B. Jones, a Chicago lawyer, former member of the Princeton university trustees, and a personal friend of President Wilson, has practically been selected for governor of the federal reserve board. It was said unofficially today that his nomination would go to the senate Monday.

With the nomination of Mr. Jones, the names of Paul M. Warburg, of New York; W. G. Harding, of Birmingham, Ala.; A. C. Miller, of San Francisco, and E. C. Simmons, of St. Louis, to be members of the board, are expected to go to the senate. Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams, of the currency bureau, will be ex-officio members.

It was definitely stated at the white house that the president would formally announce the personnel of the board Monday. Mr. Warburg and Mr. Harding are bankers, Mr. Miller is an economist and at present assistant secretary of the interior; Mr. Simmons is a merchant. Mr. Jones, as well as being a lawyer, is a student and expert in finance.

With the appointment and organization of the board, the work of actually organizing the country's new banking system will get under way and officials hope to have it in operation for the crop-moving period in the autumn.

LORIMER BANK CLOSES DOORS

State Examiner Takes Hold of Chicago Financial Institution.

A MILD RUN STARTED

Chicago, June 12.—The LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank, organized by William Lorimer five years ago when he was United States senator from Illinoiss and of which he has since been president, was closed today by the state bank examiner. While rumors of financial trouble had been whispered of late, the actual closing of the institution was a surprise. Coincident with this action examiners closed three state banks which had heavy deposits with the larger institution.

Club Women Agree to Give Equal Suffrage Full Consideration.

GREETED BY CHEERS

Chicago, June 12.—The question of woman suffrage will receive the fullest consideration at the convention of the general federation of women's clubs. This announcement was made very emphatically by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the federation, at the opening of today's session. She was greeted with a storm of applause.

"The chair wishes to answer some seventeen questions which have been received with regard to the subject of woman suffrage," announced Mrs. Pennybacker. "The purport of these questions is, are we going to smother the suffrage question?"

At this the house became very silent and the speaker paused dramatically. Then the speaker resumed with an explosive "no." Then the president amplified: "It is not the intention to smother this great question."

Mrs. Pennybacker stated that the subject probably would come up this afternoon at the educational conference and that resolutions which might be presented at that time may be presented to the resolutions committee and that a report on them would be made tomorrow.

"Special privileges to none; equal rights for all, is the slogan of this convention," declared the chairman, amid further applause. Then she added: "Now lets do something less exciting. We will have the report on civil service reform." This report was read by Mrs. Imogene B. Oakley, of Pennsylvania.

CHILDREN WANT PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN.

Would Get a Site.

Secretary Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, stated Friday that if Fort Wayne has any chance to get the university, in case of its removal from Bloomington, the organization which he represents will exert every effort possible and he thinks that the club would be able to offer the university a suitable site in Fort Wayne for the location of its buildings. The Commercial club stands ready to aid in any manner, any effort that is made to have the state legislature order the removal of the university from Bloomington to Fort Wayne.

his assassination, and praised his every act.

He said Mr. Lincoln appreciated the humorous side of life and that it greatly relieved the tremendous strain upon him. He told a number of stories, illustrating the martyred president's wit.

"Mr. Lincoln was the most modest of men," continued the speaker, "and we may observe that true modesty accompanies real greatness. It was a fortunate thing that he should have been entrusted with the task of preserving the nation's life and wiping out its only crime. It was a good providence that gave the nation a man of his character, poise and judgment, of his sympathy, gentleness and strength. The story of his life will exert an uplifting influence on the youth of the land for centuries to come.

"The nation is erecting a monument in the national capital to the memory of Mr. Lincoln, which will be one of the most imposing in the world; but far more enduring than it will stand a united freed republic for which he gave the last full measure which a patriot can give for his country and his countrymen."

CITY GETS SOME GENUINE RELIEF

Cloudy Skies and Cooling Breezes Are Gladly Welcomed.

RAIN IS IN SIGHT

Cloudy skies and cooling breezes from the west brought Fort Wayne its first genuine relief Friday from the excessive heat of the past week. Even Forecaster W. S. Palmer is jubilant over the slightly lowered temperature and announces in his official predictions that this city and vicinity may expect some showers tonight.

As a comparison to show the difference in temperatures, the government thermometer Friday had not passed the 70 mark at 10 o'clock, while Thursday, and in fact every other day this week the mercury stood well past 80 degrees at that hour and some days neared the 90 degree mark by 10:30 in the morning.

It was announced Friday morning that the temperature during the day would range from five to ten degrees lower than that of Thursday, and conditions are favorable for showers late in the afternoon or tonight. Fair weather is predicted for Saturday.

The examiner reported that conditions were such as to warrant the closing of the Lorimer bank. A mild run started on the bank two days ago, according to the secretary of the institution and today more and more depositors gathered in front of the institution, which is a few doors from the board of trade building in LaSalle street. An hour after the arrival of the bank examiner the doors of the bank were closed. Examination of subsidiaries of the LaSalle street bank, it was announced, would be taken up by the examiner.

Mr. Lorimer was in conference with the directors of the institution throughout the morning. In the last statement issued by the bank its capital stock was placed at $1,000,000, surplus $250,000 and undivided profits $93,631. Its stock was then held at par. The statement gave the deposits as $5,058,586 and the loans $4,363,389.

Later the state bank examiner announced that he had sent examiners to three banks in Chicago classed as subsidiaries of the LaSalle street institution.

The examiners caused a suspension of business in the three, the Broadway State bank on the north side; the Ashland and Twelfth, on the west side Ghetto district, and the Illinois State Bank of Chicago, in North Clark street. The Broadway State and the Ashland and Twelfth State banks were organized within the year.

William Lorimer, jr., is listed as the heaviest stockholder of the Illinois State bank, which at the last report had deposits of $177,000 and a capital stock of $200,000.

time, so that if an agreement could be reached between these three parties at interest the mediators would finally admit all to the signing of a protocol.

Mediation today had achieved its first important step. After nearly three weeks of parleying, the meditors and the American and Huerta delegates were ready formally to approve in full conference the method by which the executive power in Mexico City shall be transferred from the Huerta administration to a new provisional government. The constitutionalist form of succession permitting Gen. Huerta to appoint as minister of foreign affairs, the man chosen for the provisional presidency has been abandoned. The United States claimed that to follow this method would be recognizing Huerta's authority as constitutional. Instead there will be an abrupt transfer of authority to the new provisional president with the probability that the oath of office will be administered by the chief justice of the supreme court.

There was a deadlock for three days over the manner of transition from Huerta but the Mexicans finally yielded on the ground that technicalities should not jeopardize the prospects for peace. The mediators too are determined to remove every technical obstacle. The work of the conferences is now centered on the second point in the plan for the pacification of Mexico which deals with the personnel of the new government.

The coming of constitutionalist delegates at a time when the proceedings have reached the critical stage where personnel is being iscussed wdill not be unwelcome to the Americans and it is suggested in some quarters that even the Huerta delegates, anxious for an end of the civil strife will be glad to have the negotiations hurried by having all sides of the Mexican situation represented.

RELIEF AT WASHINGTON.

Swift Changes in Work of Mediation Prove Gratifying.

Washington, June 12.—Swift changes in mediation proceedings that reached a climax with Carranza's announcement that he would send representatives to Niagara Falls encouraged administration chiefs today when they resumed their study of the Mexican problem. Rafael Zubaran, chief of the constitutionalist agency here, was prepared to forward Carranza's note to the mediators despite their attitude of yesterday which was taken to indicate they thought enough consideration already was being given to the northern faction in the parleys.

The sudden change in the trend of negotiations between the federal and American delegates over the transfer of authority in Mexico City was a source of tremendous relief to administration officials. The Mexicans had sought to abide by their constitution in such a transition, but the American mission objected on the ground that to permit Huerta to name his own successor, even if he were chosen at the Niagara Falls conference would be tantamount to recognition of the federals. The stumbling block was passed after the Mexicans conceded the point.

Constitutionalist agents here were in conference with Carranza at Saltillo until long after midnight. The constitutionalists would not discuss the personnel of the representation to Niagara Falls, but it was presumed Rafael Zubaran, minister of the interior in Carranza's cabinet, and acting as chief of the agency here, would be one of the delegates.

President Wilson today authorized the announcement that he considers the progress of mediation at Niagara Falls as "very encouraging." No formal statement was made of the basis of the president's optimism, it was said unofficially that he expects mediation to have a successful outcome within the next few days.

More optimism than has been displayed over the Mexican situation in official circles for some time was evident today among members of the cabinet. Secretary Bryan came out of the meeting saying the situation looked "very, very fine." Other members displayed the same feeling but would not discuss the basis for their hopefulness.

In the meeting which lasted for more than two hours, the news that Carranza is to send delegates to Niagara Falls, was taken up in detail. The administration does not feel that the mediators will finally refuse to admit Carranza's representatives to the proceedings.

Since the first letters were received about three weeks ago, officials of the Cunard line stated today that unusual precautions had been taken to guard all of its steamships lying at its pier in this port. This was the reason why the public was not admitted to the new steamship Aquitania when she was here during a part of last week.

About twenty years ago, it was stated a somewhat similar plot was almost carried to completion on a steamship of the Cunard line a fact that influenced the officials of that company and the police in planning for six days to thwart the plans by apparently falling in with the designs of the blackmailer.

HOUSE DISPENSES WITH CONFERENCE

Accepts the Senate Amendments to Canal Tolls Exemption Repeal.

BILL GOES TO WILSON

Washington, June 12.—Without the formality of a conference the house today by a vote of 216 to 71 accepted the senate's amendment to the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption and sent the bill to President Wilson.

When the bill returned today from its long, spectacular fight in the senate for action in the house, Chairman Adamson, of the commerce committee, in charge of the bill, at once moved that the house concur with the amendments instead of sending it to conference.

"The senate amendment," he said, "should be acceptable to all advocates of uniform tolls. It is exceedingly appropriate that the statement contained in the amendment should be made and promulgated in connection with the repeal bill itself—it is nothing but the truth and substantially the same declaration has been made by us on the floor of the house and elsewhere many times."

An attempt, led by Representative Moss, republican, of West Virginia, to substitute the senate amendment to the tolls repeal bill by an affirmative declaration of the rights of the United States to discriminate in favor of its own ships was defeated in the house, 174 to 108.

Lay Lines for Next Battle.

Administration senators sought conference at the white house today to lay the lines for the next legislative battle—the enactment of President Wilson's trust program. JUSTICE SWIFT FOR BOY BEAST

Otto Omsbacher Gets Two to Fourteen Years for Attacking Baby Girl.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Justice was swift in pursuit of Otto Omsbacher, the sixteen-year-old boy who made a shocking attack on the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meyers, Thursday afternoon. Arraigned in the circuit court Friday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery with intent to commit criminal assault, Omsbacher pleaded not guilty and then took the stand and described the abuse to which he had subjected the baby girl in the home of his parents, corner of Weisser Park avenue and Buchanan streets, into which the child, who resides near, had wandered during the absence of Omsbacher's parents. The child's mother recited what her little daughter had told her regarding the attack and Detective Sergeant Charles Spillner, who made the arrest related Omsbacher's confession to him. Judge Eggeman found the lad guilty and sentenced him to serve two to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville. He will be taken there soon.

Thain Child Well Bestowed.

After hearing a mass of putrid testimony Judge Yaple in the superior court Friday gave the custody of the five-year-old son of Dr. George Thain and Mrs. Daisy Thain, his divorced wife, to E. Clarence Shell, president of the Pape Furniture company. Mrs. Thain had brought suit to have modified the court's decree giving the custody of the boy to its father, alleging that he was an improper person to have the care and rearing of the child. Dr. Thain is now under conviction and penitentiary sentence in the Adams circuit court at Decatur for having performed a criminal operation that ensued in a woman's death. His case is now pending on appeal to the supreme court. The testimony in Mrs. Thain's suit was specially severe on her character and repute. Judge Yaple decided that neither the father or mother was entitled to the child.

Says He Was Tricked Into Marriage.

Roy Merica has filed in the superior court a suit for divorce from Minnie Merica and in his complaint charges that he was tricked into marriage on the 8th of last August by the defendant's false and fraudulent representations that he was the father of her unborn child. Following his arrest on charges preferred by the defendant "she induced him to make a settlement by marriage," Merica, according to his complaint, then "believing that to be the honorable thing to do under the circumstances." He says he found her representations to be entirely false and that they were so known by her to be and for the sole purpose of procuring her marriage to him. She was in no such condition as she alleged. Merica also says his wife accuses him wrongfully of associating with other women. A few days ago Mrs. Merica sued her husband in the superior court for support. They separated January 1.

Wants Divorce and $500.

Daisy M. Fryer complains to the superior court and says she wants a divorce from Pearl A. Fryer, to whom she was mated in February, 1907, and from whom she separated in July, 1910. She says he always treated her with cruelty, made no provision for her support, struck, beat and choked her and threatened to take her life. She asks $500 alimony. The defendant is believed now to be in the city of Logansport, Ind.

In the circuit court Henry Polenz has sued Ernest Hanes for $50 in replevin proceedings.

Albert H. Abbott has sued Henry C. Hille in the superior court to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $150.

In the circuit court Judge Eggeman has appointed Charles McKeon, Charles A. Wilding and John A. Bushman commissioners to partition the real estate involved in the suit of Charles M. Thomas vs. Viola B. and Arthur Thomas.

In the superior court George W. Thiebolt, treasurer, was given judgment for $72 against Oliver H. Markins on notes.

The suit of Minnie Merica against her husband, Roy Merica, for support, has been dismissed from the superior court.

Judge Eggeman in the circuit court spent the greater part of Friday listening to argument of counsel on demurrer in the cases of Frank P. Wilt and others and of the trustees of Plymouth Congregational church against the city of Fort Wayne to resist payment of assessments for ornamental lighting systems installed on Harrison and Calhoun streets. These are a part of numerous similar suits brought against the city.

In the superior court Calvin H. Brown, auditor of Allen county, has brought suit against Oscar Bolton and others to foreclose a mortgage. The demand is $3,450.

Theodore Thimlar has begun suit in the superior court against Walter A. and Lura E. Thimlar to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $375.

Luncheon has been prepared in a kitchen cooled by an Electric Fan. The fan is portable and is now cooling the dining-room.

Here you are eating a mid-day meal in summer and in perfect comfort. The thought that outside, on the street, the air is suffocating, does not occur to you or the family.

You only know that you are quite cool, and that everything tastes fine.

The G-E Electric Fan

serves comfort with every course. Its activities do not cease until you turn off the switch. Comfort becomes a mere matter of a finger touch.

It is economy in summer to do that which will bring any relief from intense suffering induced by extreme heat. A cent an hour is a trifling "tip" to give this meal-time servant.

WOMAN SOUGHT LOVE, ACQUITTED

Mrs. Werner is Freed of Charge of Killing Husband.

BIG SENSATION ENDS

Seattle, Wash., June 12.—Sensation-seekers struggled for places of vantage in Judge Mackintosh's courtroom here when Mrs. Magdalina Werner was tried and acquitted of the murder of her husband at Issquah.

In a purported confession, as read to the jury, Mrs. Werner was declared to have admitted asking Frank Piconi, charged jointly in the crime, to do away with Werner for $100.

Mrs. Werner might be termed the "young-old woman who was never loved."

"I never knew what it meant to have some one to love me until I came to the county jail," she said. "I didn't know there was so much kindness in the world as I have received from women who have visited me here, and from the matrons.

"In all my married life, since I was 16, the only love I have known is the love for my children. I longed for love all my life and didn't get it from my husband. It was a hard life to live."

But after weeks of waiting for trial, she was acquitted, and the Magdalina Werner of today and the Magdalina Werner of ten weeks ago are two different women.

INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION.

"About five years ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets after suffering from indigestion and constipation for years without finding anything to relieve me. Chamberlain's Tablets helped me at once and by using them for several weeks I was cured of the complaint," writes Mrs. Mary E. McMullen, Phelps, N. Y. For sale by all dealers. —Adv.

PARTY SLAVERY FOUND A MENACE

Governor Hodges, of Kansas, Urges Children to Be Independent.

PLATFORMS USELESS

LaHarpe, Kan., June 12.—That the old partisanship of politicians is rapidly being driven out of American political affairs as people come to realize that the bigoted partisan in politics is in politics for his own selfish interest is the belief of Governor Hodges.

The governor made the annual commencement address to the LaHarpe high school and urged the graduates to study state and national affairs so they could vote for the best interests of themselves and the country rather than for the selfish interests of the partisan politician. He said in part:

"I would urge your studying state and national affairs, study men, study politics and prepare yourselves for the burden of state that must eventually fall upon your shoulders. Do not belong to a political party because father did. Conditions are changing. Party platforms and pledges were never held so lightly.

In Politics for the "Rewards."

"In the past, principle ranked second to expediency, and literally, party expediency meant personal privilege, personal gain; and when the campaign was over, the victors rolled up their sleeves and divided the patronage—public office—without regard to efficiency, honesty or qualifications. Men were wont to regulate their political actions in accordance with the rewards offered or the penalties inflicted. It was customary for politicians to husband the truth with wonted frugalities and dispense generalities with generous lavishness.

"Both parties claimed that there would be an immediate downfall of the republic if their side did not win. The oft-repeated statement created that which the politicians desired—'partisanship'—but instead of the predicted downfall the nation continued to grow in stature, numbers and influence.

Salvation in Independent Vote.

"The individual members of the majority party began to realize that they were equally amenable to the laws passed by themselves as the minority party was. A strange political light appeared and it dawned upon man that beneficial legislation benefited men alike, no matter whether they were republicans or democrats, and notwithstanding they belonged to opposing political parties their interests were mutual. They began to realize that the bitterness and strife engendered by a few politicians was for their individual gain and the benefit of the interests that they represented.

"The independent voter is the purifying element in politics. He is the antiseptic that cleanses parties of corrupt practices. He is the most potent force in the state today. This growing body of men asking no political preferment, demands that men and parties shall stand for right and righteousness, and it behooves the party that wishes to perpetuate itself to hearken to these men. They have been the great moral force that has been shaping the destiny of the nation by exercising their suffrage for the betterment of the state, and unlike some of our reformers they stand—not grandstand—for a square deal."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Acts 9:1-16.

1 And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

3 And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined about him a light from heaven:

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

6 And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three days without sight, and neither did eat nor drink.

10 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Judas for one called Saul, of Tarsus: for, behold, he prayeth,

12 And hath seen in a vision a man named Ananias coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his sight.

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evil he hath done to thy saints at Jerusalem:

14 And here he hath authority from the chief priests to bind all that call on thy name.

15 But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel:

16 For I will shew him how great things he must suffer for my name's sake.

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1914.

Bring It to Fort Wayne.

Governor Ralston's determined stand for either permanent relief from the water famine at Bloomington or the removal of Indiana university from that city to some other location will serve to direct state-wide attention to a condition that has long existed, and with which the city authorities at Bloomington appear to have persistently temporized. For a good many years, it is declared, the Bloomington water supply has been woefully below grade, both as to quality and quantity, and recently the situation has become so acute as to work serious hardship on the students of the big state institution.

The action of the governor has resulted, in a very belated but nevertheless encouraging movement on the part of city officials at Bloomington, but the latter is accepted only at a considerable discount by those who are familiar with the outcome of earlier proposals and promises in this direction. It is admitted that the supply has been inadequate, but it is contended that this is to be remedied at once, and there is insistent declaration that the water is safe. We do not believe the situation is one with which the state of Indiana should temporize, nor can it afford to maintain a great educational institution at any point where the water supply can be fairly called into question. The Sentinel sees a happy solution of the whole problem in the removal of the university to Fort Wayne. Here will be found an ideal location, much more easy of access than the present one, and an abundant supply of deep rock well water, the integrity of which cannot be questioned. Fort Wayne can offer Indiana university a permanent escape from the conditions which have provoked criticism that has been both drastic and well-founded.

London is fearing increased activity of the militant suffragettes when Colonel Roosevelt comes to town and the British police are taking advance precautions accordingly. Doubtless the militants have gotten the impression that the strenuous ex-president would rather admire the sort of entertainment their smashing would afford and purpose to contribute their full share to the gaiety of the occasion which marks his visit.

The senate has by a decisive vote declared for the repeal of the canal tolls exemption, precisely as everybody knew it would declare weeks ago, as soon as the president asked for the repeal and before the floodgates of senatorial oratory were lifted. However, talking in such a relief to the average statesman that perhaps the formality of frenzied discussion has been worth while, despite the fact that it in no wise affected the general result.

"Let us have our skirts wide enough to walk to the polls," pleaded Mrs. Rudolph Blankenberg, of Philadelphia, before the national convention of women's clubs at Chicago—thereby calling attention to one menace to equal suffrage that appears to have escaped notice heretofore.

Six divorces granted in the superior court in a single day probably constitute a record-breaking accumulation of domestic dissension for this city. We fear this extremely hot weather is beginning to get on folks' nerves.

A CATCH WORTH WHILE.

By the way that left fielder ran for that foul fly far over alongside the bleachers, it might have been supposed that to catch it was the most important thing he had ever had to do.

The minute the bat cracked, he started, running like a fiend.

"You can't get it," the captain and another shouted.

"Look out for the railing," exclaimed the fans, who feared that their favorite might be hurt and lost to the game.

But he heeded nothing; he ran as if his very life were at stake; and just as the descending sphere was grazing the edge of the structure, he leaped forward, threw himself headlong, rolled over and over, but as he arose it was to a chorus of cheers, for he had the ball.

Was it that important?

Indeed it was, for it was the performance of a duty.

The left fielder was paid to do such things. To be sure, had he run less speedily and dared less bravely, missing the long chance, he wouldn't have lost his job or had his pay lowered.

But, on the other hand, he wouldn't have won that salvo of cheering or helped his teammates to retire the other side.

He did his utmost. He showed what nerve and training and keen, brilliant will power can do in a pinch. And that was worth more as a spectacle and as an example than the mere winning of one game or a dozen games.

Everybody who saw the fine performance was made just a little better by it; was given a new insight into what fit manhood is.

Everybody who saw carried home, consciously or unconsciously, a new ideal.

There isn't any limit to the value of a good ideal.

TO THE JUNE BRIDEGROOM.

You will think she is an angel, of course.

At her best, she is; that is, as near like one as mortals can be.

But don't let that scare you; for, after all, she's human. She will need three meals a day, a surprising lot of clothes, much affection, more forbearance and your constant steadying.

She won't always look or talk like an angel. Sometimes she will seem a fright, and act the part.

Then, young feller, is when, if you are wise, you will get right down out of the clouds, cease to worship, and with a smile on your face, take her into your strong arms, put a kiss wher nature intends it and lay down the law.

We say this, not in the least approving of masculine tyranny. There will undoubtedly come times, very many of 'em, when she, to balance the account, will also lay down the law. You'll obey without a word, if you're wise.

But as this is addressed to the June bridegroom, we needn't pause to consider her law-giving—it's yours we're discussing now.

The point is, do it smilingly and with a smacking kiss.

It all depends how you lay the law down whether you are a tyrant or not. If you do as we say we'll guarantee that, nine times in ten, she'll like you better for it.

ONLY ONE ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY.

"I have tried various colic and diarrhoea remedies, but the only one that has given me entire satisfaction and cured me when I was afflicted is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I recommend it to my friends at all times," writes S. N. Galloway, Stewart, S. C. For sale by all dealers. —Adv.

Whitley County News.

Columbia City, Ind., June 12.—Samuel F. Garber, who has followed the electrical business in this city for several years, has sold his outfit to Calvin Slusser.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Eyanson left Thursday morning for Valparaiso to attend the funeral of Arthur Zimmerman, editor of the Valparaiso Messenger.

Clifton Cordill, a young man of South Whitley, was badly injured Wednesday noon by being run over by a wagon. He is employed in the Cordill hardware store, when a team standing in front hitched to a wagon took fright at a passing auto. The young man made a leap for the wagon bed to check the horses by use of the lines. The wagon had dumping boards on it, and those on the side collapsed, throwing Cordill to the ground. The wagon passed over him, fracturing both bones of the left leg near the ankle, cutting a deep gash in the right leg below the knee, besides receiving severe bruises.

Emil Anthes, who has been afflicted with paralysis for eleven months, his legs, arms and speech being affected, was taken Wednesday to the Blue Cast sanitarium at Woodburn.

Lela Sell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sell, of this city, and Arthur S. Stouffs, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stouffs, of Richmond, Va., were married at Ann Arbor, Mich., Tuesday noon. The bride graduated from the local high school this year.

Prof. Lloyd Gates, superintendent of the Churubusco schools, and Miss Jessie M. Slagle were married Wednesday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Trustee Charles W. Slagle and wife. Rev. W. N. Sherrill officiated. The couple will reside at Churubusco.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Garber spent Wednesday at Fort Wayne, the former transacting business and the latter visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walter West.

Louis Eyanson went to Warsaw Wednesday to transact some business.

Michael Yohe, a well known Union township pioneer, is in a very feeble state from ailments due to general senility.

H. M. Miller, George Walters and Roy Garber made a trip to Indianapolis Thursday to transact business.

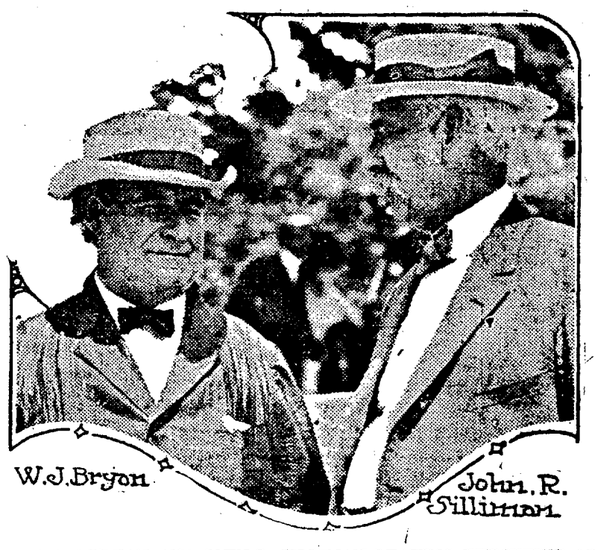
SILLIMAN, FREE AT LAST FROM HUERTA'S PRISON, TELLS BRYAN ABOUT IT.



SECRETARY BRYAN AND JOHN R. SILLIMAN LEAVING EXECUTIVE OFFICE AFTER TALK WIT H PRESIDENT WILSON.

More intense resentment would be aroused throughout the nation against Huerta, it is said, if the narrative which Vice Consul J. R. Silliman has just told President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were made public.

Silliman arrived in Washington, after finally being freed from the prison in Saltillo, where the Huerta forces had thrown him.

Famous Old Mexican Port Has Been Made a "Dry" City.

WHAT BOALT FINDS

(By Fred L. Boalt.)

Tampico, Mexico, June 12.—I came to Tampico to get acquainted with the rebels.

A good deal depends upon what sort of folks they are.

If they are the wrong kind of folks, they will, of course, only make confusion worse confounded in Mexico.

If they are the right kind, they may solve America's problem in Mexico when they reach the capital.

I take it that it is fair to assume that ... behavior of the rebels in Tampico may be used as an indication of how they may be expected to behave when they shall have captured Mexico City and wrested from the Huertastas the reins of government.

The tank steamer dropped us off on the wharf in the river and into an atmosphere of almost Sabbath calm.

In all your life you never saw a quieter, more orderly city than Tampico today.

There had been no looting when the rebels took the city. I was able to verify the earlier report that just two soldiers had attempted to loot, had been caught red-handed and had been shot on the spot.

All the shops and stores are open and doing business.

But all "cantinas" are closed—tight!

There is, therefore, absolutely no drunkenness. You can get a drink nowhere except at the Hotel Imperial, which is patronized only by foreigners.

The constitutionalists added their seal to the seals of the American and British consuls on the doors of all empty buildings.

The constitutionalist governor, General Caballero, a man at once cautious, just and firm, has given guarantees to all foreigners.

Tampico is an oil town. American, English, Dutch, German and other oil interests have wells and refineries in the district.

Mark this: That since the day the federals were driven out, not one well has stopped pumping!

Not one American has been killed!

Not a stick nor stone of property has been destroyed!

Tampico, under rebel rule, pursues the even way of peace.

Only the banks are closed, of their own accord, because they fear they would otherwise become overloaded with constitutionalist money.

But the oil companies are dickering with Carranza for rebel money with which to meet their pay rolls. I know of one company that offered $1,000,000 gold for $4,000,000 constitutional money but Carranza held out for an exchange of three to one.

The merchants prefer constitutionalist to federal money.

The forced loan story was a lie.

No Americans or other foreigners were levied on in that way.

Only wealthy Mexicans and Spaniards who were known Huertastas were compelled to lend money to the constitutionalist government.

I reached Tampico in time to see the last of the rebel army leaving for the south in pursuit of Zaragosa's federals.

Not only were they better armed and equipped than the federal tatterdemalions I had seen on the outposts around Vera Cruz, but they were bigger and stronger physically, and more alert and intelligent.

Remembering what the two Americans on the tank steamer had told me about Mexican soldiers not knowing or caring what the war was about, I asked a score of these rebels why they fought.

And they all made the one answer: "We fight," they said, "to get back the land that was stolen from us."

SOCIETY

Mrs. Arnold Tresselt and Miss Vera Tresselt entertained over twenty young women this afternoon at Mrs. Tresselt's home in Florida drive in honor of Miss Edith Nickell. Many roses made the rooms and porch fragrant with their perfume. Yellow ones in the diningroom and pink ones in the livingroom and on the porch made a pretty color effect, and yellow was a color of part of the luncheon menu. Mrs. Arthur Rose, Miss Nellie Wilt and Miss Helen McGee assisted in serving the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Wenger, of Connersville, who were married there on Thursday, arrived here the same evening and were guests of honor at a family wedding dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Reul, who are cousins of the visitors and who will entertain them a part of their time in this city. There were covers for twelve at the dinner. The table was beautifully decorated with a basket of pink roses tied with tulle bows. A number of small parties have been planned in honor of the visitors, who will also visit Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schultz.

The Misses Catherine, Clara and Cecilia Ryan, of West Pontiac street, entertained on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Clara Dietrich and gave her a miscellaneous shower of gifts to use in her new home after her wedding. Intimate girl friends of Miss Dietrich formed the company. Progressive pedro was played and prizes were won by Miss Young and Mrs. Kinder.

Covers were laid for seventy-five at the banquet at the Fort Wayne Normal school held Thursday evening and given by teachers of the school and members of the junior class, complimentary to the seniors. Very lovely decorations in brown and gold were effective, both in the long hall where the banquet was served, and on the tables. Favors of brown baskets filled with calliopsis blossoms, were handmade in the manual training work of the school, were a pretty feature of the table arrangements. The guests included aside from Miss Wilbur, principal of the school, the members of the board of school trustees and their wives, the members of the Normal Alumnae association, Prof. and Mrs. J. N. Study. Miss Wilbur was toastmaster and responses were made by W. H. Shambaugh, Misses Bertha Tower, Mildred Rohyans, Laurinda DeVilbiss and Erma Dochterman, who represented classes of different years. Miss Marie McMullen sang and there was other music during the evening.

The alumnae association of St. Augustine's academy gave a banquet at the Anthony hotel on Thursday evening. Covers were laid for forty. Marguerites formed a beautiful decoration for the table. Miss Jane Mooney, who is president of the association, presided as toastmistress. Revs. J. R. Quinlan, Kelley and McCarthy, Mrs. W. W. Wagner and Miss Grace Barva responded to toasts. Music was furnished by a victrola.

Eben Lane, who is at home from Phoenix, Ariz., for a visit with Mr. and Mrss. C. R. Lane, went to Oxford, O., today to visit his sister, Miss Helen, a student at Miami university.

Miss Margaret Hanna is going to Leland, Mich., within a few days to open her cottage for the season, which she has rented to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ball, of Muncie. She will visit her sister, Mrs. E. H. Coombs, of Detroit, on the way home.

Roy Tucker was graduated from the Indianapolis Dental college on Wednesday and after taking the state examination will visit for a few days in the southern part of the state and then return home and go into business with his brother, Dr. Lyle Tucker.

Mrs. Julia A. Lange and daughter, Julietta Marie, have returned from Notre Dame and Chicago. On Sunday Mrs. Lange and Miss Lange will go to Defiance, Ohio, to attend the wedding of Mrs. Lange's nephew, Alphone J. Baltes, and Miss Gertrude Wisda, which will be solemnized at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

Misses Esther Jensen and Elsie Hall are going to Chicago on Saturday and were honored guests at a pretty party on Wednesday evening given by Miss Agnes Jensen. Mrs. E. B. Taylor, of Coesse, was an out of town guest. From the city were Misses Katherine Strothers, Lois Branstrator, Lucinda Henline, Effie Branstrator, Anna Janorschke, Dolly Buffink, Ethel Gaff, Helen Gallagher, Princess Haffine.

A dinner party of pretty arrangement was given at the Anthony hotel on Wednesday evening in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Hulda Keller. Pink roses and syringa blossoms formed the beautiful table decoration. Pink ribbons extended from the center of the table to the place cards. Ends of the ribbon in the center were attached to individual bouquets. Miss Keller received a gift of roses. Others who participated were Misses Helen and Bertha Schroeder, Grace Rohrer, Lena Terry, Rose Keller, Mabel Cooper, Laura Kasbaum, Pearl Stewart and Mary Muldary.

Miss Eva Kress, who is to be a June bride, was entertained on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Blaising with a few friends who gave her a shower of aluminum articles. An elegant luncheon was served during the evening which was spent in visiting. Those who took part in this good time were Meadames Stals, Hueber, Jack Frederick, Hilker, Boxberger, Carrington, Miers, Baker, Henry, Kratzman, Christie, Molitor, Schimmele, Blaising, Kelker, Kraft, Kress; S. Frederick, Vaughn, Ed Miers and Misses Edith, Della and Bernadette Hilker, Amelia Kraft, Katherine Stals, Alma and Frances Schenker, Esther Miers, Marie Hueber, Stella Unch, Elnora Kress.

A demonstration recital of the pupils of the Dunning system department of the European School of Music, in charge of Miss Ruth Spalding, was given on Thursday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and was well attended by parents and friends of the children. Games and songs in hand training, notation and ear training were illustrative of the work and of great interest to the audience. In the spelling match in the notation work Josephine Dodez's side won the games. In the ear training game Helen Ackerman won. There was melody writing at the blackboard, with transposition into another key by Julia Calhoun, and while this was being done Mary Louise Rhamy played a melody on the piano and transposed into any key suggested from the audience. This was considered one of the cleverest examples of the work and astonished the visitors, who were delighted at the progress made. Miss Dodez recited a Scarlatti verse, after the composers' game and there were rhythmical drawings of flowers and birds following the rhythm studies on the blackboard. Each child also played a little solo at the piano. Class pins were presented to each one as a badge of honor for finishing the first year's work. Other children who took part were Angela and Catherine Gilmartin, Mary Jane Crane, Frederick and Stuart Peters, Adelaide Kraus, Elizabeth Bowerfind, Mary and Linda Leslie, Helen Dodez, Doris Grove.

Mrs. Margaret Luley celebrated the seventy-eighth anniversary of her birth on Thursday evening, at her home, 519 East Jefferson street, with a family gathering and a number of intimate friends, who extended good wishes, visited and otherwise spent a pleasant time. There were present Mrs. Roman Ehinger, Mrs. Mathias Schuler, Mrs. Andrew Johann, Mrs. John Mommer, Mrs. John Winbaugh, Mrs. Dr. Stultz, Miss Anna Heidenrich, Miss Caroline Mommer, Mrs. John Kocks, Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, Mrs. August Eckart, Mrs. Mary Mettler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luley, Frank Luley and family, A. B. Luley and family, Edward Luley and family, Joseph and Jacob Luley. Gifts from her children and other relatives were received by Mrs. Luley and the birthday gathering was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended it.

O'Brien—Orvis.

Many years of prominence of the bride's family and her relationship to that remarkable woman, Mrs. Lucien P. Ferry, who is the bride's grandmother, make the wedding of Miss Minnesota P. Orvis and Mr. John D. O'Brien one of marked interest to Fort Wayne, Decatur and Marion, Ind., people. Miss Orvis and Mr. O'Brien were married at half-past 7 o'clock on Thursday evening in Trinity Episcopal church by Rev. E. W. Averill in the presence of relatives and near friends. Mrs. B. W. Rhamy, a relative of the bride, presided at the organ and played the bridal music from "Lohengrin" as the wedding party entered. The bride walked in with Dr. B. W. Rhamy, who gave her away. The attendants were Miss Clara McMillen, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. James H. O'Brien, of Detroit, who was best man. The bride wore her mother's first wedding gown, an ashes of roses silk made with a train and with low cut neck much like the prevailing style. The gown was covered with white embroidered net and trimmed handsomely with pearl bands. A spray of orange blossoms held her veeil to her hair and the bridal bouquet was of bride roses and white sweetpeas made in shower effect. The bride also wore a pearl necklace, the gift of her grandmother, and a handsome pearl comb that her mother wore when she was married. The bridesmaid, Miss McMillen, is a daughter of Prof. and Mrs. W. L. McMillen of this city. She was dressed in white and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. A feature of the music was the singing during the service by Miss Grace Miller, of Decatur, an old song that has been a part of marriage services in the Ferry family for generations, entitled "The Bridal Vow." After the wedding service the bride and groom and immediate relatives were entertained at the home of Mrs. R. D. Boyles, of West Main street, where the aged grandmother, Mrs. Lucien P. Ferry, is now making her home. There were about thirty-five guests. An elegant collation was served. Today the bride and groom went to their home in Marion, where they will be at home at 903 East Seventh street. The groom is a manufacturer.

Andrews—Brinkroeger.

Miss Edna Brinkroeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. W. Brinkroeger, of Spy Run avenue, and Mr. Russell C. Andrews were married on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride by Rev. Paul Miller, assistant pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. The bridesmaid was Miss Esther Brinkroeger, sister of the bride, and Mr. Gaylord Andrews, a brother to the groom, was his attendant. Miss Grace Beitzell, an intimate friend of the bride, played the wedding music, which consisted of the Mendelssohn wedding march as the bride entered the room and "Hearts and Flowers" during the marriage service. The bridal party stood in front of a banking of palms and ferns with pink, red and white peonies arranged in big clusters among the green. The bride made a beautiful appearance in her wedding costume. Her gown was made of white silk crepe with shadow lace for trimming and in her hair the bride wore a wreath of white rosebuds and her bouquet was also of white roses. The bridesmaid wore a yellow chiffon and lace dress and held a basket of yellow and white daisies. There were about fifty relatives present at the wedding. After congratulations had been extended the company was served a supper of elaborate preparation. The tables were trimmed with ropings of smilax and bouquets of roses and daisies. Mr. Andrews is a clerk in the Aurentz grocery and with his bride has gone to housekeeping at 402 Nussbaum avenue. Both bride and groom have many warm friends who entertain for them both respect and admiration. Mr. and Mrs. Stutts and family, of Van Wert, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Andrews and family, of Dayton, O., and Mr. Leon Andrews and family, of Toledo, were out of town guests.

Lopshire—Thomas.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the new home of the bride and groom in Nuttman avenue when Rev. A. J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth church, united in marriage Miss Winifred Lillian Thomas and Mr. Clarence John Lopshire. Only immediate members of the two families were present. The bride and groom went to Chicago for a week's outing and on their return will be at home to their many friends. Mr. Lopshire is a foundry superintendent at the Fort Wayne Electric works.

WATERS FAMILY REUNION.

The Waters families held their ninth annual reunion at the farm of Wesley Waters, near Robison park on Saturday, June 6. This farm is known as the Waters homestead where most the older people that were present had spent their childhood days. The forenoon was spent in social chat and telling of the rambles and toils on the farm.

At noon a bounteous basket dinner was spread of which 110 guests partook. After dinner a short program was rendered by the children followed by talks given by N. W. Beavers, Fred Barrett, Mrs. Sadie Gregg, S. F. Bowser, L. T. Brokaw, Mrs. Martha Barrett and Dr. Mary R. Hutchinson, of Los Angeles, Cal. The business meeting followed. Two deaths and seven births have occurred since the last meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Bowser, of Fort Wayne, on the first Saturday of June, 1915.

Ice cream was served late in the afternoon after which each departed expressing their wish to be present at the next meeting.

Illinois Students Follow Advice of Scientist in Drink Buttermilk.

Champaign, Ill., June 11.—"Got 2 cents?".

"Yep."

"Let's get some buttermilk."

This conversation is carried on to the tune of forty gallons a day among University of Illinois students. The milk is sold by the dairy department. Counting 210 days in the college year, and averaging forty gallons a day, the Illinois students consume 8,400 gallons of Buttermilk between September and June. In the last few years buttermilk has become a popular drink. This is due in a large measure to the experiments of Metchnikof, of Paris, a scientist, who says one can keep young at one hundred by living right and drinking lots of buttermilk. Illinois students are following his advice.

Gen. Funston's Great Story, "Memories of Two Wars".

Hand-to-Hand Battle American Muscle Wins

(In the foregoing chapter Gener. Funston told of the night battle when the Filipinos opened fire from the trenches surrounding Manila on the Americans opposite them in the city. The next day and for several days following there was more or less firing between the trenches and one or two lively skirmishes. The following is Funston's story of one of the fights.)

CHAPTER XIII.

By GEN. FREDERICK FUNSTON, Brigadier General, United States Army.

Major Metcalf was to assist me in leading the attack. At the word of command three companies of the Twentieth Kansas rose to their feet and fixed bayonets. Leaping over the trench, the start was quickly made. Our right was directly opposite the enemy's left, but it developed that our left considerably overlapped his right.

For the first hundred yards the woods screened our movements, but when we broke into the open at a distance of 300 yards from the dike we could see that it was fairly alive with the straw hats of the Filipinos, and they opened on us as rapidly as they could fire. Our men, perfectly steady, did not reply until ordered to a few seconds later, and when they did they fairly combed the top of that dike with bullets.

We were advancing at a walk and it was point-blank range, and our fire so disconcerted the enemy that though they plied their rifles with great vigor, they were not exposing themselves enough to get any sort of good aim. They were armed entirely with Mausers, so that they had no smoke to interfere with them, while our Springfields produced the usual prairie-fire effect. What little wind there was, however, served to drive the smoke behind instead of ahead of us, so that we were not so much troubled by it as ordinarily.

The men were under perfect control, and while somewhat excited, were attending to their knitting. There had been scarcely a word spoken except for the occasional commands given by officers and non-commissioned officers, but when we were within eighty yards I had "charge" blown.

Only the men near the trumpeter could hear it, but as they raised a yell and went forward on a run the others followed suit. It does not take long to cover eighty yards if you are in a hurry, and in no time we were among them. Of course, as soon as our men began to run, they ceased firing, though it was recommenced to a certain extent when we closed.

As we reached the position and went over the dike all of the Filipinos who had not been killed or disabled rose to their feet and tried to get away. If we had molested them no further, and had let them go, it is probable that the fight would have ended at once, but our men were among them and a good many fought to save their lives. It did not seem to occur to them that they would be spared if they threw down their arms, but they had been used to fighting Spaniards, who had given them the same kind of quarter that they had given the insurgents of Cuba. A confused melee followed. It was the only time in my life that I saw the bayonet actually used.

Within twenty feet of me, a plucky little Filipino, one of the few of them who had his bayonet fixed, made a vicious jab at one of our sergeants, and a second later was run through the body. And he was not the only one to get the cold steel. During the mix-up I saw a Filipino raise his rifle and at a distance of only a few yards take a shot at one of our men. Just as the bullet struck the soldier in the thigh he saw the man who had shot him lowering his rifle. At first he seemed dazed, dropping his own weapon, but without stopping to pick it up, sailed into that Filipino barehanded, twisted his rifle out of his hands and beat his brains out with it. The enemy had a very fine silken flag with the emblem of the Katipunan embroidered on it. A number of them tried to get away with it, and it became the center of a short and sharp struggle in which firearms could not be used. In fact, in resembled as much as anything some of the confused scrambles that are seen on the football field. When we finally got the flag it had been riddled by bullets and was drenched in blood. It is now in the state house at Topeka.

The whole affair had lasted less time than it takes to tell it. The companies were assembled as soon as possible, preparatory to returning to our own lines, as a counter-attack which might be made on us by the Filipinos in the Caloocan trenches, distant only a few hundred yards, might have brought on the general engagement that I had orders to avoid.

The Filipinos suffered severely in this combat, but we did not take the time necessary to make a complete count of their dead and disabled, though along the left of their trench, where the hardest fighting had taken place, I counted thirty dead.

Among the dead we were surprised to find a very large and coal-black negro. As this was many months before any of our colored troops had been brought to the islands, the man could not have been a deserter from them, but was probably some vagabond seaman who had run away from a merchant-vessel in Manila bay. MERELY MAY AND HER UNCLE JOHN

Couple of Cold Ones for Supper Leads to Souse and to Jail.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

May Boitte did not attempt to deny that she had been drinking, but she hinted that she was not as drunk as had been represented and she told a palliating story of the events that led up to her run-in with Officer Lew Crawley. First there were a couple of "cold-ones" for supper. After supper May started out to old Aunt Mary's. Was Uncle John Reed at home? To be sure Uncle John was just that and nothing else. Good Uncle John slipped from the house and when he shortly returned he was embracing an armful of "cold ones." Whereat May refreshed herself anew and felt much better. Then under the affectionate guidance and cherishing protection of Uncle John out into the night fared May to seek diversion where she may be found. The next recorded incident of the evening's history was when May reeled from an alley onto Broadway. Patrolman Crawley was there as large as life and as solid as a cheese, just as though his sole appointed office had been to be there to receive May, which certainly Officer Crawley did. Meanwhile, reappeared Uncle John with his brawny arms again enclosing "cold ones"—three of them. So Officer Crawley included Uncle John in the little party that motored in smart style to police headquarters. In the city court Friday morning May had to admit that this was her third offense and that she had been let off twice previously on promises of sobriety and circumspection. One dollar and costs were laid upon her for public intoxication. Uncle John Reed had nothing to say and drew a similar penalty. Mrs. Boitte admitted she had three children, the youngest but fifteen. Later her husband refused over the telephone to pay her fine and said that for anything he meant to do she might just as well be carted off to jail at once.

Youthful Pervert Sent Over.

Otto Onspacher, aged 17 years, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the circuit court on a charge of assault and battery with intent to commit criminal assault. His bond was fixeed at $500, and he was sent to jail. Young Onspacher's crime was attempted against Virginia Meyers, 2-year-old daughter of Ed Meyers. The child was not injured by the heinous abuse to which she was subjected. Onspacher, who resides at the corner of Buchanan street and Weisser Park avenue with his parents, was alone in his home Wednesday afternoon and the pretty little child wandered in. Then it was that she was mistreated. At home the little girl was able to relate enough of her experience to make clear to her mother what had happened. Detective Sergeant Charles Spillner was put on the case and he arrested the lad, who readily confessed his crime and told enough about himself to indicate that he is a pervert. He drives a delivery wagon for a southside grocer and it is learned he attempted a criminal assault on a 7-year-old girl who was riding with him not long since.

Out Again and In Again.

Jim Carmody and Jim Welch had but recently got out of jail after doing quite a "bit" for petit larceny. They went back Friday morning to welter in Allen county's well-known bastile for as much time as $25 and costs and sixty days added will come to. They stole a bicycle belonging to Harry Kiefer from the corner of Baker and Calhoun street and were trying to dispose of the wheel at a second-hand store corner Montgomery and Lafayette streets when Detective Sergeants M. A. Rundell and Joseph Brennan pinched them.

Other City Court Cases.

Tom Jones said the barkeep in quenchery just across the street from his domicile has a disagreeable fashion of picking up Tom's quarters and saying, "You get no change, see," just like that, when Tom has but a single flagon of suds and has 20 cents coming to him just as fair and square as you like. The barkeep repeated Thursday night and Tom got peeved. Thereupon the barkeep threw him out into the street and Officer Collins threw him into the police headquarters container and Judge Kerr threw him into jail for eleven days unless he can raise $11.

Donald Doyle, on a loitering charge, was put under $200 bond and went to jail. When arrested by Detectives Rundell and Brennan Doyle was trying to sell two new blankets worth about $3 each. He said he bought them from a stranger on the city dump, paying 50 cents for them. He will be investigated.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

AREONAUT FALLS TO DEATH.

Parachute Fails to Open for J. O. Gill at Richmond.

Richmond, Ind., June 12.—J. O. Gill, an aeronaut of Mount Sterling, Ohio, was killed here last night when the third parachute of the string attached to his balloon failed to open and he fell nearly 500 feet, his body being literally crushed to a jelly. Gill's performance was to have marked the closing number of the program at the formal opening of Morton park and lake.

Several thousand persons were still on the grounds to witness his act, when Gill ascended at 7 o'clock. Instead of one parachute, Gill's balloon carried three, arranged one beneath the other and on the ring at the base of the lower parachute Gill had attached himself. The ascension was successful and at a height of 2,000 feet Gill cut loose from the balloon. The aeronaut then cut loose from the top parachute and a few seconds later from the second.

Instead of opening to the breeze, the big spread of canvas collapsed and the crowd of spectators realized that Gill was falling to his death. When spectators had traversed a field that intervened they found his lifeless body with the ropes of the parachute twisted about it. The man was 27 years old and had been making ascensions and parachute leaps for ten years. The failure of the parachute to work properly was not explained.

Articles of incorporation have been filed for the First State Bank of Pleasant Lake. The capital stock is listed at $25,000 and the incorporators are E. S. Croxton, Frank H. Chadwick, Frank G. Gilbert, Cyrus Cline and John P. Barsell. E. S. Croxton is president, Frank H. Chadwick vice president and Frank G. Gilbert secretary.

CARNIVAL SHOWS FOR ALL TASTES

Summer Festival Brings an Aggregation to Please the Multitude.

THE QUEEN CONTEST

The people of the United States have learned to love the modern carnival show. Even when the show fails to deliver any great part of what it promises, the people are disposed to be tolerant because the carnival offers the most enjoyable and relaxing of amusements. The theater confines one indoors for three hours lashed uncomfortably to a seat. The circus is a two-hour affair that dazzles with its rapidity and stupefies with its crowd. You leave the hard seats with a gratified sigh while your mind remains a confusion of what has been seen.

The carnival ground is a meeting place for democracy. Everybody goes, everybody falls into the light spirit of the occasion and everybody enjoys himself. There is freedom, movement, life, intermingling, good humor and the stirring and mixing of every pleasant emotion. The carnival affords all the variety, novelty and action of the circus, but so distributed and so made convenient to your time and pleasure that you enjoy them rationally and with capacity and leisure for their digestion. There is all the diversity of change and all the kaleidoscopic commingling of color that can be found in your pick and choice as the "greatest show on earth," but the carnival does not give you merely a fleeting tantalizing glimpse. You see it to the full of your capacity to enjoy. If one visit does not suffice, you make two, or three or one a day for the carnival's season. You apply yourself to enjoyment of what appeals most strongly to your taste and interest or most pleasantly excites your emotions.

In presenting the Con T. Kennedy shows for the Summer Festival week and public playgrounds benefit, the local committee offers the best carnival attraction it knows of. It is ranked the premier carnival aggregation of the United States. It consists of twenty great shows, all of them of the first order, and the carnival as a whole is clean and good. From it every objectionable feature has been stripped these many years and so high is the repute of the Kennedy shows that they are solicited to exhibit year after year at the Indiana State fair, in Kansas City, Minneapolis and other places where only the best can get it. The Kennedy shows come with a country-wide reputation for merit and with a guarantee that is attested by scores of cities and organizations.

Only One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Toilet Tips.)

It is not longer necessary to feel embarrassed because of ugly hairy growths, for with a delatone paste you can make every hair disappear in a very few moments. Just make a paste with a little powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure it is real delatone you get.—Adv.

HAS TOO MANY HUSBANDS.

Mrs. Mabel Martin, of Alexandria, is Given Fine and Jail Term.

Anderson, Ind., June 12.—Six months in jail and a fine of $100 were imposed by Judge Baget on Mrs. Mabel Martin, of Alexandria, when she admitted she had two living husbands and had not been divorced from either. She said she was married in 1911 to Joseph Harvey, who was killed a few months later in a mine explosion. She married Alger Box, of Indianapolis, in 1913, after a courtship covering one day. She soon left him and last September was married to George Martin without going through the formality of getting a divorce from Box.

TOADS AND SNAKES FARM AID.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 1'.—Official opinion has been received by Prof. H. A. Surface, state geologist, that the toad is more to be desired than the snake. But at that, the professor says, the snake is a good kind of creature, and should be esteemed by mankind.

He commends snakes—copperheads excepted—to the people as worthy of protection, because they are bug killers.

When the snakes eat toads, which are also bug killers, the professor admits the situation is complicated. But he gives the toads the decision. "If you have toads in your garden and can keep them there," he officially advises a correspondent, "it is well to do so. They are really more beneficial as insect destroyers than are the serpents.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE TAUGHT BY AID OF FIVE-ROOM BUNGALOW.

A GROUP OF MISS WILLIAMS' P UPILS LEARNING TO WEAVE AND SEW.

Berkeley, Cal., June 9.—Beatrice Williams, principal of the Hawthorn school, teaches domestic science in a practical way. In a model five-room bungalow, built chiefly by boys from the manual training department and fitted with every modern convenience, Miss Hawthorn daily instructs hundreds of girls from the factory district of West Berkeley how to become perfect housewives.

"Rug weaving, gymnastics, singing, dramatics and dancing are a few of the things I teach," said Miss Williams, "but my most important work is teaching the cooking of three meals a day and practice in making beds, sweeping and general housework, the object being to make the future homes of the pupils as attractive as possible with limited means."

PERKINS THERE WITH SOB STUFF

Doesn't Allow Himself to Be Left Behind on the Literature.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, June 12.—One reason why progressive party men object to George W. Perkins as the official spokesman of their party is found in the kind of literature he insists on putting out about himself. For instance, in the letter just made public by Amos Pinchot, demanding Mr. Perkins' removal as the party chairman, it is pointed out that Perkins sent out as official party literature a pamphlet containing the following sob stuff:

"It was the night before Albert J. Beveridge delivered his key-note speech of the new political crusade. He asked Colonel Roosevelt, George W. Perkins and a few other leaders to come to his room and hear him read the manuscript. The reading proceeded in tense silence. Beveridge was evidently laboring under emotion, and Colonel Roosevelt himself was visibly moved. But on George Perkins' cheeks the tears were coursing—and when Beveridge came to those passages in which he outlined the course of justice for the men who make the nation, Perkins, with a sob he could not stifle, hastily left the room and paced the corridors to regain his self-control."

As a press agent for himself and his trusts, Mr. Perkins is regarded by Mr. Pinchot as a great success, but he objects to a man heading the party who, though so deeply moved at the reading of Beveridge's treatise on social justice, yet permits conditions in the steel trust such as obtain in the Pittsburg mills.

Woman suffragists are delighted at the plan to have a vote on prohibition in the house. Woman suffrage and prohibition are alike in being outside of the official program prepared for the party by the house caucus. They are on an identical footing. If the rules committee can bring out a special rule for one it can for the other. The women have resumed their requests that the suffrage amendment be brought to a vote in the house.

An enlightening incident has occurred in the matter of the impeachment of Daniel Thew Wright, associate judge of the District of Columbia supreme court. The sub-committee has been digging up interesting facts about Wright—so interesting that one Pollock, representing Wright, sought and secured an interview at the New Williard hotel between Wade H. Ellis, well known Ohio politician and formerly connected with the department of justice during Taft's administration, representing Judge Wright on the one hand, and one Cooper who has been active in pushing the impeachment inquiry, on the other. Ellis desired in behalf of Wright to arrange with Cooper that certain evidence in the form of letters should not be brought before the investigating committee. The incident speaks for itself. Chairman McCoy issued a warning threatening contempt proceedings, which might be interpreted as placing Judge Wright in danger of being haled before the bar of the house on a charge of attempting to suppress evidence.

To visiting newspaper correspondents President Wilson announced that he sincerely hoped the conservation bills would be added to the house program. In this Congressman Kent, of California, coincides. Kent has been making the fight of his life all winter and spring before a hostile committee to get these bills out, and now that there is a chance for their passage he would like them pressed to a vote. Secretary Lane has assisted in formulating the bills, which are practically those first formulated by Gifford Pinchot in 1908-10, and all conservationists will applaud the president in his desre for this addition to the party program.

During the consideration of the tariff bill. of the loudest complaints heard against the danger of foreign competition, and t ehinability of American industries to compete with the "pauper labor of Europe," none was more shrill or insistent than the pottery makers in Ohio. It is interesting, therefore, to note the reports of that trade recently contributed to the senate by Senator Pomerene, taken from newspapers (mostly republican) in the pottery towns. For instance, the following from the Sebring Times, of Sebring, Ohio, in its issue of March 24: "The past two weeks hold the record for the biggest output of pottery in the history of Sebring. The most gratifying feature is that the ware is not going into stock, but is being used to fill orders, and is being shipped as soon as made."

The senator also quoted a Pittsburg trade journal, which on April 14, said: "Never before in the history of the American potting industry have there been so many kilns in use or so many potteries in active operation. Shipments are greater than ever before in the history of the trade."

GREAT RUSH OF WATER HINDERS

Men at City Power Plant Work Waist Deep in Icy Flood.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

The big force of city employes engaged in making the excavation for the large intake pipes for the condensing system at the city light and power plant are working waist deep in a flood of icy water that is pouring into the pit through the bed of gravel in which they are laboring. The water comes from the copious veins that drain the hills in the vicinity, and it is greatly hindering the work, both causing frequent cavings and preventing the men from working for more than a few minutes at a time. Laborers stay in the water until their lower limbs are numb and almost paralyzed by the cold and then come out to get warm. It will take considerable time to get the work completed. In making the excavation a splendid bed of gravel has been opened and about thirty loads have already been removed.

LAKESIDE PARK CONCERT.

Elks' Band Under Prof. Verweire Will ay This Evening.

The municipal concert season will be inaugurated in Lakeside park this evening, when the Elks' band under Director John L. Verweire will offer a program of exceptional attractiveness. March—"Nibelungen" ..... R. Wagner
Overture—"Poet and Peasant".... Suppe
Simplicity—"Characteristic" .....
..... Theo Moses
Grand Fantasia, "Providence," introducing "The Seasons," "When Jesus Our Lord," "Inflamatus," "I Would That My Love," "Priest's March From Athalia," "The Holy City," "The Heavens Are Telling" from the "Breakers"..... Arr. by Tobani
Cornet Solo—"Greater America"..... Rollinson
John L. Verweire.
Selection from "Lucia di Larmmermore" ..... Donizetti
Rag-time Songs ..... Selected
Ray Shreve.
Valse, from the French opera "Adele" ..... Briquet
Selection from "Faust"..... C. Gounod
March—"The Battle Commander"..... Hermandez

GET DOWN TO SEWER BREAK.

Trouble With Interceptor Has Been Uncovered.

Mayor Hosey and Messrs. Singrey, Kelly and Hilgeman, of the board of works, went out Friday afternoon to view the break in the intercepting sewer, on Erie street, between Hanover and Howard streets. The Moellering Construction company, which last Monday went on the job to complete the excavation begun by the city, got down to the sewer arch Friday at a depth of about thirty-five feet. The break was uncovered and the reason why the big drain had not been working was disclosed. The task has been difficult and it will require considerable time to remove the obstructing accumulation of earth from the conduit and to repair the big breach in the masonry.

BOARD OF WORKS MEETING.

At the Thursday night meeting of the board of works assessment rolls were confirmed for paving Swayne avenue from South Wayne avenue to Fox avenue; paving Berry street from Rockhill to College and paving the alley between Wayne and Washington streets from Ewing street to Fairfield avenue. Frank J. and Jessie Federspiel submitted a deed conveying to the city half of the ground necessary to continue a street on the south line of Pugh's addition from Weisser Park avenue to the alley east of Gay street. The board confirmed resolutions for several sewers in the south part of the city, one in the east part and for the construction of a cement curb on the east side of St. Joe boulevard from Lake avenue to Forest avenue.

WATER FOR FOSTER PARK.

Board Lets Contract for Running Main Into Recreation Grounds.

The park board has given James E. Ford, former superintendent of the waterworks department, the contract for extending a city water main into Foster park, and the work will be inaugurated at once. It will cost the park department $475 to have this done. The main will run 1,500 feet into the park and will terminate in the center of the principal picnic ground, where there will be installed a bubbling drinking fountain and a tap from which picnickers may obtain water for culinary purposes. This is one of the improvements that the Southwest Civic association has urged the board to make.

Water pipes are now being laid through Pontiac place park to furnish water for irrigating the grass, shrubs, trees and flowers of that twelve hundred foot strip of ground which is to be made highly ornate and beautiful. Trenches for the curving sidewalks are being dug and soon strips of sod will be placed along them. Grass seed will be sown for the balance of the ground.

HAYDEN PARK CONCERT MONDAY.

The municipal concert scheduled for next Tuesday evening in Hayden park has been arranged for next Monday evening owing to the fact that a circus will exhibit in Fort Wayne Tuesday afternoon and evening. That the concert may not be interfered with it has been set a day ahead.

CONSULTS HOUSING LAW.

A man who is building a three-story apartment house designed to accommodate about fifteen families, has been consulting the health department on the question of the provisions of the new housing law. The man was warned some time ago that his building as designed would not conform to the law and that no license for it would be issued by the department. The man has been advised to consult legal counsel for enlightement as to his rights and the authority of the board of health under the housing law.

WILL BE COMPLETED JULY 1.

Contractor Ed Hans as started work on the Weisser park comfort station, for which the park board gave him a contract Wednesday, and will have the work completed by July 1.

SALVATIONISTS IN RALLY.

World's Congress in London Represents 45 Nations.

London, June 12.—Delegates to the world's congress of the Salvation army today filled to capacity a specially erected hall near the Strand with accommodation for 4,000. Representatives of forty-five nations and colonies, speaking twenty-three different languages, were present. The gathering formed the biggest rally ever achieved by the Salvation Army. A conspicuous place was taken by the large contingent from the United States under the command of Miss Eva Booth.

WHEAT BULLS ARE HIT.

Chicago Firm Posted for Failure to Pay Debit Balance.

Chicago, June 12.—Notice was posted on the board of trade today that Sidney Long & Co., had failed to pay their debit balance at the clearing house. The firm has been active on the bull side of the wheat market which has recently suffered a sharp decline.

OUIMET LEADS AMATEURS.

Troon, Scotland, June 12.—Francis Ouimet, of the Woodland Golf club, Massachusetts, open golf champion of the United States, led all the amateurs with an aggregate score of 154 in the two qualifying rounds concluded today for the British open golf championship. Ouimet was tied for twelfth place in the entire list with Tom Ball, champion of Belgium. The nearest amateur to Ouimet is Gordon Lockard, who is tied at the twenty-fifth position with a score of 157. Harold Weber, of Toledo, whose aggregate score was 171, did not qualify to play in the championship.

PITTSBUR GSTRIKE SPREADS.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 12.—The refusal of the Westinghouse Electric company to treat with their strikers was answered today when the Allegheny Congenial Industrial union called out the 1,500 men in the plant of the Union Switch and Signal company at Swissvale. It is said 1,400 workers responded at noon. With five bands, one of them made up of bagpipers, fully five thousand men and women marched to the Turtle creek playgrounds for a meeting before moving on to Swissvale and encouraging the switch plant workers to strike.

MILLIONAIRE THREATENED.

Denver, Col., June 12—Police are guarding the home of Col. D. C. Dodge, a millionaire railroad builder, as a result of a mysterious note found at the door of his home last night demanding $200,000 by midnight tonight. The note threatens death unless the demand is met and bears thes ignature, "Amateur Blackhand."

WORK AT BABY MILK DEPOT.

One Infant Shows Eleven Ounce Gain in Less Than a Week.

One new infant was examined and prescribed for Friday morning at the free milk depot at the First Presbyterian church, and another baby, aged one year, examined last week, was brought back for inspection. The infant showed a gain of eleven ounces in weight in less than a week. Sixty bottles of modified milk were sent out Friday morning. A handsome sign bearing the words, "Baby Milk Depot," has been placed on the Clinton street entrance to the church.

ANTILLA UNLOADS CARGO.

Ammunition for Rebels Safely Delivered at Tampico.

Tampico, June 11.—(Via Laredo, Tex., June 12.)—The steamship Antilla, from New York, today discharged her cargo of ammunition for the constitutionalists. Sixteen hundred cases of ammunition and two aeroplanes were immediately dispatched north on a special train.

Until after her arival at the wharf here the Antilla knew nothing of the projected blockade of the port or the presence of the federal gunboats Zaragos and Bravo outside the harbor. The Antilla will sail tomorrow for Tantiyuca to recover the body of Weston Burwell, the American reported murdered by federals April 22.

WOMAN'S CLUBS MAY ACT.

Will Be Asked to Endorse Proposed Lake-Erie-Michigan Canal.

Nation-wide publicity will be given the proposed canal from Lake Erie to Lake Michigan by way of Fort Wayne, if a resolution to be prepared by Mrs. O. N. Guldlin, of this city, is adopted at the meeting of the Federation of Woman's clubs, now in session in Chicago.

Believing that concerted action is necessary to accomplish desired results, Mrs. Guldlin informs United States Junior Engineer P. M. Churchill that she will present resolutions asking that the national congress of club women endorse the building of the canal. She informed Mr. Churchill that she would draft the resolution as soon as she reached Chicago and will be assisted by Mrs. Richard Elbell, wife of the second vice president of the Erie-Michigan Deep Waterway association, who is also a delegate to the biennial convention of woman's clubs.

BRAKEMAN IS KILLED

Ed McCarthy Fell from a Moving Pennsylvania Train at Burton City.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN INJURED AT LIGHTS

Two Collide in Making a Run and Another Strikes Ankle Against Iron.

Edward McCarthy, a freight brakeman on the Eastern division of the Pennsylvania, was instantly killed at Burton City, Ohio, last night. News of the accident was brought to the city through a telegram to Engineer Tom McCarthy, who is an uncle. Edward McCarthy resided at Lima, Ohio, and once worked on the Western division of the Pennsylvania. He was transferred to the Eastern division some time ago.

HIGH SCHOOL EXCURSION.

Only Fifty in the Party to Rome City Today.

The annual excursion of the Fort Wayne high school graduating class to Rome City occurred this morning. There are fifty people in the party and they were furnished with an extra car on Grand Rapids and Indiana train No. 7. This is the smallest excursion party given by the high school classes since the practice was inaugurated—about thirty years ago. It used to take a special train of six or seven cars to handle the people who went with the graduates to Rome City.

CONCORDIA SEMINARY STUDENTS.

Fifty of Them Brought Here from St. Louis by the Wabash.

Wabash passenger train No. 28, which was one hour and thirty-five minutes late today, brought in a party of fifty graduates and students from the Concordia seminary at St. Louis, who will visit here two or three days. They had a special car from St. Louis to Fort Wayne. They will remain here over Sunday and Monday, leave for their homes, some over the G. R. & I., others over the Nickel Plate, the Pennsylvania, the Lake Shore and the Lake Erie and Western.

ATTENDING CLASS REUNION.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop to Princeton to Meet College Chums.

A special Pullman car on the Pennsylvania limited, No. 2, last night carried twenty-five or thirty men from Chicago and cities beyond that point en route to Princeton, N. J., where the 1899 class of Princeton college will hold its annual reunion. Supt. W. M. Wardrop, of the Pennsylvania, was a member of that class and he joined the Chicago delegation at this point and accompanied them to Princeton.

THREE FIREMEN HURT.

The volunteer firemen at the Fort Wayne Electric works were given a surprise call yesterday to test their efficiency and in the rush three of the boys were slightly injured. Robert Golmer and Lee Morrison had a head-on collision as they met at the corner of the building and each was sent sprawling to the ground. Mr. Golmer had a lip painfully cut and was temporarily rendered unconscious by his head striking the pavement, but he soon revived. Mr. Morrison suffered a bruised cheek, but was not disabled. Robert Graff received an injury to one of his ankles by striking it against a piece of metal as he was running through the shop towards the fire apparatus house. There was no fire.

BURNED WITH CARBOLIC ACID.

Arthur Meyer, the young man who so nearly cut off his left hand with a meat clever Wednesday, had a painful experience wth carbolic acid on Decoration day. The folks had been cleaning house and replaced some of the articles and among them was a bottle of witch hazel used by Arthur in bathing his face after shaving. On Decoration day he reached for the lotion and instead got hold of a bottle containing carbolic acid, with which he bathed his face. Discovering the mistake, he ran to the pantry and seizing a bottle of milk applied it freely to his face, counteracting in part the effects of the acid. He suffered some painful burns, however, but they were only temporary.

MANY TOLEDO PEOPLE COMING.

Agent F. C. Eggers, of the Wabash, has been advised that hundreds of Toledo people will come to Fort Wayne on June 21, to attend the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Concordia college. They will be given a special train. The Wabash is also expecting an immense crowd from the west on that occasion and will probably have a special train from that direction.

FINGER PIERCED BY SPLINTER.

John Rayl, assistant foreman of laborers at the Fort Wayne Electric works, had the second finger of his right hand pierced by a wooden sliver this morning. The piece entered the digit at the nail and passed up under the skin to the second joint. Dr. Schultz was called to remove the splinter and close the wound. No serious results are apprehended.

WILL VISIT PACIFIC COAST.

Nickel Plate Conductor Charles M. Bushey and his wife are preparing for a trip to the Pacific coast. They will leave June 20 and expect to return about the middle of August. Conductor Bushey has been running the Knox-Chicago local freight for several months, but he formerly ran through freight in and out of Fort Wayne.

WILL MOVE FLAG POLE.

Preparations are under way for the transfer of the flag pole from the old to the new depot of the Pennsylvania. The pole will be located in the lawn plat east of Harrison street. This pole, which is the longest and best in the city, was erected in 1895, and though nearly twenty years old, is in good shape.

EYES FILLED WITH RUST.

Dawson Williams, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, had to seek the services of an oculist this morning for relief from pain caused by getting a lot of rust and dust in his eyes. The accident was caused by a sudden gust of wind.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

D. C. Knickerbacher, passenger and freight agent at Danville, Ill., for the Wabash, was in the city yesterday.

Chief Engineer A. L. Hadley, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, has returned from Madison, Wis., where he spent several days on business for the company.

Conductor Sam Cutchall is again on Wabash trains 9 and 28, between Danville and Detroit, after being out of service for some months.

Wabash Machinist W. J. McCarthy and his wife will be the guests of friends in Chicago over Sunday. They will leave for that city tonight.

Howard Watkins, a machinist's helper, resigned his position at the Wabash shops today. He will work at the carpenter trade with his father hereafter.

Mrs. Frank J. Schwarz and children will visit relatives in Kendalls, Wis., next week, leaving for that city Sunday. Mr. Schwanz is a pipefitter at the Wabash shops.

U. G. Gatchell, Pennsylvania conductor, who has been quite sick for some time, is now improving and hopes to entirely recover. He resides at 2320 Euclid avenue.

Alton Hess and Harry F. McClaren, Nickel Plate brakemen, have taken thirty days' leave of absence to spend with their parents, the former in New York state and the latter at Hobart.

Daniel McElgunn, a Wabash brakeman residing at Montpelier, Ohio, fell from a freight train near Hamilton, Ind., Wednesday night and was instantly killed. He was walking over the train when he slipped and fell between the cars. A tramp riding on the bumpers witnessed the accident and notified the engineer, who stopped and the remains were picked up.

TONY MILLER HAS BIRTHDAY

This is the anniversary of two very important events in the life of Anthony T. Miller, a foreman of one of the departments at the Fort Wayne Electric works and a well known German-American citizen. He was born fifty-one years ago today and left his native country—Germany—thirty-one years ago today for America. He was a band instrument maker, but finding no employment in America in that line, he took employment in Brooklyn, N. Y., with James J. Wood, the inventor of the electrical machinery now being built at the Fort Wayne Electric works. He came to Fort Wayne with Mr. Wood in 1890 and has been here ever since.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

School Children's Matinee at Majestic Tomorrow.

The "Les Miserables" pictures at the Majestic this week represent the highest achievement of photographic art, and the settings are wonderfully adapted to the purposes of the story. The principal actors and actresses who figure in the photo-drama were selected on account of their especial fitness from the Theater Sarah Bernhardt, the Theater de l'Odeon, the Theater de la Porte St. Martin, the Comedie Francaise and other famous Paris theaters. M. Henri Krauss, of the Theater Bernhardt, takes the role of the ex-convict, Jean Valjean. He is a huge man, with a huge head and huge shoulders, and a shock of hair which fits Hugo's pen picture of the Toulon galley slave. He seems a visualized reincarnation of the fugitive whom the law, in the concrete form of the implacable Javert, is hounding from pillar to post. The part of Javert also is excellently played, and throughout the story his sinister presence hovers like an ominous shadow over the life of Jean Valjean. The interpretations of the characters of Fantine, Cosette, Marius, Thenardier and his giant wife leave nothing to be desired, and fulfill the idealizations of the characters as we conceived them from the book.

National Anthem Centennary to Be Celebrated

Baltimore, June 12.—With impressive ceremonies the people of the United States will observe the hundredth anniversary of the immortal anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner." Mayor James H. Preston, of Baltimore, is president of the centennial commission which will direct the celebration. President Wilson and the governors of the eighteen states in the Union when Francis Key wrote his national anthem will attend the ceremonies. The program begins September 6.

Would You Keep As Cool As The Girl In A "September Morn"--without breaking the law?

Athletic Underwear

Almost too light to cast a shadow—nothing at all below the knee—little more above—not even a thread to cover the arms—$1 to $2 a suit, either union or two-piece.

Straw and Silk Hats, and Caps

Light silks—mostly style—50c to $2. Bankoks—light as a shadow and who can weigh a shadow?—$6 grade with all the profit melted out. Special here at $5. Regular smooth and rough straw sailors, 50c to $4. The Durable Panamas, $5 to $16.

Light Summery Suits

Full of "pores" and every "pore" a breeze-conductor—$10 and better. Motorcycle Suits and Leggins, too, for the jolly crowd that rides on the wings of steel, rubber and gas. All prices.

Silk and Silky Shirts

Look good, feel good, are good. Mostly "looks" as far as warmth goes. At their best without coat and vest. Silk ones, $2 to $5—silky ones, $1.50.

Tub Ties & Bathing Suits

The kind of ties that hold their color through the tub and always look cool, 25c and 50c.

Bathing Suits, both one and two-piece, either in cool cotton or warmer wool, at prices from 50c to $3.

Children's Pixie and Wash Suits

The Koolest Kinks for Kidlets. The "Pixie" is a new and nicer one. All in one piece, all goes into the tub at the same time—even the tie—priced $2.50.

Other wash suits as cheap as 50c, as light as the price. Thank you, come in.

Why Not Try Dealing With Dukes' and Doing Your Neighbor A Favor

AT THE TEMPLE

Brushing aside all the canons of dramatic art, George Summerfield, the author of "Why Girls Leave Home," has written a big play with a punch in every act and the punch is well aimed—it goes home with a certainty and effect.

"Why Girls Leave Home" is a play intended to make people think, to but a danger signal on the high-way of life and stir the indignation of decent men and women. It does things and that is its chief virtue. It is blunt, forceful and direct. It rings the changes on mother, home and heaven with a refreshing assurance that there are still people who have faith in these old fashioned notions, and the punch is aimed at that up-to-the-minute problem, "The White Slave Traffic." No girl will be harmed and many may be safe-guarded by the greatest moral lesson ever staged, "Why Girls Leave Home."

This play will be the attraction at the Temple the balance of the week with a splendid cast.

AT THE EMPRESS

"The Unwritten Justice," a first run feature film, proved to be all that was expected of it this afternoon at the Empress theater. The picture is one full of thrills from the start.

In connection with the film two hundred slides depicting the present conditions in Mexico will be shown this evening. The slides have been well received everywhere Professor Claud Michelon, of this city, has shown them. They have never been shown in Fort Wayne, however.

Tomorrow afternoon the Empress will give a special matinee for the school children. This matinee will be highly interesting as well as instructive to the children, and none of them should miss it.

During the intermissions the Empress trio will continue to sing the latest songs. During the warm weather that has been "well apparent" during the last few days there have been no complaints about the "coolest spot in town."

Name Archbishop of Quebec as Member of the Sacred College

Cardinal Begin, archbishop of Quebec, is one of the sacred college at Rome. His apopintment came as a complete surprise, Archbishop Paul Bruchesi, of Montreal, having been slated for the place for several years.

As a matter of fact, Canada has been entitled to a cardinal for some time, but the place has been vacant since the death of the late Cardinal Taschereau in 1908.

Youth, Who Killed Father-in-Law, Cries When Placed in Solitary Cell.

Aurora, Ind., June 11.—Herbert J. Gillum, age twenty, who is confined in jail on a charge of murder in the first degree, cried when placed in solitary confinment. He says he is sorry he killed Joseph P. Higham, his father-in-law. He says he shot in self-defense.

Gillum's young wife is in a serious condition from the shock of the death of her father and the arrest of her husband. Andrew J. Gillum, father of the prisoner, says that Higham was very quarrelsome when drinking and had threatened his son's life when the boy eloped with Miss Nola Higham last September.

TOOK HIS NOSE PRINT INSTEAD.

New York, June 10.—Armless and legless, Ernest Riley was a puzzle for the finger print man after being convicted on an intoxication charge.

But a record was taken, anyway, for it was found that Riley's nose has a deep scare on the end. An imprint of this scar is now preserved in the police archives of Brooklyn.

Magistrate Folwell heard the case against Riley, and without looking at the prisoner ordered that a finger print be taken. Everybody in court snickered at the puzzled expression on Policeman Gerhard's face. But the policeman had an inspiration, and seizing the helpless man in his arms carried him to the record room and rubbed Riley's nose on the record sheet.

M'ADOO'S CLAIM TO FAME.

Butte, Mont., June 11.—Miss Ella Crowley, county superintendent of schools, while conducting an oral examination at Melrose a few days ago, met one pupil possessed of a keen sense of humor.

Name a cabinet officer and tell of some one thing he has accomplished during his term of office," was the form in which Miss Crowley put the question.

"William McAdoo," was the answer.

"Very good. Now tell of something he has accomplished."

"Mr. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, accomplished the marriage of the president's daughter, and now she's his wife," was the youngster's unexpected reply.

"White Wolf" and His Army of Human Fiends Butcher Thousands in China

THE BUTCHERS.

The type of soldiers of the interior of China, wearing the old uniform of the nation's army. Whole regiments of these men have deserted bodily to join the White Wolf's campaign of murder, loot and pillage. The soldiers of the larger cities near the sea are equipped just as are those of the United States and European nations, but those inland are of a lower grade of intelligence, cruel and heartless, just the kind of material from which the White Wolf creates his fiends.

Shanghai, China, June 12.—"The White Wolf is coming! The White Wolf! Flee for your lives!"

The death terror, humanity's worst devil today, grips three of China's most densely populated provinces. One hundred million people are paralyzed with fright.

The couriers are sounding the call to flee to terrified multitudes. For the new Napoleon of the orient, with the genius of a conqueror and the heart of a fiend, is abroad. Death and destruction lies on his line of march. Torture inconceivable to the Caucasian mind is one of his weapons.

He put to death 4,000 persons by bullets, boiling in oil and burial alive, on his last expedition alone!

The facts about the depredations and power of this desperado have just reached the American quarter at Shanghai. He is a military marvel, and, to show to what proportions his lust for blood and power has grown, he now contemplates the capture of Sian-Fu, capital of Shen-Shi, a city of a million souls.

Educated in a Japanese military school, Pai-Lang-Chai, the White Wolf's real name, served on the staff of General Wu during the last rebellion that resulted in the republic of China. He was left out of the reorganization of the nation and set himself up as a rebel leader a year ago. Deserters from the army made up his band, and this was quickly augmented by adventurers and criminals. He spent some time in minor pillage until sure of his followers. Now he is strong enough, in fact, to overthrow the government.

White Wolf, this creature of hideous tortures, is much like the Genghis Khan of centuries ago, whose hordes swept through Europe and left a mountain of skulls behind to live in history as a permanent example of his military genius and atrocity. Europe could not withstand his legions. He was the first yellow peril, and his savage soul finds its reincarnation in the White Wolf.

The story is told of how the White Wolf and his soldiers enter a town, shoot down the men and children, boil in oil those who offer resistance, carry away the women and girls and leave to die the ones they terribly mutilate and discard.

When Lao-Howkow fell into the hands of the notorious bandit, 1,500 persons were slain and every woman who had not fled suffered outrage. Loot amounted to $5,000,000.

The government is powerless to stop him. President Yuan-Shi-Kai seems to be accepting the horrible operations as part of the natural order of things, but is trying to allay the panic in Ho-Nan with vague promises.

Army expeditions against the White Wolf have failed. Garrisons have opened the gates to his force. The military governor of Ho-Nan has been dismissed and the general commanding court-martialed, because it was learned that his report of defeat with a loss of 4,000 men at the hands of the rebel chieftain was untrue. No such battle took place.

In the meantime the White Wolf is graudally nearing Pekin.

It is now believed that nothing can stop the advance of the White Wolf to the sea. He is resourceful enough to organize an army of hundreds of thousands of men in this land of half a billion people. On the defensive he can retire to his mountain stronghold and never be beaten.

It looks like world intervention in China again!

She Wins Beauty Prize in Paris

Robinne

Paris, June 12.—Paris has awarded another beauty prize. No medal was given, no ceremony was held, but unofficially all Paris came to the agreement that Mlle. Georgette Lemanier, known in the theater as Robinne, is "the most beautiful woman in France." There are many beauties in France, but no one has tried so far to take away Robinne's laurels.

Lolita Corella Has Unique Job in Commercial Enterprise.

MADE PLACE HERSELF

San Francisco, June 12.—As supervisor of recreation in the largest department store here, Loliat Corella has created a unique position for herself. She devises amusement for the employes of the establishment. For a year she has done this and so pleased are her employers with the results shown in the better service that they have doubled her salary.

MISS LOLITA CORELLA.

Dancing under Miss Corella's direction is the chief recreation. Every day during the three hours allowed for luncheon, between 400 and 500 young people gather in the assembly hall and waltz, one-step, tango and rag.

The etiquette and decorum of entertaining in a private home is observed.

"They are as nice a crowd of young people as you'd want to meet," said Miss Corella. "If any rough play is started, I find it is easily stopped. Just a few quiet words spoken to the one who is misbehaving ends it. Once in a while a newcomer begins to dance in an objectionable way. I do not criticise, but simply show that one how to dance a prettier step. I find they are always eager to dance my way."

In addition to supervising the dancing Miss Corella has organized several social clubs among the girls. She also gives talks on hygiene and salesmanship to the younger employes, dancing lessons to the heads of departments and helps arrange the store entertainments.

In Camp With Carranza---Mexican Rebels on Flat Car Going Out of Tampico to Meet Federals

(By Fred L. Boalt.)

Tampico Mex. June 12.—Terrible fellows are these rebels. Bloodthirsty and relentless bandits. Yet when I want among them at the old Quartel they gave me food. When night came they gave me a blanket. And in the morning I joined with them in entertaining two pink-cheeked and bashful sailor boys who had strayed from the Dutch man-o'-war in the river.

We drank their black coffee—the Dutch boys and I—and smoked their cigarettes beneath a sign which said:

"Fumar Proibe."

I gave them the English translation, "Smoking Forbidden," and they managed it very well. But when the Dutch boys gave them "Rooken Verboden," their tongues twisted and they roared with boisterous laughter over their failure.

Then they posed for the camera, and it was a pleasant game. They seemed more like amiable children than bandits—children playing at war, with real rifles and with belts heavy with real cartridges for toys.

This, though, is a mistaken impression. They are neither bandits nor children, but real men, awake and pursuing an ideal.

By and by there came to us a man from the north. He had been a cowboy in Texas, and the spoke English. Lean and worn and very old he was, but agile as any boy.

"We do not like this fighting," he told me. "We are tired of it. But we must go on and on fighting, until Mexico belongs to the Mexicans.

"I am a cattleman, senor, but most of these men about you are farm laborers. We are not Spaniards, but Mexicans, and many of us are full-blooded Indians.

"We want the land—the land which was our fathers' and which was taken from them. But what chance have we when only a few hold all the land, when estates run into the millions of acres, and when an American, English, Spanish or German land owner counts himself poor if his estate is less than 25,000 acres?

"You have been told, senor, that we fight because it is an easy life, giving opportunities to rob. That is a lie!

"We knew when we enlisted in the constitutionalist army that this was not like the revolutions that have gone before. We knew we were enlisting to fight to get back the land, so that his wife and children might have good food and good clothes and an education.

"Well, senor, after we had taken Torreon, our chief, General Carranza, gave us some of the land we had taken. You can not know how glad we were. It seemed to us that this was the fulfillment of our dream.

"We could not wait. We built little homes, and very soon the green things were springing from the good ground that had been waste.

"The time came to move on, and we did not want to go. It looked for a while that the constitutionalist army would fall to pieces, so anxious were we to have farms and homes of our own. We were tired of fighting.

"But our chief explained to us, through our officers, that the time of peace had not yet come to Mexico. Though we had land, there were millions of other Mexicans to the south who had none. So, when we understood this, we left our farms, though it was hard, senor, and took up again the southward march.

"Well, we have taken Tampico now. Soon Saltillo will fall; then San Luis Potosi; and, after San Luis Potosi—the capital!

"Then we shall have peace in Mexico."

IN HONOR OF A MEMBER.

Ladies' Society of St. John Reformed Church Rendered Program for Mrs. Seibert.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the St. John Reformed church, held Thursday afternoon at the church parlors, a program consisting of musical numbers and recitations was rendered in honor of Mrs. Maria Seibert, a member, who will leave June 23 for Paris, France, where she intends to make her home.

Mrs. Seibert was showered with postal cards, each one containing words of greeting to be read on the journey to her future home. Almost eighty postals were presented her by members of the society. Mrs. Seibert formerly lived in Paris, coming to this country five years ago and making her home at 1401 East Creighton avenue.

WILL MEET JUNE 22.

Executive Committee of Young Men's Forward Congress Will Gather at City Hall.

The executive committee of the Young Men's Forward congress of this city will hold a meeting Monday evening, June 22, in the city council chamber in the city hall building. Some important business will be transacted and every member is urged to be present.

This committee is composed of a representative of every Young Men's Bible class of the city, besides the regular officers. There are forty-one Protestant churches in the city and every one is eligible of belonging to this union of young men, whose chief aim is to place a Young Men's Christian association building in this city.

The committee is planning on some great work and steps have already been taken to secure some of the best speakers of the country for a lecture course to be given during the winter months.

To Observe Children's Day.

Children's day will be observed Sunday evening at the St. Joe Methodist Episcopal church, which is located four and one-half miles west of the city. A fine program has been arranged by the children and it is expected that a large crowd will be present. An invitation has been extended by officials to all city people who wish to attend.

Notes of the Churches.

The Young Men's Exenda Bible class of the St. John Reformed church will hold a very important business meeting Sunday morning after the Sunday school hour and it is urged that every young man be present.

The King's Herald of the Wayne Street M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Audrey Miller, 4018 Agnostic avenue, on Saturday afternoon. All members are urged to be present.

Frank H. Poole, cashier of the Hamilton National bank, is at Indianapolis attending a meeting of a committee of the Indiana Bankers' association of which he is a member.

THE DEATHS.

JULLY.

Caroline B. Jully, aged 71 years, the widow of Louis Jully, died at 7:15 o'clock Thursday night at her home, 1120 St. Mary's avenue. Her death was due to apoplexy and followed an illness of four months.

Mrs. Jully was born in Germany September 3, 1842, and came to this country at the age of thirteen years. Her husband died fourteen years ago. Surviving she leaves the following children: Mrs. W. C. Bande, Mrs. A. W. Siemon, Mrs. Gottlieb Linderman, Mrs. Sophia Engelking, Mrs. Frank Schlebecker, Henry Schroeder and Louis Schroeder. She also leaves twenty-one grandchildren and two brothers, Fred and Henry Beerman. Mrs. Jully had been an active member of the Trinity Lutheran church.

MURPHY.

Agnes Murphy, aged thirty-eight years, died at 11 o'clock Thursday night at St. Joseph's hospital after a prolonged illness from complications. She resided at 1011 Cottage street and was a member of the Cathedral congregation and treasurer of the Young Ladies' sodality of that parish. Surviving she leaves the following brothers and sisters: E. C. Murphy, of Peru; Mary Murphy, of Detroit; Mrs. Harry Money, of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Nellie, Rose, Genevieve and Clara Murphy, all of this city.

Funeral services Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

RICHIE.

Mark Richie, aged twenty-four years, a resident of Fort Wayne for several years, died suddenly Wednesday night at his home in Oakwood, Ohio, where he had been visiting for the past week. Notice of his death was received here by officials of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers' alliance, of which the young man was a member. He was employed as a waiter, working at different times for the Wellington and Transfer lunch rooms.

OLDS.

Mrs. F. G. Olds, aged fifty-four years, a resident of Fort Wayne and widely known, died Thursday afternoon at the home of her son, C. A. Olds, at Indianapolis, where she had gone three weeks ago for a visit. Her death was due to complications and she had been ill ever since reaching the home of her son.

Mrs. Olds was born and reared in Fort Wayne and her entire life had been spent here. Surviving she leaves three sons, C. A. Olds, of Indianapolis; Walter Olds and Roy Olds, of this city.

CRANCE.

Mrs. Florence M. Crance, aged twenty-two years, the wife of Delbert Crance, died at 12:15 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krohne, 2417 Euclid avenue. She had resided in Fort Wayne all her life and was married to Mr. Crance June 20, 1910. Surviving she leaves the husband, parents, one son, three brothers and three sisters.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Freiburger.—Funeral services for Ida Veronica Freiburger will be held Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence, at Sheldon, and at 9 o'clock from St. Aloysius' Catholic church. Burial will be made at the Sheldon cemetery.

Roosevelt's Friend Makes a Trip Abroad

Oscar Strauss

London, June 12.—Oscar Straus, a leader of social reform in the United States and a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt, is in London, studying England's social justice laws.

"Europe is ahead of us," says Mrs. Straus, "in enacting into laws old-age pensions, minimum wage, industrial insurance and other phases of social justice, and we can profit by study over here."

Mr. Straus' investigations were interrupted while he attended the wedding of Kermit Roosevelt in Madrid on June 10.

Non-Royal Princess Engaged to Oscar Kaiser's Fifth Son

Prince Oscar of Germany

Potsdam, Germany, June 12.—The engagement of Prince Oscar, fifth son of the German emperor, to Countess Ina Marie von Bassewitz-Levetzow, maid of honor to the empress, has been announced. The prince is 26 years old.

Much comment has been aroused by this announcement, owing to the fact that the marriage will be the first morganatic union which has occurred in the Hohenzollern family since 1853.

George Waldschmidt, of the German-American National bank, is at Peru today on business.

O'ROURKE IS THE WINNER.

Cleaned Up His Running Mate In Final Tilt of School Tournament.

In the final play of the Fort Wayne high school tennis tournament Bill O'Rourke defeated Bob Vernon, who had been his running mate in the doubles, and won the championship in the singles. This pair took the finals in the doubles and the last rounds of play resulted as follows:

Doubles (semi-finals)—Vernon-O'Rourke won from Hunting-Wentz, 6-1, 6-3 and 6-4: Saylor-Knight won from Diffenderfer-Stevens 8-6, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-2.

Finals — Vernon-O'Rourke won from Saylor-Knigh, 6-1, 6-4 and 6-0.

Singles (semi-finals)—O'Rourke won from Riker 6-4, 6-2 and 6-0. Vernon won from Hunting 6-0, 6-3 and 7-5.

Finals—O'Rourke won from Vernon 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 and 6-4.

NEW FRONT HELP IN FINAL SCRAP

Manager George Hughes and New Players in a Slaughter.

BRAMBLE THE VICTIM

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 12.—Manager George Hughes, whose black stockinged warriors have been slipping badly all season after winning a flag in the jousting of 1913, presented a new battle front in the final scrap with the Billiken troupe and said new front made an attack on Freddie Bramble and his Canadian league curve that resulted in real slaughter.

In the first place Mr. Elmer Ponder, recently secured from the Western league, debutted as hurler for the champs, and he displayed a line of goods that held the enemy under subjection all through the encounter and resulted in four hits for the invaders, of which Paul Beyers, called into the fray as a substitute for Freddie Bratchi, pinched off two and McLafferty and Holderman split the other pair.

Next in importance came the initiation of a new first baseman in the person of Mr. Brewer, late of the Peoria team of the Three-I league, and he succeeded the manager, who has been playing a rather unsteady game on the first corner for several weeks. The Peoria gentleman featured his advent into Central league society by copping three hits and each of them was a two-ply crash.

Harry Lake was shelved and Eddie Justice shunted over to third base to cover the position which Joe Grodick and Marty Killilea fell down so badly on after it was made certain that Tommy Nee would not be here to play. Tommy has shown no disposition to reconsider his resolution to abandon national pastiming, principally because he did not go up after a rather aggressive brand of play put on display during the campaign of 1913.

Once in a while in every sort of baseball from the major league variety down to the back-lot brand, some team gets a thumping that makes its laboring athletes look like cheese ball players and false alarms. This has happened to Fort Wayne at least once every season and when the Billiken battlers entrained for their own dugout last night most of them regretted the result of the matinee but all of them were glad that the awful affair had been thoroughly worked out of the collective system of the Varnell squad.

Every ball player and every intelligent patron of the game who has seen Fred Bramble work knows that he is not the sort to go in and get the daylights hammered out of his repertoire in the heartless way the Grand Rapids club handled him in the Thursday performance, but the best of them slip now and then and this was Freddie's day to slip, and he indicated that when he does slip he puts on a classic in slipping.

For three innings his faithful salary arm responded cheerfully and effectively to his efforts to advance in his profession by mowing down the opposing batters and showing the kind of hurling the managers want up in the big league. Then all of a sudden something got into the pesky salary producer and it went on strike and every offering was speedily converted into a hit that ranged from troublesome infield rollers that evaded the pursuing Billikens long enough for batters to reach first to deadly smashes of the home run variety.

Twenty-two hits counted for a total of thirty-eight bases and before the contest was half over the few faithful or the faithful few who have stuck to the gliding champs had started for home, convinced that the home talent would make a farce of the game.

Two runs in the fourth didn't look so bad, especially after the Martins came back with one in the fifth, but things happened so fast in the fifth that harrowing details have been charitably omitted. Suffice it to say that when the count was finally finished and the last man retired it was shown that nine runs had been accumulated and that Grand Rapids batsmen had fattened up to the extent of nine hits. Another onslaught in the eighth added five, and taken all in all it was one of the worst bombardments that a Central league pitcher was ever subjected to.

Wife of French Aviator Dares Death To Prove Success of Husband's Life-Saving Parachute

Mme. Decastella

MADAME DE CASTELLA,

And As She Looks When Strapped Beneath Her Aeroplane.

Is there anything in the round world women will not face—except a mouse?

Madame De Castella is the latest candidate for honors as the bravest woman in France. Her husband, an airman, recently designed a parachute intended to prevent aerial catastrophes. The safety of aviators, fame and fortune depended on his success.

To test the invention it was necessary that someone take big chances.

Madame De Castella was bound to her husband's biplane, which rose with her suspended beneath it. At the heighth of 2,500 metres, when the earth was a dim map spread far below, she calmly cut herself loose and parachuted back to safety.

BRATCHI IS OUT OF THE LINE-UP

Fell and Cut Left Arm in Thursday Game at Grand Rapids.

NESPO JOINS TEAM

When Harry Martin and his troopers trailed into Fort Wayne early this morning they lugged along with them another piece of bad luck in the shape of an injury to Freddie Bratchi that will probably keep that hustling young gardener from doing any work at his regular job for a week or such a matter.

In fielding a fly ball at Grand Rapids he fell and cut a long gash in his left arm, and Secretary Bert Dennis had to pilot him to a surgeon who took three or four stitches to close the wound. Misfortune is sure part and parcel of that grand old game of baseball and any doubt on the subject will probably be removed after a conversation with the local manager.

Another bit of ill luck struck camp when George Smykal was ordered to report to the Ottawa club in the Canadian league. In fact he had several times been ordered to report and his time in this league was extended almost to breaking off negotiations and friendly relations with Francis Joseph Shaughnessy, who loaned the young infielder to the Fort Wayne club to fill in while Nespo was out.

All the players liked this youngster, and hated to see him go, as he is an intelligent ball player, and was hitting in good shape. The Ottawa infield is going badly and Smykal was needed.

Frankie Nespo will be forced back into the game at once but his injured ankle has not recovered sufficiently to allow him to do his best at second. Tommy Atkins has been working out a couple of days and will probably be able to pitch by Sunday.

The Sabbath matinee will be a two-piece event as the Terre Haute club was prevented from playing one game of the first series and has a postponement here. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock.

When the Terre Haute club registered today at the Wayne, Billy Colligan was not with it, having been sold yesterday to the Erie club in the Canadian league. Yank Davis, who was expected to play in the game here this afternoon, has been held up at St. Joe by the injury of one of the regular outfielders. This information was conveyed to Manager Larry Quinlan before he left Terre Haute last night.

Just when he will get here is a question. In the meantime Bert Fisher, utility man for the club, is playing the outfield. Monday Bob Craig, who was given time to finish his college term, will report to the club and will be ready for the series with Dayton. He will likely go to the outfield as there is apparently no place for him on the inner works with the present lineup working to good advantage.

Quinlan is after players and has had the same luck that other managers have encountered in the search. Ted Anderson is playing great baseball for him, and Andy Kyle has shown form since he joined the club, and his pitching staff is rounding to.

Owner Claude H. Varnell has announced his arrival for today, and he will remain with the club until it takes the road again. Players on the local club and members of the Terre Haute team say that in Smith the Fort Wayne club has a real ball player. He is fast in the field, has been hitting the ball hard and his work has the stamp of intelligence.

Jack Gilmore is a better outfielder than any of the crop of this season and it is believed that he will hit as soon as he has gotten his bearings.

SOUTH BEND HAS ASKED FOR HELP

Regular Custom of Passing the Hat Revived in St. Joe Hamlet.

NEED NEW PLAYERS

The annual custom of passing the hat to support its baseball team has been made necessary at South Bend a little earlier this year than usual from the fact that Ed Smith has not been able to make his Southern Michigan team win and attributes it to want of players.

This tail-grass habit of mulcting patrons is unusual where the electric lights burn after 10 o'clock at night, and that it has become necessary is proof of the wisdom of President Louis Hellbroner when he turned South Bend down in favor of Evansville. This is what the News-Times has to say of the muddle:

"Booster day, one of the annual feaures of the Southern Michigan league, is one week from Thursday, June 18.

A committee of South Bend fans is preparing plans for the event, which is expected to bring out one of the largest crowds seen at Springbrook park this season. An effort will be put forth to bring out every baseball enthusiast, young or old, masculine or feminine, on Boosters' day, and give the Benders a deserving acknowledgement of the work they have done in the circuit this season.

"Tickets will be placed on sale at many points throughout the city, while the committee intends to start a personal canvass campaign. The receipts of the day will go toward building up and strengthening the South Bend club, which is hitting a fast gait at the present time, with the view of making it a first divsion club. Tickets will be sold for $1 each.

"Booster day throughout the league is but one of the features of the season, first instigated by the fans themselves. One of the principal purposes of the event in South Bend will be to secure funds with which to purchase a couple of new players which are needed by the club. Manager Smith has had his hands full this spring organizing the club and has encountered serious difficulties, losing one valuable player when "Doc" Schmick jumped his contract two days after Smith had paid for him, in addition to several other discouraging features.

"This has not hindered the playing of the club as a whole and the Benders are rated as one of the fastest organizations in the league by other magnates, although they have to show up in the standings as well as some of the other clubs. The regular fans are well satisfied with the performance of the Benders as their fighting spirit and spectacular playing has made them favorites.

"Harry Arndt, part owner of the club, is in town today, having left the club at Adrian Tuesday night, and is denying that he has resigned or sold or intends to sell his share in the team. He will not be in the game for some time, however, as it is necessary that the club cut down to the salary limit. Smith also wishes to get a couple of new men whom he has in sight and their purchase depends much upon the success of boosters' day. One of these men is well known to South Bend fans and is one of the best players in the business. His addition to the club would mean almost double strength.

"Arndt denied strongly that he was out of the game for good, which has been reported, although Harry has been going fast this spring.

"'I was born with a glove on my hand, said Harry, 'and will have one with me until I step on my whiskers.'"

"Ducky Holmes and his Saginaw Ducks will be the opponents of the Benders on boosters' day, which insures some exciting battle for Ducky has it in for the local club, and Smith would be more than pleased to put one over on the Holmes bunch.

"Other plans for boosters' day will be announced by the committee which will be appointed today, within the next few days, and it is anticipated that a number of interesting features will be added to the afternoon's program.

TO BE BURIED HERE.

Mrs. Bertha R. Garber, aged thirty-five years, wife of Arthur Garber, and a sister of Mrs. A. M. Tower, of this city, is dead at Saranac, N. Y. She was formerly a resident of Fort Wayne, but after leaving this city resided first in Chicago and later in New York city. The remains are to be brought to Fort Wayne for burial.

WILL START TENNIS PLAY.

Spring Handicap Tournament to Begin Tomorrow at Country Club.

Play will be started tomorrow afternoon at the Fort Wayne Country club courts in the spring handicap tournament in which about thirty-five players have been entered. The play will continue through the first few weeks of the season.

Tennis players in the Country club have shown more interest this year than at any time since the courts were opened, and with the prospect of the northern Indiana tournament ahead of them the cracks of the club are shaping themselves for good play in the big meeting.

THIS IS SOME BATTING.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 12.—For the twenty-two days since the season opened the Cadillac team of the Michigan State league has a team batting average of .344. This figure is said to have set a new record for class D, if not for all clases of organized baseball. Nine of the thirteen men on the team have batted over .300, Manager Jay Parker leading with .462.

President Thinks He Has Found An Honest Man and Tells Why He Thinks So

President Louis Hellbroner, of the Central league, thinks he has discovered an honest man and but for the fact that he overlooked the minor detail of getting the fellow's name he probably could make some history.

In making this discovery he has a little edge on Diogenes because he didn't work with a lantern, and easily accomplished the task that took the ancient philosopher up and down the highways and byways in a vain search.

Thursday afternoon the president took an inventory of his stock of hats and found that it did not contain a straw one of recent vintage so he went into the busy marts of trade to purchase. The position of president of the Central league, author and editor of the blue and red books and head of a thriving statistical bureau makes some sartorial demands that must be heeded, so the person who is all of these found a hat that suited his fancy and parted with the price of four annual subscriptions to said blue book, which is $1 per throw.

Then he went to the Anthony for dinner, put his nice shiny straw hat on the rack with the top downward and his initials in gilt letters plainly visible to the naked eye.

When he had finished he went from the dining room to find that somebody had beaten him to his new straw hat, and the only one left was of the output of 1913, and in a season of service had accumulated more or less dirt and had taken on that yellow shade common to straw hats after an active campaign of a few months.

He concluded that he was out one good hat, and went to his office to look over his list and see if he could sell four more blue books, and gave it up as hopeless. When he returned to the hotel he asked if his hat had shown up and was told that it hadn't. He retired and tossed on his pillow for a time with the loss of the hat uppermost in his mind, and later was aroused from fitful slumber by his telephone bell. A message from the office was to the effect thatt the hat had been returned.

"You can't fool Louie that way," he said, and returned to his fitful slumber and it took a second call to convince him that a man who had picked out a good, new straw or any other kind of a hat, and left an old one in its place had ever taken the pains to return it.

Anyhow, he got the hat and he checks now when he eats. "Say, come to think of it, maybe that guy wasn't so honest after all. He was a big fat fellow, and didn't look good under a narrow rim like my new hat has," was the afterthought of the president.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

BODY OF UNKNOWN IDENTIFIED.

Wabash, Ind., June 12.—The body of the unknown boy who was killed by an eastbound freight train three miles west of this city, near the Wolf stock farm on May 28, was this morning positively identified by Mrs. Katherine Kovacs, of 1973 Columbus road, Cleveland, Ohio, who claims the body to be that of her son, Victor Kovacs, aged 16, who had not been seen nor heard of since the latter part of April. Miss Agnes Power, of Cicero, Ill., came to this city, believing the body to be that of her nephew, Robert Power, who disappeared from a Catholic school in Pittsburg, and arrangements were made to have the body, which was buried in Falls cemetery on May 31, exhumed. In the evening Mrs. Katherine Kovacs arrived in this city.

MAY TAKE FRESH AIR CHILDREN.

Auburn, Ind., June 12.—Auburn citizens may entertain a hundred or more fresh air children from Chicago this summer. A movement has already been started to provide a summer outing for these poor children who are housed up in the great city of Chicago. Attorney Glenn Miller is at the head of the movement, he having become interested at Cromwell last year, where a number of the children were entertained. On next Sunday Mr. Miller will visit the various churches in the city in an effort to have each denomination appoint a committee to act with those of the other churches in formulating plans for entertaining the children for two weeks. The ladies clubs in the city will also be asked to help.

ESCAPED MEXICAN REBELS.

Huntington, Ind., June 12.—Mrs. E. C. Smith, of this city, has just received a letter from her brother, P. J. Rafferty, whom she had thought dead until word from him reached her. While the situation in Mexico was at highest tension Mrs. Smith read in a press dispatch that a P. J. Rafferty had been murdered April 27 by Mexican rebels. This was her brother's name and she did not doubt that it was he who had been killed. Rafferty says in his letter that he was told by the authorities in Gonzales that he had better leave, as no protection could be guaranteed him. He took to the mountains and lived for a while in a cave, nearly starving before he thought it safe to come out.

SUES BETRAYER OF DAUGHTER.

Huntington, Ind., June 12.—Alleging that E. L. Tobias seduced his nineteen-year-old daughter, Shem Z. Kaufman filed suit for $10,000 damages and for the setting aside of conveyances of property. The daughter is named Frances Kaufman, with whom Tobias was arrested last Saturday night at Kokomo.

The complaint is against E. L. Tobias and his wife, Ida M. Tobias.

ROME CITY MAN INSANE.

Kendallville, Ind., June 12.—Before a commission consisting of Justice E. P. Lash and Dr. C. A. Gardner, of this city, and Dr. H. M. Newman, of South Milford, J. J. Nichols, age 31 years, residing near Rome City, was found to be of unsound mind at an inquest held and was taken to Albion by Constable Charles DuWan, where he will be held in jail awaiting commitment to the hospital at Richmond.

For the last three weeks Nichols has shown signs of mental derangement and has threatened violence to members of the family in addition to threatening he would take his own life.

RIMMELL FAMILY REUNION.

Kendallville, Ind., June 12.—The seventh annual reunion of the Rimmel family, held at the country home of George Rimmel, four miles northwest of the city, was a decided success, there being eighty members present. The day was spent in a social way and after the bounteous dinner was served on the shady lawn, an interesting program of music and recitations was given.

A business session was held and the officers of the association were re-elected. They are: Lewis Rimmel, president; Albert Rimmel, vice president; Glenn Rimmel, secretary and treasurer.

NAIL IN HIS HEAD HELPED SOME.

Portland, Ind., June 12.—Contrary to the expectations of the attending physician, Charles Bisset, the Canadian who attempted suicide in jail at Redkey last Monday night, by driving a nail into his skull, continues to improve. He seems to be regaining his mental faculties and has assumed a far different attitude. It is believed possible that he was deranged from the excessive use of liquor at the time he tried to end his career and that when he recovers from the effects of his recent drunk he will be all right, unless complications should develop from the self-inflicted wounds in his cranium.

PORTLAND LAD IS A HERO.

Portland, Ind., June 12.—Jack Imel, 16, sprang in front of a speeding automobile and, grasping an 18-months-old babe in his arms, saved the child from death under the wheels of the car. Imel's heel was grazed by the wheel of the touring car as he jumped across the street wit hthe babe. He saw the danger to the little one that had strolled onto the street from a home nearby. The driver of the car did not see the babe until Imel had it in his arms.

BLOCKS TRAIN WITH HIS BODY.

Portland, Ind., June 12.—Ed Mack, an itinerant umbrella mender, got soused with liquor and held a freight train in this city, refusing to move from the tracks. He had ridden here on the train and was "unloaded." When the train stopped Mack got in front of the engine and refused to budge. The conductor tried to persuade him to leave, but Mack pulled a razor and showed fight. He was finally "ditched" and had not recovered his bearing when the officers arrived and took him in charge.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Warsaw, Ind., June 12.—Wynn Winship, aged 27, of this city, went to sleep on the Big Four railroad track about a half mile south of this place and a local freight came along and bumped him. His head was resting on a tie and his shoulder was elevated so that a part of the engine pilot struck him. The train was stopped and he was picked up unconscious, rushed to his home in Warsaw and surgeons summoned. He was brought to his senses and found to be not dangerously hurt.

AFTER THE GAMBLERS.

Hartford City, Ind., June 12.—John Coughlin, indicted by a grand jury in 1913 for frequenting a gambling room, pleaded guilty before Judge Eichhorn in the circuit court here. He was fined $10 and costs and a jail sentence of ten days was suspended. Martin Bantz, Elmer Slentz and Walter Carpenter, indicted for running gambling rooms, were granted continuances.

WELLS ROAD BONDS SOLD.

Bluffton, Ind., June 12.—County Treasurer J. A. McBride has sold the bonds on five gravel roads to the Studebaker bank for $23,486.85. The roads are four streets that are to be constructed in Bluffton under the three-mile gravel road law, and one street in Poneto. All will be built this summer.

AGED WOMAN BADLY BURNED.

Van Wert, Ohio, June 12.—Mrs. Matilda Norris, an aged resident of this city, was badly burned when a gasoline stove which she was lighting exploded, throwing the burning fluid about her face and arms, causing burns which are painful but not serious. The interior of the kitchen was slightly damaged by the burning fluid.

FIXING UP MONTPELIER TRACK.

Montpelier, Ind., June 12.—Work on the new grandstand at the Montpelier race track is progressing rapidly. The old pavilion was blown down last fall. The Montpelier track is known over the state as one of the fastest half-mile tracks in this part of the country and interesting race metings have been events there for years.

HUNTINGTON'S BIG DELINQUENCY.

Huntington, Ind., June 12.—According to the figures just compiled in the office of the county treasurer, the delinquent tax of Huntington county for the year is $19,370.85. The delinquency for 1914 is greater than the unpaid tax in 1913, the figures of the June settlement tax sheet shows.

BODY FOUND ON PORCH.

Continental, Ohio, June 12.—The body of Mrs. John King, an aged recluse, was found on the porch of her residence, one and one-fourth miles north of Continental. It is thought she died the day before from heart failure.

PIERCETON'S HOMECOMING DATE.

Pierceton, Ind., June 12.—The week of August 22 to 27 has been fixed by the committee as the date of Pierceton's homecoming celebration and carnival. Word will be sent to all expatriates who can be located that this is the date and [illegible]

GEN. FUNSTON'S BABY BORN WHILE HE WAS ON MEXICAN FIRING LINE.

MRS. FREDERICK FUNSTON, WIFE OF GENERAL FREDERICK FUNSTON, AND THE NEW FUNSTON BABY, ELIZABETH.

San Francisco, June 12.—The stork recently stalked into the Letterman General hospital at the Presidio, San Francisco, and left with Mrs. Frederick Funston, wife of "Fighting Fred," the famous brigadier general now in charge of the American troops occupying Vera Cruz, a ten-pound baby girl.

Wife and baby are doing nicely, thank you!

Baby Elizabeth, as they call her, has increased the grand total of the Funston family to three—a boy and two girls. The boy, Fred, jr., is 10 years old, and Barbara, his sister, is 5½. Baby Elizabeth is a little past one month; she was born on April 26.

GETS $5,000 FOR BANDIT'S CAPTURE

Mrs. Colen Was a Victim of Robbery by Ralph Fariss.

MAKES CLAIM GOOD

San Francisco, June 12.—While Ralph Fariss, train bandit and slayer of H. E. Montague, sat in the death cell at San Quentin prison, a woman was paid $5,000 for sending him there. She is Mrs. Arthur M. Colen, one of those robbed when Fariss held up the Sunset express and killed Montague. Her eyes picked Fariss from a crowd in Market street, San Francisco, and she, with her husband, caused his arrest.

MRS. ARTHUR COLEN.

The Southern Pacific company had offered a reward of $5,000 for the arrest of the train bandit.

That the Colens would have received the reward much sooner had not a claim for the money been made by the policeman who actually arrested Fariss, is the statement of the Southern Pacific officials.

After Fariss had been sentenced to death and was in the condemned cell at San Quentin the Colens claimed the reward.

The policeman put in a counter claim and obtained an injunction restraining the Southern Pacific from paying the money to the Colens. Later the injunction was dissolved.

Fariss' appeal for a new trial is under consideration by the supreme court.

SAYS SULPHUR DRIVES ECZEMA FROM THE SKIN

Use like cold cream to instantly stop itching and clear the skin.

Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common bold-sulphur made into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it to the irritated parts the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years common cold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the practice of dermatology and cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticidal, but also antipruritic, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always effecting a permanent cure it never fails to instantly subdue the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.—Adv.

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 1914.

Topic, "The Friend of Sinners"—Luke 18:9-14; 19:1-10. Golden text, "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners"—Mark 2:17.

Three kinds of sinners: The Pharisee in the temple who said, "God, I thank thee that I am not as the rest of men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers. . . . I fast twice in the week. I give tithes of all that I get." He was self-righteous and boastful. The publican in the temple, who prayed, "God be merciful to me a sinner!" He was penitent and humble. Zaccheus, the publican in Jericho, he was penitent and desired to make good.

As Jesus went in and out of the temple during his ministry on earth, he frequently saw the first two kinds of sinners. Humanly speaking we should say that the Pharisees were a thorn in the flesh of Jesus. As we read of Jesus' dealings with them, we can not see that he was ever fretted or annoyed by them, but he was always ready to meet them fairly and squarely and to give them deserved rebuke. He did not cast them off; we read many times that he went to a feast in a Pharisee's house. The second kind of sinners, publicans, were notorious for their cheating, over-reaching qualities as tax collectors, but they were not irretrievably bad, because many publicans came to John for baptism (Luke 3:12-13). Also they came to Jesus to hear his words (Luke 15:1). They sought close intercourse with Jesus. (Matt. 9:10.) Jesus called a publican to be one of his twelve apostles. (Matt. 9:9.)

Zaccheus, the chief publican, the "majordomo" of his class, was so curious to see Jesus as he was passing through Jericho, that he climbed into a sycamore tree under which he knew Jesus would walk. Zaccheus saw Jesus, and Jesus saw Zaccheus, and recognized in his curiosity a spark of true seeking. He called to him, "Zaccheus, come down, for today I must abide at thy house." And Zaccheus made haste and came down, and received him joyfully. He did not shake hands with Jesus, according to our western fashion, but he bowed low before him, and the expression "received him joyfully" leads us to think that he may have kissed Jesus on either cheek, according to the orinetal way.

How exasperated were the Pharisees! They were loud in their mutterings. "He is gone to be a guest with a man that is a sinner." What they deemed Jesus' greatest reproach was his highest praise, for he was bearing God's banner of love, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16.) That was a memorable visit, the outcome of which was the complete surrender of Zaccheus to the rule of Christ in his life, for not only did he tell Jesus that he proposed to give half of his riches to the poor, but out of the half remaining to restore four times the amount he had unlawfully taken over for himself in collecting taxes. We are not told that Zaccheus thereby made himself a poor man, but undoubtedly he did strip himself of his fortune. We can almost hear him joyfully saying, "This is the best day of my life. How good is it to be unloaded of selfishness and sin!" Zaccheus and all repentant sinners may be thus described: "The happy man was born in the city of Regeneration, in the parish of Repentance, unto life. He was educated at the school of Obedience, and now lives in Perseverance road. He works at the factory of Diligence, and is noted for his large estate in the country of Christian Contentment, and does not a little business of self-denial. He wears the plain attire of Humulity, but goes to the court of the Great King, the 'holiest of all,' in a garment called the Robe of Christ's Righteousness. At the close of the day he is found in the valley of Self-Abasement as he reviews its occurrences, and invariably climbs afterward the bright-visioned mountains of Spiritual-Mindedness. He breakfasts every morning on spiritual prayer, and sups every evening on the same; has meat to eat the world knows not of, and his drink is the sincere milk of the Word."

It is our privilege so to live that such things may be said of us.

"But I am not a sinner," said the lady to whom a clergyman tried to talk about becoming a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ. "What do you mean when you declare you are not a sinner?" he asked. She replied: "I mean that I have never done anything wicked or wrong." In fact, she was of good standing in the community where she lived, as one who acted well the proprieties of life. "Do you read your Bible?" "I have no Bible," she replied; "it does not interest me in the least. But I am not disposed to think it is not given of God." The clergyman replied: "The Bible says 'All have sinned, and come short of the glory of God,' and 'If we say we have not sinned we make him a liar.'" (Rom. 3:22-23, and I. John 1:10.) She turned pale, as her sin began to loom up before her. The clergyman continued: "The Bible distinctly says that 'Sin is lawlessness.' The Lord Jesus distinctly says the law is embraced in these two sayings: 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind,' and 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Permit me to ask, have you always loved this way?" "No, I have not," she replied. "Then, according to your own confession, you are a sinner; and if you have never thus loved God and your neighbor, and you are, as I suppose, about thirty years of age, you have been sinning with every breath, and thus have committed millions of sins, and you are adding to the frightful number every moment you live.'

The clergyman went on: "Neither is this 'all, nor the worst. You have received God's mercies of health and home and love, and have shown no gratitude for them, but worst of all, you have rejected his dear Son who died upon the cross to your Saviour. Dare you now say in the shadow of that cross, 'I am not a sinner?' Then she broke down and exclaimed. "I am too great a sinner to be saved." "No," replied the clergyman, "for Jesus himself has said, 'Him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out.'" And on that very day that she was willing to reckon herself a sinner, she was "saved by grace."

A missionary in India used the following illustration: "A great and deadly serpent entered into a house, and made its abode in a hole in the wall. The family was greatly alarmed, and the neighbors came running in to see what was the matter. 'A snake, a deadly snake has come here to live! Oh, what shall we do?" they cried. Said one, 'Have the house thoroughly whitewashed,' Said another, 'Have it painted, too and send for the carpenter to mend doors and windows.' Said a third, 'Send for a Brahman to utter a mantra' (sacred voice,' in Sanscit). All this was done, and for a while the family lived in peace. But one night, when all were asleep, the snake came out of its hole, and bit the father, so that he died. Two nights afterward the snake bit the son, and he died also. Brother," said the missionary, "do you know the meaning of this parable? The house is the body; the hole in the inner wall is the heart, and the serpent is sin. All of your daubings and ceremonies are of no avail; you need a remedy for the bite of the serpent, and Christ is the only remedy."

"'The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.'" (Luke 19:10.)

The apostle Paul is gazing with wonder on the Son of man coming down from heaven on the ladder of humiliation round by round when he writes, "Christ being equal with God made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men; and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross." (Phil. 2:7-8.) That ladder speaks of our lostness. It reminds us that we are in the slippery places of temptation and sin, as it brings salvation within our reach. To those who do not recognize their lostness the ladder of salvation can do no good. A person not convinced of being in peril refuses a rescue, and so those who think themselves safe will not receive the Saviour. The Lord Jesus when he was on earth went not merely to the synagogues and temple to speak to those who had interest enough to come; he went out into the streets and lanes of the cities, seeking and saving those who in soul as well as body were poor and maimed and halt and blind. It was not enough that he had provided an open heaven and open temples and synagogues as sheepfolds to which every wandering sheep would be welcome, but he must also seek and save the lost.

And Jesus came to all the world not only to seek and save lost souls, but everything lost through sin—lost innocence of Eden and childhood; lost powers of holy thought and love; lost possibilities of noble manhood; lost hours of the past; lost treasures of every kind which Satan had stolen from us.

The late Bishop Whipple has been called "the nineteenth century apostle to the Indians." He was once visited by a wild chief who asked that a missionary might be sent to his tribe, saying: "I want your religion for my people. You are patient, and you make the trail plain." The mission was planted, the chief because a faithful Christian. Let it be the aim of Sunday school teachers to make "the trail plain" in teaching of this lesson. Bishop Whipple was called "Straight Tongue" by the Indians, because he always made his message so simple and clear that all understood what he was trying to teach them. Let Sunday school teachers all strive to be "Straight Tongues!"—Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Crafts in the Christian Herald.

THE MARKETS

CHERRY SEASON COMING.

Watermelons Reach Local Markets in Larger Quantities; Prices Lower.

Farmers and truckmen remarked at the market this morning that the cherry season would soon be here. The early cherries are turning red and it will only be a few days, perhaps the first part of the coming week, and they will be ready to be put on market. The early cherry trees are more heavily laden with fruit than the later ones.

Watermelons are reaching the local markets in great quantities and as a result the price is lowering. They are now retailing at 75c to 90c a piece. Last week and the early part of this week they were selling for $1 and better apiece.

The outlook for the farmers' crops this year seems to be rather bright as reports from various parts of the county are to the effect that the wheat and oats have a good stand and that the heads of the wheat are filling nicely. One farmer stated that he thought his wheat would be ready to cut the last week in June.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 12.—Belief that after four days' decline a reaction was due helped bring about a rally today in wheat. The opening, which was ⅛c off to ⅛@¼c up, was followed by a substantial advance all around.

The Lorimer bank troubles, too, were taken advantage of by the bear side. Closing prices were steady, ⅜c to ½c under last night.

Corn weakened on account of general rains where needed. After starting unchanged to ⅝c lower, the market steadied close to last night's level. Notwithstanding that the breaking of the drouth had some bearish influence on oats, the effect was not of a lasting sort. There was but little pressure to sell.

The close was steady, ½c to ⅞c under last night.

Provisions leaned to the bull side. Higher prices at the yards formed the chief reason.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 12.—The demand for stocks in the early market today was small but there was a good undertone and a majority of the active shares were fractionally higher. Speculators bid up transcontinental railroad shares on the passage by the senate of the canal tolls repeal bill, acting on the theory that the imposition of tolls on coastwise ships would make less formidable their competition with the railroads. The Harriman shares were strongest, Southern Pacific rising a point. General Caranza's decision to send delegates to the mediation conference was another factor in favor of the bulls, who have never failed to push their advantage aggressively. Beet Sugar after gaining cosiderable ground recently, reacted a point.

Prices worked higher slowly through the morning. Although the average advance was small, the market revealed a more decided upward tendency all through the list than for several days. Confident buying of seasoned dividend payers inspired bullish interests in other quarters, especially among low priced shares which offer speculative possibilities. The gold export movement continued with the engagement of $2,000,000 more coin, and exchange rates continued to climb. Demand sterling touched a new high mark at 4.89.10. Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Speculators favored the long side today. Business was small, but there were numerous advances of a point or so. Sluggish conditions prevailed in the latter part of the session and earlier gains were reduced.

DAILY MARKET LETTER.

(Furnished by J. S. Phillips, North American Building, Fort Wayne, Ind.)

Chicago, June 12.—Wheat conditions still bearish. Market making new low points. June break has failed to develop any investment power. Shorts best buyers. Forecast is for warmer northwest and showers elsewhere. Rain has appeared in the drouth sections central west. Cash corn demand slow and coarse grain markets also heavy on rains and sales by recent bulls. Argentine ships no corn to the United States this week. Harvesting is increasing over the southwest and early run of wheat seems assured. Some expectation of showers over the week end. Russia continues to export wheat hetavily and the weekly amounts from India, Australia and Argentina are above expectations.

The stock market is a waiting affair just now, but liable to get out of the rut at any moment. Some expect the rate decision tomorrow after the close of business. If it comes and is favorable, stocks will move and will not stop for some time to come. We do not mean by this that they will always move one way, but we will at least see more activity. Changes in London today were trifling. Paris is being closely watche. Grave doubts are expressed in some quarters that the new ministry can put through the proposed Hugh loan. Paris is overloaded with securities, many of which have proved unprofitable.

Prices of stocks at 2:45 p. m. as follows:

Atchison, 99¼; Copper, 71⅞; Smelter, 64⅛; C. & O., 52; B. & O., 91½; Canadian Pacific, 194; Erie, 29¾; Missouri Pacific, 18; Norfolk, 105¼; New York Central, 93¾; Pennsylvania, 111¾; Reading, 165; Southern Railway, 25⅝; St. Paul, 100¼; Southern Pacific, 94¾; New Haven, 65½; Union Pacific, 156¼; United States Steel, 62⅜.

OFFICIAL FORECAST.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight, with probably local showers; Saturday fair.

For Indiana: Local showers tonight; Saturday generally fair.

For Ohio: Unsettled tonight, with probably showers; slightly cooler in south portion; Saturday fair.

For Lower Michigan: Fair tonight and Saturday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Somewhat cooler weather has overspread the northern and northwestern districts and temperatures were not above 80 degrees over Iowa, the Dakotas and Minnesota yesterday. Over the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the southern states excessive temperatures continued yesterday, and 100 degrees was reached at Evansville, Raleigh and Montgomery, with temperatures from 94 to 100 degrees general from the Ohio valley to the gulf coast.

Local showers have given much relief over Missouri, southern Illinois and southern Indiana. A rainfall of 1.50 inches has occurred at Kansas City since last evening, while 0.42 of an inch is reported from Evansville. Light rain was falling at Indianapolis this morning.

The showery conditions which prevail over the central and southern portions of Indiana this morning may spread northward and give some showers in this section this afternoon or tonight, followed by fair weather on Saturday. Moderate temperatures are indicated for the next two days.

W. S. PALMER,
Local Forecaster.

We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong, and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation.

"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration. I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."

Speaker Clark, Majority Leader Underwood and other democratic leaders in the house opposed the president's demand for the repeal, but after a vigorous legislative struggle the house, on March 31, passed the Sims repeal bill. The measure then went to the senate.

In the senate, the fight was prolonged and brought the leading debaters of that body to the front. Party lines were largely eliminated. Senator Root and Senator Lodge were prominent among the republicans who supported President Wilson's position in debate and with their votes; the fight against the repeal was led from the democratic ranks, with Senators O'Gorman and Chamberlain leading the opposition to the president.

Returning a verdict shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday evening, the United States district court jury in session here for three days reported in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Marion Donat against the Pennsylvania company, and Donat was given judgment in the sum of $11,250 for personal injuries sustained while in the employ of the company.

Attorneys for Donat argued negligence on the part of the company in not having placed lights along that portion of the right of way where the plaintiff was compelled to labor after night. The Donat case was the last on the docket for the session and immediately after a verdict was returned the jury was dismissed and court adjourned by Judge A. B. Anderson.

SENATE WIPES OUT FREE TOLLS, 50-35

President Wilson Wins His Victory on Canal Bill Decisively.

FIGHT WAS LONG ONE

Washington, D. C., June 12.—By a vote of 50 to 35 the United States senate last night passed President Wilson's bill repealing the exemption of American coastwise shipping from the payment of Panama canal tolls.

The final vote marked the end of one of the most spectacular and bitterly contested legislative struggles of the last decade. It came at the close of a twelve hour session in stifling heat when senatorial tempers had been worn to a frazzle in the battle over amendments and at least one physical encounter—between Senators Vardaman and West—had been narrowly averted.

Ends Stain Upon Honor.

The action of the senate wipes out the stain put upon the national honor of the United States by the legislation of the last congress remitting tolls to American vessels in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, in which the republic pledged equality of canal privileges to the shipping of all nations.

It also wipes out the indirect subsidy which the remission of tolls would have given the coastwise shipping trust at the expense of the taxpayers of the nation and the discrimination against the producers and consumers of the middle west in favor of seaboard interests.

How Senators Voted.

The vote in favor of the bill follows:

Democrats—Bankhead, Bryan, Chilton, Clarke (Ark.), Culbertson, Fletcher, Gore, Hitchcock, Hughes, James, Johnson, Kern Lea, Lee, Lewis, Martin, Myers, Overman Owens, Pittman, Pomerene, Saulsbury, Shafroth, Sheppard, Shively, Simmons, Smith (Ariz.), Smith (Georgia), Smith (Md.), Smith (S. C.,) Stene, Swanson, Thomas, Thornton, West, White, Williams—37.

Republicans—Brandegee, Burton, Colt, Crawford, Gronna, Kenyon, McCumber, McLean, Nelson, Morris, Root, Sterling, Sherman—13.

The vote against the bill: Democrats—Ashurst, Chamberlain, Lane, Martine, Newlands, O'Gorman, Ransdell, Reed, Vardaman, Thomas Shields—11. Republicans—Borah, Brady, Bristow, Burleigh, Carton, Clapp, Clark (Wyo.), Cummins, Dillingham, Dupont, Goff, Jones, LaFollette, Lippitt, Page, Perkins, Smith (Mich.), Smoot, Sutherland, Townsend, Warren, Weeks Works—23.

Progressive—Poindexter. Total—35.

Story of the Fight.

The question of making the Panama canal free to American vessels was brought to the front when the house, on May 23, 1912, incorporated in the act providing for the establishment of civil government in the canal zone, a provision authorizing the president to charge tolls to vessels using the canal, with a proviso exempting coastwise vessels from such charges. President Taft, in a message to congress had urged the exemption. The bill had been reported to the house providing tolls for all vessels but the exemption provision was adopted as an amendment. This amendment was in the bill as it went to the senate.

Before the bill passed the senate, Great Britain, on July 11, 1912, filed a formal protest against the proposed exemption. The note transmitted to the state department contended:

"The British government thinks that to allow American vessels to pass through the canal without the payment of tolls would be to violate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty whether the tolls are not collected, or whether if collected they are refunded. As to coastwise trade, the British government thinks it would be difficult to frame a provision which would not do justice to their interests."

The Hay-Pauncefote treaty superseded the Clayton-Bulwer treaty under which Great Britain and the United States were, jointly, to build the canal. The Hay-Pauncefote agreement, after providing rules for the regulation of the canal, based on the rules governing Suez canal traffic, set forth:

"The canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations observing these rules on terms of entire equality, so that there shall be no discrimination against any such nation or its citizens or subjects in respect of the conditions or charges of traffic or otherwise. Such conditions or charges of traffic shall be just and equitable."

British Note of Protest.

The British note of protest started a lengthy diplomatic correspondence on the subject. Great Britain throughout claimed that the United States could not, under the terms of the treaty, make toll exemption of any vessels, whether its own or of other nations. Secretary Knox, who conducted the correspondence for the United States, in several lengthy notes contended that the exemption of American coastwise shipping was in no way a discrimination against other traffic using the canal. He asserted that the exemption was in the nature of a subsidy, paid, not by imposing the tolls for certain American vessels upon other ships passing through the canal, but by the American taxpayers themselves in paying for the maintenance of the canal.

"The avoidance of possible friction," said the note, "has been one of the main objects of those methods of arbitration of which the United States has been for so long a foremost and consistent advocate."

The President's Stand.

Throughout the first year of President Wilson's administration there was a constant agitation for the repeal of the exemption clause. The president let it be known that he favored the repeal, and on March 5, 1914, he delivered an address to congress in joint session, earnestly urging the repeal. The exemption, he said, was a "mistaken economic policy" and was "in plain contravention of the treaty."

"The large thing to do," said the president, "is the only thing we can afford to do; a voluntary withdrawal from a position everywhere questioned and misunderstood. We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong, and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation.

HYSTERIA OF TODAY SCORED

Fairbanks, at Grave of Lincoln's Mother, Eulogizes Martyred President.

TALKS TO EDITORS AT LINCOLN CITY

Three Former Governors in Program of Pilgrimage to Indiana Village.

Lincoln City, Ind., June 12.—At the grave of his mother Abraham Lincoln, martyred president, was eulogized by a former vice president of the United States and three former governors during the pilgrimage today of the Indiana Republican Editorial association to this place. The grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln and the old Lincoln home are now included in a state park.

Augustus E. Willson, former governor of Kentucky, addressed the editors and their friends on behalf of the state of Lincoln's nativity; W. T. Durbin, former governor of Indiana, on behalf of the state of Lincoln's boyhood; Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois, on behalf of the state of Lincoln's final adoption, and Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president, on behalf of the nation.

The editors came here by special train and returned to Evansville this afternoon for a boat ride on the Ohio river. After reviewing the life of the civil war president, Mr. Fairbanks paid special tribute to his modest, patience and loyalty.

These Days of Hysteria.

"In these days of hysteria and of the reckless impeachment of our political institutions, in these days of anxiety for the future," said the former vice president, "it is well to recall the unwearying patience, the sublime faith and the loyalty of Abraham Lincoln to the cause of the union. His confidence in the virtue of republican government and his trust in the ultimate judgment of the American people.

"Mr. Lincoln was beset by more grave questions than ever taxed his illustrious precedessors or his great successors, but he never lost control of his better judgment; he never compromised with expediency nor never for one moment bartered sound principles for the hope of political preferment."

Reviews Lincoln's Life.

Mr. Fairbanks reviewed the life of President Lincoln, beginning with the time when he came as a boy to his mother's knee in the log cabin in the forest of southern Indiana and down to

NEW PREMIER IN PLACE BUT A DAY

Rabot Resigns When French Chamber of Deputies Opposes Policy.

FIRST VOTE DEFEATS

Paris, June 12.—The new French cabinet, of which Senator Rabot is premier, was defeated today in the first division taken in the new chamber of deputies by a vote of 306 to 262. The premier resigned. He had held office but one day.

Intense excitement was manifested in the chamber of deputies when Rabot mounted the tribune to read the cabinet's declaration of policy. In many quarters doubt was expressed whether the cabinet would be able to live through the day owing to its attitude concerning the rigid maintenance of three years' military service law. At the end of his speech Premier Rabot said he was ready to accept interpolations immediately and it was regarded as likely that a vote of confidence would be put later in the day.

The new cabinet decided today to ask for a loan of $180,000,000 at 3½ per cent, payable in twenty-five years. The proceeds were to be spent for the extraordinary requirements of the army and navy.

MEDIATORS ARE FIRM IN STAND

Will Not Admit Carranza Delegates in Absence of Armistice.

NOTABLE STEP TAKEN

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 12.—The mediators will not officially admit to the conference here the representatives Gen. Carranza has announced he will send to Niagara Falls. The South American diplomats said they could not recede from their original condition demanding an armistice.

They reiterated that while admission of the constitutionalists is and will continue to be contingent upon declaration of an armistice, the mediators would have no objection if a conference could be held between the Huerta delegates, the Carranza delegates and the Americans. In fact, such a suggestion has been under consideration for some

THREAT TO BLOW UP CUNARD LINER

Capture Man Who Demanded $10,000 as Immunity for Steamship.

New York, June 12.—Two weeks may elapse before Henry Westcott or Burton, the young West Indian negro charged with attempting to blackmail the Cunard Steamship company, by threat of blowing up a liner can be extradited from New Jersey. Meanwhile he is held in jail at Hackensack.

While extradition papers are being prepared the federal authorities will be consulted and it is believed that they may take a hand in the prosecution, because Burton used the mails in the alleged attempted blackmail. The police do not believe he had an accomplice.

To the New York detectives and secret service men of the West Shore railroad Burton is said to have confessed the authorship of the letters in which arrangements were made for the payment of the $10,000 demanded as immunity for the safety of a Cunard liner which the writer declared would be blown up at sea by placing dynamite in the coal.

Staged a Drama.

In carrying out these instructions the detectives staged a spectacular drama in life following in detail every injunction specified by the would-be steamship wrecker. Burton, too, the detectives allege, carried out the part assigned the collector of the $10,000 by blowing a police whistle as a signal for an agent of the Cunard line to drop a package containing the money from the rear platform of a West Shore train, and to the railroad tracks. Detectives stationed on a special train following seized Burton, who they say picked up the decoy package.

Previous to staging the final act of the plot last night the detectives Wednesday afternoon followed the first order. The writer of the letters demanded as an indication of good faith that an agent of the Cunard line should stand for three minutes with an arm resting on a statue in the New York City Hall park at 5:30 o'clock p. m. of that day. At the end of three minutes, the agent was to raise his hat and disappear. The writer stated that he would be in a position to see and would take this panto-

TO HAVE COLLEGE BROUGHT TO CITY

Secretary Biederwolf Says Commercial Club Would Offer Site.

If Governor Ralston really considers it advisable to ask the state legislature to take steps toward the removal of Indiana university from Bloomington, Fort Wayne will be ready and eager to enter a tempting bid for an effort to have the state lawmakers select this city as the location for the big institution.

This was determined Friday when The Sentinel interviewed a number of prominent business men and educators. For about a year Bloomington has been having trouble with its water supply, and conditions are regarded so bad that it threatens to bring serious consequences to the student body. Considering this, Governor Ralston says he carefully investigating conditions may ask the legislature to remove the university.

Would Make Offer.

Fort Wayne, as the second city in the state, would have something very tempting to offer to get the institution here, according to Secretary Charles L. Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, and his opinion is endorsed by many members of the club. Professor J. N. Study, superintendent of the Fort Wayne public schools, also believes that Fort Wayne has a nexcellent chance to land the university if it is finally decided to remove it from Bloomington.

"It will be worth while for Fort Wayne to keep in close touch with the proposition at any rate," said Professor Study. "Fort Wayne's facilities are especially good and transportation condi-

President of Big Company Wants to Lease Kerr-Murray Plant.

DEAL ABOUT CLOSED

With a view of locating in Fort Wayne, President U. G. White, of the White Equipoised Aeroplane company, of Helena, Mont., arrived in the city Friday morning, and after a lengthy conference with Secretary C. L. Biederwolf and President W. M. Griffin, of the Commercial club, and Receiver E. J. Disser, of the Kerr Murray company, had about decided to contract for a lease on the Kerr Murray factory buildings at Calhoun street and the Wabash tracks.

"Fort Wayne has excellent facilities in many ways. Its railroad and general transportation conditions are good and everything seems favorable for the location of our factory here," said President White Friday afternoon. "We have conferred with Receiver Disser and have also inspected the buildings of the Kerr Murray company and they appear ideal for the use we desire of them."

Mr. White is accompanied by J. M. Gardner, representative of the company, and both men this afternoon expressed entire satisfaction at the suggestion of Art Smith, the local aviator.

GREECE GIVES TURK WARNING

Utterances of Premier Little Short of Declaration of Hostilities.

NEW WAR CLOUD IS OVER THE BALKANS

Greece Rises With Fire in Eye Over Outrages by the Turks.

Athens, Greece, June 12.—A warning to Turkey which fell little short of a formal declaration of hostilities was uttered today by Premier Venizelos of Greece in the chamber of dputies. He was speaking on the treatment of Greek subjects in Turkey.

The premier's attitude showed that the tension between Greece and Turkey was near the breaking point and that the danger of war was imminent. M. Venizelos, who obviously found difficulty in restraining his language when he spoke of the way in which the Turks had treated his fellow countrymen, said:

"I do not wish to allow to escape me words which cannot be recalled but I should fail in my duty if I did not inform the chamber of deputies that the situation has become grave, even very grave. If a stop is not put to these conditions the Hellenic government will be forced not to content itself with joining in the lamentations of unhappy refugees."

Statement is Cheered.

Loud and prolonged cheers greeted the statement of the premier who added that thousands of Greek refugees had already reached the homeland from Turkey while thousands more were only awaiting transportation facilities "in order to escape from their persecutors." Such a situation, he concluded, could not be borne much longer.

INDIVIDUAL DRINKING CUPS FOR HORSES NEXT.

New York, June 12.—Individual drinking cups for horses is proposed in an ordinance before the committee on health of the board of aldermen. The abolition of all public drinking troughs and the substitution of spring faucets is sought in the measure. Every driver of a commercial vehicle will be required to carry a pail to water his own horses. Introduction of the ordinance followed an outbreak of glanders for which the public drinking troughs were held partly responsible.

CHICAGO LAWYER WILL GET PLACE

Thomas B. Jones Slated as Federal Reserve Board Governor.

LIST NOW COMPLETED

Washington, June 12.—Thomas B. Jones, a Chicago lawyer, former member of the Princeton university trustees, and a personal friend of President Wilson, has practically been selected for governor of the federal reserve board. It was said unofficially today that his nomination would go to the senate Monday.

With the nomination of Mr. Jones, the names of Paul M. Warburg, of New York; W. G. Harding, of Birmingham, Ala.; A. C. Miller, of San Francisco, and E. C. Simmons, of St. Louis, to be members of the board, are expected to go to the senate. Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams, of the currency bureau, will be ex-officio members.

It was definitely stated at the white house that the president would formally announce the personnel of the board Monday. Mr. Warburg and Mr. Harding are bankers, Mr. Miller is an economist and at present assistant secretary of the interior; Mr. Simmons is a merchant. Mr. Jones, as well as being a lawyer, is a student and expert in finance.

With the appointment and organization of the board, the work of actually organizing the country's new banking system will get under way and officials hope to have it in operation for the crop-moving period in the autumn.

LORIMER BANK CLOSES DOORS

State Examiner Takes Hold of Chicago Financial Institution.

A MILD RUN STARTED

Chicago, June 12.—The LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank, organized by William Lorimer five years ago when he was United States senator from Illinoiss and of which he has since been president, was closed today by the state bank examiner. While rumors of financial trouble had been whispered of late, the actual closing of the institution was a surprise. Coincident with this action examiners closed three state banks which had heavy deposits with the larger institution.

DO NOT INTEND TO SMOTHER IT

Club Women Agree to Give Equal Suffrage Full Consideration.

GREETED BY CHEERS

Chicago, June 12.—The question of woman suffrage will receive the fullest consideration at the convention of the general federation of women's clubs. This announcement was made very emphatically by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the federation, at the opening of today's session. She was greeted with a storm of applause.

"The chair wishes to answer some seventeen questions which have been received with regard to the subject of woman suffrage," announced Mrs. Pennybacker. "The purport of these questions is, are we going to smother the suffrage question?"

At this the house became very silent and the speaker paused dramatically. Then the speaker resumed with an explosive "no." Then the president amplified: "It is not the intention to smother this great question."

Mrs. Pennybacker stated that the subject probably would come up this afternoon at the educational conference and that resolutions which might be presented at that time may be presented to the resolutions committee and that a report on them would be made tomorrow.

"Special privileges to none; equal rights for all, is the slogan of this convention," declared the chairman, amid further applause. Then she added: "Now lets do something less exciting. We will have the report on civil service reform." This report was read by Mrs. Imogene B. Oakley, of Pennsylvania.

CHILDREN WANT PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN.

Hundreds of times The Sentinel staff photographer has been accosted by youngsters at play who wanted their photographs taken. He determined to try it, and went out with his camera and "took" those who requested it, allowing them to pose and group themselves just as they choose. In tomorrow's issue The Sentinel will present pictures taken in Spy Run and Lakeside, and from time to time other sections of the city will be similarly represented.

The poses are natural and the little fellows are shown as they can be seen every day in the enjoyment of happy childhood. The Sentinel man asked no names and the identity of the little folk is a matter entirely unknown to him. The pictures will be found interesting, and it will be worth while to get the Saturday Sentinel for this and other features that make it Fort Wayne's Greatest Newspaper.

greatly excited, and demands are made that the government take immediate sharp action in the matter.

The Greek government today sent a vigorous note to Turkey demanding the cessation of the persecution of the Greeks in Turkey and the repair of damage caused to them and their interests.

Reports have been current for several weeks of unrest in the Balkans and of the ever increasing acuteness of the situation between Turkey and Greece. A general feeling has prevailed in Europe that Turkey was preparing for another conflict with Greece with the object of reconquering the territory she had lost in the recent war. Expulsions of Greek subjects from Asia Minor as well as from European Turkey have been in progress for some time.

tions, to and from the city would be another good point to bring out when a bid is offered for the university. I believe that if Governor Ralston asks that steps be taken to bring about a change of location, this city should make every effort to secure the university."

Would Get a Site.

Secretary Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, stated Friday that if Fort Wayne has any chance to get the university, in case of its removal from Bloomington, the organization which he represents will exert every effort possible and he thinks that the club would be able to offer the university a suitable site in Fort Wayne for the location of its buildings. The Commercial club stands ready to aid in any manner, any effort that is made to have the state legislature order the removal of the university from Bloomington to Fort Wayne.

He said Mr. Lincoln appreciated the humorous side of life and that it greatly relieved the tremendous strain upon him. He told a number of stories, illustrating the martyred president's wit.

"Mr. Lincoln was the most modest of men," continued the speaker, "and we may observe that true modesty accompanies real greatness. It was a fortunate thing that he should have been entrusted with the task of preserving the nation's life and wiping out its only crime. It was a good providence that gave the nation a man of his character, poise and judgment, of his sympathy, gentleness and strength. The story of his life will exert an uplifting influence on the youth of the land for centuries to come.

"The nation is erecting a monument in the national capital to the memory of Mr. Lincoln, which will be one of the most imposing in the world; but far more enduring than it will stand a united freed republic for which he gave the last full measure which a patriot can give for his country and his countrymen."

CITY GETS SOME GENUINE RELIEF

RAIN IS IN SIGHT

Cloudy skies and cooling breezes from the west brought Fort Wayne its first genuine relief Friday from the excessive heat of the past week. Even Forecaster W. S. Palmer is jubilant over the slightly lowered temperature and announces in his official predictions that this city and vicinity may expect some showers tonight.

As a comparison to show the difference in temperatures, the government thermometer Friday had not passed the 70 mark at 10 o'clock, while Thursday, and in fact every other day this week the mercury stood well past 80 degrees at that hour and some days neared the 90 degree mark by 10:30 in the morning.

It was announced Friday morning that the temperature during the day would range from five to ten degrees lower than that of Thursday, and conditions are favorable for showers late in the afternoon or tonight. Fair weather is predicted for Saturday.

The examiner reported that conditions were such as to warrant the closing of the Lorimer bank. A mild run started on the bank two days ago, according to the secretary of the institution and today more and more depositors gathered in front of the institution, which is a few doors from the board of trade building in LaSalle street. An hour after the arrival of the bank examiner the doors of the bank were closed. Examination of subsidiaries of the LaSalle street bank, it was announced, would be taken up by the examiner.

Mr. Lorimer was in conference with the directors of the institution throughout the morning. In the last statement issued by the bank its capital stock was placed at $1,000,000, surplus $250,000 and undivided profits $93,631. Its stock was then held at par. The statement gave the deposits as $5,058,586 and the loans $1,363,389.

Later the state bank examiner announced that he had sent examiners to three banks in Chicago classed as subsidiaries of the LaSalle street institution.

The examiners caused a suspension of business in the three, the Broadway State bank on the north side; the Ashland and Twelfth, on the west side Ghetto district, and the Illinois State Bank of Chicago, in North Clark street. The Broadway State and the Ashland and Twelfth State banks were organized within the year.

William Lorimer, jr., is listed as the heaviest stockholder of the Illinois State bank, which at the last report had deposits of $177,000 and a capital stock of $200,000.

MEDIATORS ARE FIRM IN STAND

time, so that if an agreement could be reached between these three parties at interest the mediators would finally admit all to the signing of a protocol.

Mediation today had achieved its first important step. After nearly three weeks of parleying, the mediators and the American and Huerta delegates were ready formally to approve in full conference the method by which the executive power in Mexico City shall be transferred from the Huerta administration to a new provisional government. The constitutionalist form of succession permitting Gen. Huerta to appoint as minister of foreign affairs, the man chosen for the provisional presidency has been abandoned. The United States claimed that to follow this method would be recognizing Huerta's authority as constitutional. Instead there will be an abrupt transfer of authority to the new provisional president with the probability that the oath of office will be administered by the chief justice of the supreme court.

There was a deadlock for three days over the manner of transition from Huerta but the Mexicans finally yielded on the ground that technicalities should not jeopardize the prospects for peace. The mediators too are determined to remove every technical obstacle. The work of the conferences is now centered on the second point in the plan for the pacification of Mexico which deals with the personnel of the new government.

The coming of constitutionalist delegates at a time when the proceedings have reached the critical stage where personnel is being icensed wdill not be unwelcome to the Americans and it is suggested in some quarters that even the Huerta delegates, anxious for an end of the civil strife will be glad to have the negotiations hurried by having all sides of the Mexican situation represented.

RELIEF AT WASHINGTON.

Swift Changes in Work of Mediation Prove Gratifying.

Washington, June 12.—Swift changes in mediation proceedings that reached a climax with Carranza's announcement that he would send representatives to Niagara Falls encouraged administration chiefs today when they resumed their study of the Mexican problem. Rafael Zubaran, chief of the constitutionalist agency here, was prepared to forward Carranza's note to the mediators despite their attitude of yesterday which was taken to indicate they thought enough consideration already was being given to the northern faction in the parleys.

The sudden change in the trend of negotiations between the federal and American delegates over the transfer of authority in Mexico City was a source of tremendous relief to administration officials. The Mexicans had sought to abide by their constitution in such a transition, but the American mission objected on the ground that to permit Huerta to name his own successor, even if he were chosen at the Niagara Falls conference would be tantamount to recognition of the federals. The stumbling block was passed after the Mexicans conceded the point.

Constitutionalist agents here were in conference with Carranza at Saltillo until long after midnight. The constitutionalists would not discuss the personnel of the representation to Niagara Falls, but it was presumed Rafael Zubaran, minister of the interior in Carranza's cabinet, and acting as chief of the agency here, would be one of the delegates.

President Wilson today authorized the announcement that he considers the progress of mediation at Niagara Falls as "very encouraging." No formal statement was made of the basis of the president's optimism, it was said unofficially that he expects mediation to have a successful outcome within the next few days.

More optimism than has been displayed over the Mexican situation in official circles for some time was evident today among members of the cabinet. Secretary Bryan came out of the meeting saying the situation looked "very, very fine." Other members displayed the same feeling but would not discuss the basis for their hopefulness.

In the meeting which lasted for more than two hours, the news that Carranza is to send delegates to Niagara Falls, was taken up in detail. The administration does not feel that the mediators will finally refuse to admit Carranza's representatives to the proceedings.

Unusual Precautions.

Since the first letters were received about three weeks ago, officials of the Cunard line stated today that unusual precautions had been taken to guard all of its steamships lying at its pier in this port. This was the reason why the public was not admitted to the new steamship Aquitania when she was here during a part of last week.

About twenty years ago, it was stated a somewhat similar plot was almost carried to completion on a steamship of the Cunard line a fact that influenced the officials of that company and the police in planning for six days to thwart the plans by apparently falling in with the designs of the blackmailer.

HOUSE DISPENSES WITH CONFERENCE

Accepts the Senate Amendments to Canal Tolls Exemption Repeal.

BILL GOES TO WILSON

Washington, June 12.—Without the formality of a conference the house today by a vote of 216 to 71 accepted the senate's amendment to the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption and sent the bill to President Wilson.

When the bill returned today from its long, spectacular fight in the senate for action in the house, Chairman Adamson, of the commerce committee, in charge of the bill, at once moved that the house concur with the amendments instead of sending it to conference.

"The senate amendment," he said, "should be acceptable to all advocates of uniform tolls. It is exceedingly appropriate that the statement contained in the amendment should be made and promulgated in connection with the repeal bill itself- it is nothing but the truth and substantially the same declaration has been made by us on the floor of the house and elsewhere many times."

An attempt, led by Representative Moss, republican, of West Virginia, to substitute the senate amendment to the tolls repeal bill by an affirmative declaration of the rights of the United States to discriminate in favor of its own ships was defeated in the house, 174 to 108.

Lay Lines for Next Battle.

Administration senators sought conference at the white house today to lay the lines for the next legislative battle —the enactment of President Wilson's trust program. With the Panama tolls repeal out of the way after weeks of long and enervating debate, the administration forces will bend their energies toward passage of the trust bills already approved in the house and now awaiting action in the senate judiciary and interstate commerce committees.

Resolutions of Impeachment.

Resolutions of impeachment against Federal District Judge Alston G. Dayton, of West Virginia, were introduced in the house today, and without opposition referred to the judiciary committee.

Representative Neeley impeached Judge Dayton on the floor, charging him with "high crimes and misdemeanors"; conspiracy with corporations and individuals to bring about the removal of Judge John J. Jackson so that he might get his place; of favoritism to corporations having extensive litigation in his court and of "personal and judicial misconduct."

JUSTICE SWIFT FOR BOY BEAST

Otto Omsbacher Gets Two to Fourteen Years for Attacking Baby Girl.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Justice was swift in pursuit of Otto Omsbacher, the sixteen-year-old boy who made a shocking attack on the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meyers, Thursday afternoon. Arraigned in the circuit court Friday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery with intent to commit criminal assault, Omsbacher pleaded not guilty and then took the stand and described the abuse to which he had subjected the baby girl in the home of his parents, corner of Weisser Park avenue and Buchanan streets, into which the child, who resides near, had wandered during the absence of Omsbacher's parents. The child's mother recited what her little daughter had told her regarding the attack and Detective Sergeant Charles Spillner, who made the arrest related Omsbacher's confession to him. Judge Eggeman found the lad guilty and sentenced him to serve two to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville. He will be taken there soon.

Thain Child Well Bestowed.

After hearing a mass of putrid testimony Judge Yaple in the superior court Friday gave the custody of the five-year-old son of Dr. George Thain and Mrs. Daisy Thain, his divorced wife, to E. Clarence Shell, president of the Pape Furniture company. Mrs. Thain had brought suit to have modified the court's decree giving the custody of the boy to its father, alleging that he was an improper person to have the care and rearing of the child. Dr. Thain is now under conviction and penitentiary sentence in the Adams circuit court at Decatur for having performed a criminal operation that ensued in a woman's death. His case is now pending on appeal to the supreme court. The testimony in Mrs. Thain's suit was specially severe on her character and repute. Judge Yaple decided that neither the father or mother was entitled to the child.

Says He Was Tricked Into Marriage.

Roy Merica has filed in the superior court a suit for divorce from Minnie Merica and in his complaint charges that he was tricked into marriage on the 8th of last August by the defendant's false and fraudulent representations that he was the father of her unborn child. Following his arrest on charges preferred by the defendant "she induced him to make a settlement by marriage," Merica, according to his complaint, then "believing that to be the honorable thing to do under the circumstances." He says he found her representations to be entirely false and that they were so known by her to be and for the sole purpose of procuring her marriage to him. She was in no such condition as she alleged. Merica also says his wife accuses him wrongfully of associating with other women. A few days ago Mrs. Merica sued her husband in the superior court for support. They separated January 1.

Wants Divorce and $500.

Daisy M. Fryer complains to the superior court and says she wants a divorce from Pearl A. Fryer, to whom she was mated in February, 1907, and from whom she separated in July, 1910. She says he always treated her with cruelty, made no provision for her support, struck, beat and choked her and threatened to take her life. She asks $500 alimony. The defendant is believed now to be in the city of Logansport, Ind.

Notes of the Courts.

In the circuit court Henry Polenz has sued Ernest Hanes for $50 in replevin proceedings.

Albert H. Abbott has sued Henry C. Hille in the superior court to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $150.

In the circuit court Judge Eggeman has appointed Charles McKeon, Charles A. Wilding and John A. Bushman commissioners to partition the real estate involved in the suit of Charles M. Thomas vs. Viola B. and Arthur Thomas.

In the superior court George W. Thiebolt, treasurer, was given judgment for $72 against Oliver H. Markins on notes.

The suit of Minnie Merica against her husband, Roy Merica, for support, has been dismissed from the superior court.

Judge Eggeman in the circuit court spent the greater part of Friday listening to argument of counsel on demurrer in the cases of Frank P. Wilt and others and of the trustees of Plymouth Congregational church against the city of Fort Wayne to resist payment of assessments for ornamental lighting systems installed on Harrison and Calhoun streets. These are a part of numerous similar suits brought against the city.

In the superior court Calvin H. Brown, auditor of Allen county, has brought suit against Oscar Bolton and others to foreclose a mortgage. The demand is $3,450.

Theodore Thimlar has begun suit in the superior court against Walter A. and Lura E. Thimlar to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $375.

WOMAN SOUGHT LOVE, ACQUITTED

Mrs. Werner is Freed of Charge of Killing Husband.

BIG SENSATION ENDS

Seattle, Wash., June 12.—Sensation-seekers struggled for places of vantage in Judge Muckintosh's courtroom here when Mrs. Magdalina Werner was tried and acquitted of the murder of her husband at Issquah.

In a purported confession, as read to the jury, Mrs. Werner was declared to have admitted asking Frank Piconi, charged jointly in the crime, to do away with Werner for $100.

Mrs. Werner might be termed the "young-old woman who was never loved."

"I never knew what it meant to have some one to love me until I came to the county jail," she said. "I didn't know there was so much kindness in the world as I have received from women who have visited me here, and from the matrons.

"In all my married life, since I was 16, the only love I have known is the love for my children. I longed for love all my life and didn't get it from my husband. It was a hard life to live."

But after weeks of waiting for trial, she was acquitted, and the Magdalina Werner of today and the Magdalina Werner of ten weeks ago are two different women.

INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION.

"About five years ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets after suffering from indigestion and constipation for years without finding anything to relieve me. PARTY SLAVERY FOUND A MENACE

Governor Hodges, of Kansas, Urges Children to Be Independent.

PLATFORMS USELESS

LaHarpe, Kan., June 12.—That the old partisanship of politicians is rapidly being driven out of American political affairs as people come to realize that the bigoted partisan in politics is in politics for his own selfish interest is the belief of Governor Hodges.

The governor made the annual commencement address to the LaHarpe high school and urged the graduates to study state and national affairs so they could vote for the best interests of themselves and the country rather than for the selfish interests of the partisan politician. He said in part:

"I would urge your studying state and national affairs, study men, study politics and prepare yourselves for the burden of state that must eventually fall upon your shoulders. Do not belong to a political party because father did. Conditions are changing. Party platforms and pledges were never held so lightly.

In Politics for the "Rewards."

"In the past, principle ranked second to expediency, and literally, party expediency meant personal privilege, personal gain; and when the campaign was over, the victors rolled up their sleeves and divided the patronage—public office—without regard to efficiency, honesty or qualifications. Men were wont to regulate their political actions in accordance with the rewards offered or the penalties inflicted. It was customary for politicians to husband the truth with wonted frugalities and dispense generalities with generous lavishness.

"Both parties claimed that there would be an immediate downfall of the republic if their side did not win. The oft-repeated statement created that which the politicians desired—'partisanship'—but instead of the predicted downfall the nation continued to grow in stature, numbers and influence.

Salvation in Independent Vote.

"The individual members of the majority party began to realize that they were equally amenable to the laws passed by themselves as the minority party was. A strange political light appeared and it dawned upon man that beneficial legislation benefited men alike, no matter whether they were republicans or democrats, and notwithstanding they belonged to opposing political parties their interests were mutual. They began to realize that the bitterness and strife engendered by a few politicians was for their individual gain and the benefit of the interests that they represented.

"The independent voter is the purifying element in politics. He is the antiseptic that cleanses parties of corrupt practices. He is the most potent force in the state today. This growing body of men asking no political preferment, demands that men and parties shall stand for right and righteousness, and it behooves the party that wishes to perpetuate itself to hearken to these men. They have been the great moral force that has been shaping the destiny of the nation by exercising their suffrage for the betterment of the state, and unlike some of our reformers they stand—not grandstand—for a square deal."

"There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

GET RID OF YOUR RHEUMATISM.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it if you apply Chamberlain's Liniment. W. A. Lockhard, Homer City, N. Y., writes: "Last spring I suffered from rheumatism with terrible pains in my arms and shoulders. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and the first application relieved me. By using one bottle of it I was entirely cured." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Acts 9:1-16.

1 And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

3 And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined about him a light from heaven:

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

6 And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three days without sight, and neither did eat nor drink.

10 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Judas for one called Saul, of Tarsus: for, behold, he prayeth,

12 And hath seen in a vision a man named Ananias coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his sight.

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evil he hath done to thy saints at Jerusalem:

14 And here he hath authority from the chief priests to bind all that call on thy name.

15 But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel:

16 For I will shew him how great things he must suffer for my name's sake.

CERTIFIED 12

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1914.

Bring It to Fort Wayne.

Governor Ralston's determined stand for either permanent relief from the water famine at Bloomington or the removal of Indiana university from that city to some other location will serve to direct state-wide attention to a condition that has long existed, and with which the city authorities at Bloomington appear to have persistently temporized. For a good many years, it is declared, the Bloomington water supply has been woefully below grade, both as to quality and quantity, and recently the situation has become so acute as to work serious hardship on the students of the big state institution.

The action of the governor has resulted, in a very belated but nevertheless encouraging movement on the part of city officials at Bloomington, but the latter is accepted only at a considerable discount by those who are familiar with the outcome of earlier proposals and promises in this direction. It is admitted that the supply has been inadequate, but it is contended that this is to be remedied at once, and there is insistent declaration that the water is safe. We do not believe the situation is one with which the state of Indiana should temporize, nor can it afford to maintain a great educational institution at any point where the water supply can be fairly called into question. The Sentinel sees a happy solution of the whole problem in the removal of the university to Fort Wayne. Here will be found an ideal location, much more easy of access than the present one, and an abundant supply of deep rock well water, the integrity of which cannot be questioned. Fort Wayne can offer Indiana university a permanent escape from the conditions which have provoked criticism that has been both drastic and well-founded.

London is fearing increased activity of the militant suffragettes when Colonel Roosevelt comes to town and the British police are taking advance precautions accordingly. Doubtless the militants have gotten the impression that the strenuous ex-president would rather admire the sort of entertainment their smashing would afford and purpose to contribute their full share to the gaiety of the occasion which marks his visit.

The senate has by a decisive vote declared for the repeal of the canal tolls exemption, precisely as everybody knew it would declare weeks ago, as soon as the president asked for the repeal and before the floodgates of senatorial oratory were lifted. However, talking in such a relief to the average statesman that perhaps the formality of frenzied discussion has been worth while, despite the fact that it in no wise affected the general result.

"Let us have our skirts wide enough to walk to the polls," pleaded Mrs. Rudolph Blankenberg, of Philadelphia, before the national convention of women's clubs at Chicago—thereby calling attention to one menace to equal suffrage that appears to have escaped notice heretofore.

Six divorces granted in the superior court in a single day probably constitute a record-breaking accumulation of domestic dissension for this city. We fear this extremely hot weather is beginning to get on folks' nerves.

A CATCH WORTH WHILE.

By the way that left fielder ran for that foul fly far over alongside the bleachers, it might have been supposed that to catch it was the most important thing he had ever had to do.

The minute the bat cracked, he started, running like a fiend.

"You can't get it," the captain and coachers shouted.

"Look out for the railing," exclaimed the fans, who feared that their favorite might be hurt and lost to the game.

But he heeded nothing; he ran as if his very life were at stake; and just as the descending sphere was grazing the edge of the structure, he leaped forward, threw himself headlong, rolled over and over, but as he arose it was to a chorus of tumultuous cheers, for he had the ball.

Was it that important?

Indeed it was, for it was the performance of a duty.

The left fielder was paid to do such things. To be sure, had he run less speedily and dared less bravely, missing the long chance, he wouldn't have lost his job or had his pay lowered.

But, on the other hand, he wouldn't have won that salvo of cheering or helped his teammates to retire the other side.

He did his utmost. He showed what nerve and training and keen, brilliant will power can do in a pinch. And that was worth more as a spectacle and as an example than the mere winning of one game or a dozen games.

Everybody who saw the fine performance was made just a little better by it; was given a new insight into what fit manhood is.

Everybody who saw carried home, consciously or unconsciously, a new ideal.

ONLY ONE ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY.

"I have tried various colic and diarrhoea remedies, but the only one that has given me entire satisfaction and cured me when I was afflicted is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I recommend it to my friends at all times," writes S. N. Galloway, Stewart, S. C. For sale by all dealers. —Adv.

TO THE JUNE BRIDEGROOM.

You will think she is an angel, of course.

At her best, she is; that is, as near like one as mortals can be.

But don't let that scare you; for, after all, she's human. She will need three meals a day, a surprising lot of clothes, much affection, more forbearance and your constant steadying.

She won't always look or talk like an angel. Sometimes she will seem a fright, and act the part.

Then, young feller, is when, if you are wise, you will get right down out of the clouds, cease to worship, and with a smile on your face, take her into your strong arms, put a kiss wher nature intends it and lay down the law.

We say this, not in the least approving of masculine tyranny. There will undoubtedly come times, very many of 'em, when she, to balance the account, will also lay down the law. You'll obey without a word, if you're wise.

But as this is addressed to the June bridegroom, we needn't pause to consider her law-giving—it's yours we're discussing now.

The point is, do it smilingly and with a smacking kiss.

It all depends how you lay the law down whether you are a tyrant or not. If you do as we say we'll guarantee that, nine times in ten, she'll like you better for it.

Whitley County News.

Columbia City, Ind., June 12.—Samuel F. Garber, who has followed the electrical business in this city for several years, has sold his outfit to Calvin Slusser.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Evanson left Thursday morning for Valparaiso to attend the funeral of Arthur Zimmerman, editor of the Valparaiso Messenger.

Clifton Cordill, a young man of South Whitley, was badly injured Wednesday noon by being run over by a wagon. He is employed in the Cordill hardware store, when a team standing in front hitched to a wagon took fright at a passing auto. The young man made a leap for the wagon bed to check the horses by use of the lines. The wagon had dumping boards on it, and those on the side collapsed, throwing Cordill to the ground. The wagon passed over him, fracturing both bones of the left leg near the ankle, cutting a deep gash in the right leg below the knee, besides receiving severe bruises.

Emil Anthes, who has been afflicted with paralysis for eleven months, his legs, arms and speech being affected, was taken Wednesday to the Blue Cast sanitarium at Woodburn.

Lela Sell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sell, of this city, and Arthur S. Stouffs, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stouffs, of Richmond, Va., were married at Ann Arbor, Mich., Tuesday noon. The bride graduated from the local high school this year.

Prof. Lloyd Gates, superintendent of the Churubusco schools, and Miss Jessie M. Slagle were married Wednesday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Trustee Charles W. Slagle and wife. Rev. W. N. Sherrill officiated. The couple will reside at Churubusco.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Garber spent Wednesday at Fort Wayne, the former transacting business and the latter visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walter West.

Louis Evanson went to Warsaw Wednesday to transact some business.

Michael Yohe, a well known Union township pioneer, is in a very feeble state from ailments due to general senility.

H. M. Miller, George Walters and Roy Garber made a trip to Indianapolis Thursday to transact business.

Mrs. J. M. Wesson and Mrs. J. J. Hunt, of Rensselaer, have returned home from a visit with Arthur S. Nowels and family.

The tribe of Ben-Hur will hold their memorial exercises Sunday afternoon in their hall. The Odd Fellow memorial also occurs on the same day, with services at the U. B. church.

Miss Mary Caswell, of Huntington, has returned home after visiting in the city with Mrs. G. A. Pontius and family.

Among those who attended the progressive convention at Kendallville Wednesday were John T. Clapham, candidate for sheriff; Laverne Pence, candidate for auditor; County Chairman Lloyd T. Bailey, Harry Miller, Nicholas Eisman, Arthur Slagle, Jesse Smith, Arthur L. Watters, Samuel Geiger, John Deems, Edward Thompson, James Diffendarfer, Daniel Holben, Charles Banks and Omar Metz. Saturday is the day set for the joint convention of Huntington, Kosciusko and Whitley counties in this city at the court house at 2 o'clock. Attorney W. H. Kissinger is being boosted for the nomination of joint representative. One hundred and twenty-five Moosers are expected to be present.

Mrs. Homer Fruit is very ill at her home and the services of a trained nurse may become imperative.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Meredith are the parents of a ten-pound baby boy that arrived Wednesday morning.

Miss Mae Meyer has arrived from Toledo, where she spent several days visiting with relatives.

Edward Levy, of Warsaw, spent Wednesday in the city visiting with his Jewish friends and transacting business.

Miss Marie Ulerich went to Fort Wayne Thursday to attend the commencement exercises of the Sacred Heart academy in which her sister, Miss Bernice Ulerich, will take a part.

Dr. O. V. Schuman has arrived home from Rockville, where he attended a meeting of the state board of directors of the tuberculosis home.

Charles Sell and P. V. Padgett spent Wednesday at Rome City transacting business and enjoying the lake waters.

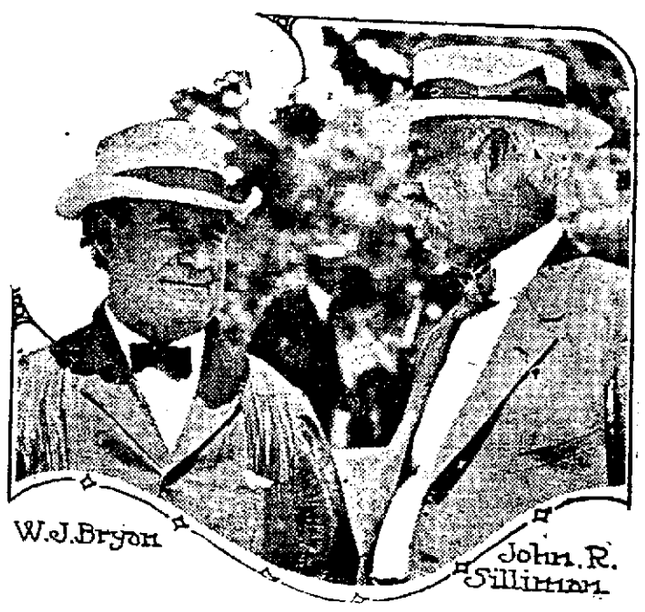
SILLIMAN, FREE AT LAST FROM HUERTA'S PRISON, TELLS BRYAN ABOUT IT.



SECRETARY BRYAN, AND JOHN R. SILLIMAN LEAVING EXECUTIVE OFFICE AFTER TALK WIT H PRESIDENT WILSON.

More intense resentment would be aroused throughout the nation against Huerta, it is said, if the narrative which Vice Consul J. R. Silliman, has just told President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were made public.

Silliman arrived in Washington, after finally being freed from the prison in Saltillo, where the Huerta forces had thrown him.

He went at once with his story to his old college classmate, President Wilson.

Famous Old Mexican Port Has Been Made a "Dry" City.

WHAT BOALT FINDS

(By Fred L. Boalt.)

Tampico, Mexico, June 12.—I came to Tampico to get acquainted with the rebels.

A good deal depends upon what sort of folks they are.

If they are the wrong kind of folks, they will, of course, only make confusion worse confounded in Mexico.

If they are the right kind, they may solve America's problem in Mexico when they reach the capital.

I take it that it is fair to assume that behavior of the rebels in Tampico may be used as an indication of how they may be expected to behave when they shall have captured Mexico City and wrested from the Huertastas the reins of government.

The tank steamer dropped us off on the wharf in the river and into an atmosphere of almost Sabbath calm.

In all your life you never saw a quieter, more orderly city than Tampico today.

There had been no looting when the rebels took the city. I was able to verify the earlier report that just two soldiers had attempted to loot, had been caught red-handed and had been shot on the spot.

All the shops and stores are open and doing business.

But all "cantinas" are closed—tight!

There is, therefore, absolutely no drunkenness. You can get a drink nowhere except at the Hotel Imperial, which is patronized only by foreigners.

The constitutionalists added their seal to the seals of the American and British consuls on the doors of all empty buildings.

The constitutionalist governor, General Caballero, a man at once cautious, just and firm, has given guarantees to all foreigners.

Tampico is an oil town. American, English, Dutch, German and other oil interests have wells and refineries in the district.

Mark this: That since the day the federals were driven out, not one well has stopped pumping!

Not one American has been killed!

Not a stick nor stone of property has been destroyed!

Tampico, under rebel rule, pursues the even way of peace.

Only the banks are closed, of their own accord, because they fear they would otherwise become overloaded with constitutionalist money.

But the oil companies are dickering with Carranza for rebel money with which to meet their pay rolls. I know of one company that offered $1,000,000 gold for $4,000,000 constitutional money but Carranza held out for an exchange of three to one.

The merchants prefer constitutionalist to federal money.

The forced loan story was a lie.

No Americans or other foreigners were levied on in that way.

Only wealthy Mexicans and Spaniards who were known Huertastas were compelled to lend money to the constitutionalist government.

I reached Tampico in time to see the last of the rebel army leaving for the south in pursuit of Zaragosa's federals.

Not only were they better armed and equipped than the federal tatterdemalions I had seen on the outposts around Vera Cruz, but they were bigger and stronger physically, and more alert and intelligent.

Remembering what the two Americans on the tank steamer had told me about Mexican soldiers not knowing or caring what the war was about, I asked a score of these rebels why they fought.

And they all made the one answer:

"We fight," they said, "to get back the land that was stolen from us."

SOCIETY

Mrs. Arnold Tresselt and Miss Vera Tresselt entertained over twenty young women this afternoon at Mrs. Tresselt's home in Florida drive in honor of Miss Edith Nickell. Many roses made the rooms and porch fragrant with their perfume. Yellow ones in the diningroom and pink ones in the livingroom and on the porch made a pretty color effect, and yellow was a color of part of the luncheon menu. Mrs. Arthur Rose, Miss Nellie Wilt and Miss Helen McGee assisted in serving the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Wenger, of Connersville, who were married there on Thursday, arrived here the same evening and were guests of honor at a family wedding dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Reul, who are cousins of the visitors and who will entertain them a part of their time in this city. There were covers for twelve at the dinner. The table was beautifully decorated with a basket of pink roses tied with tulle bows. A number of small parties have been planned in honor of the visitors, who will also visit Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schultz.

Covers were laid for seventy-five at the banquet at the Fort Wayne Normal school held Thursday evening and given by teachers of the school and members of the junior class, complimentary to the seniors. Very lovely decorations in brown and gold were effective, both in the long hall where the banquet was served, and on the tables. Favors of brown baskets filled with calliopsis blossoms, were handmade in the manual training work of the school, were a pretty feature of the table arrangements. The guests included aside from Miss Wilbur, principal of the school, the members of the board of school trustees and their wives, the members of the Normal Alumnae association, Prof. and Mrs. J. N. Study. Miss Wilbur was toastmaster and responses were made by W. H. Shambaugh, Misses Bertha Tower, Mildred Rohyans, Laurinda DeVilbiss and Erma Dochterman, who represented classes of different years. Miss Marie McMullen sang and there was other music during the evening.

The alumnae association of St. Augustine's academy gave a banquet at the Anthony hotel on Thursday evening. Covers were laid for forty. Marguerites formed a beautiful decoration for the table. Miss Jane Mooney, who is president of the association, presided as toastmistress. Revs. J. R. Quinlan, Kelley and McCarthy, Mrs. W. W. Wagner and Miss Grace Barva responded to toasts. Music was furnished by a victrola.

On Sunday Mrs. Lange and Miss Lange will go to Defiance, Ohio, to attend the wedding of Mrs. Lange's nephew, Alphone J. Baltes, and Miss Gertrude Wisda, which will be solemnized at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

Misses Esther Jensen and Elsie Hall are going to Chicago on Saturday and were honored guests at a pretty party on Wednesday evening given by Miss Agnes Jensen. Mrs. E. B. Taylor, of Coesse, was an out of town guest. From the city were Misses Katherine Strothers, Lois Branstrator, Lucinda Henline, Effie Branstrator, Anna Janorschke, Dolly Buffink, Ethel Gaff, Helen Gallagher, Princess Haffine.

A dinner party of pretty arrangement was given at the Anthony hotel on Wednesday evening in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Hulda Keller. Pink roses and syringa blossoms formed the beautiful table decoration. Pink ribbons extended from the center of the table to the place cards. Ends of the ribbon in the center were attached to individual bouquets. Miss Keller received a gift of roses. Others who participated were Misses Helen and Bertha Schroeder, Grace Rohrer, Lena Terry, Rose Keller, Mabel Cooper, Laura Kasbaum, Pearl Stewart and Mary Muldary.

Miss Eva Kress, who is to be a June bride, was entertained on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Blaising with a few friends who gave her a shower of aluminum articles. An elegant luncheon was served during the evening which was spent in visiting. Those who took part in this good time were Mesdames Stals, Hueber, Jack Frederick, Hilker, Boxberger, Carrington, Miers, Baker, Henry, Kratzman, Christie, Molitor, Schimmele, Blaising, Kelker, Kraft, Kress, S. Frederick, Vaughn, Ed Miers and Misses Edith, Della and Bernadette Hilker, Amelia Kraft, Katherine Stals, Alma and Frances Schenker, Esther Miers, Marie Hueber, Stella Unch, Elnora Kress.

A demonstration recital of the pupils of the Dunning system department of the European School of Music, in charge of Miss Ruth Spalding, was given on Thursday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and was well attended by parents and friends of the children. Games and songs in hand training, notation and ear training were illustrative of the work and of great interest to the audience. In the spelling match in the notation work Josephine Dodez's side won the games. In the ear training game Helen Ackerman won. There was melody writing at the blackboard, with transposition into another key by Julia Calhoun, and while this was being done Mary Louise Rhamy played a melody on the piano and transposed into any key suggested from the audience. This was considered one of the cleverest examples of the work and astonished the visitors, who were delighted at the progress made. Helen Bittler recited a Scarlatti verse, after the composers' game and there were rhythmical drawings of flowers and birds following the rhythm studies on the blackboard. Each child also played a little solo at the piano. Class pins were presented to each one as a badge of honor for finishing the first year's work. Other children who took part were Angela and Catherine Gilmartin, Mary Jane Crane, Frederick and Stuart Peters, Adelaide Kraus, Elizabeth Bowerfind, Mary and Linda Leslie, Helen Dodez, Doris Grove.

Mrs. Margaret Luley celebrated the seventy-eighth anniversary of her birth on Thursday evening, at her home, 519 East Jefferson street, with a family gathering and a number of intimate friends, who extended good wishes, visited and otherwise spent a pleasant time. There were present Mrs. Roman Ehinger, Mrs. Mathias Schuler, Mrs. Andrew Johann, Mrs. John Mommer, Mrs. John Winbaugh, Mrs. Dr. Stultz, Miss Anna Heidenrich, Miss Caroline Mommer, Mrs. John Kocks, Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, Mrs. August Eckart, Mrs. Mary Mettler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luley, Frank Luley and family, A. B. Luley and family, Edward Luley and family, Joseph and Jacob Luley. Gifts from her children and other relatives were received by Mrs. Luley and the birthday gathering was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended it.

O'Brien—Orvis.

Many years of prominence of the bride's family and her relationship to that remarkable woman, Mrs. Lucien P. Ferry, who is the bride's grandmother, make the wedding of Miss Minnesota P. Orvis and Mr. John D. O'Brien one of marked interest to Fort Wayne, Decatur and Marion, Ind., people. Miss Orvis and Mr. O'Brien were married at half-past 7 o'clock on Thursday evening in Trinity Episcopal church by Rev. E. W. Averill in the presence of relatives and near friends. Mrs. B. W. Rhamy, a relative of the bride, presided at the organ and played the bridal music from "Lohengrin" as the wedding party entered. The bride walked in with Dr. B. W. Rhamy, who gave her away. The attendants were Miss Clara McMillen, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. James H. O'Brien, of Detroit, who was best man. The bride wore her mother's first wedding gown, an ashes of roses silk made with a train and with low cut neck much like the prevailing style. The gown was covered with white embroidered net and trimmed handsomely with pearl bands. A spray of orange blossoms held her veil to her hair and the bridal bouquet was of bride roses and white sweetpeas made in shower effect. The bride also wore a pearl necklace, the gift of her grandmother, and a handsome pearl comb that her mother wore when she was married. The bridesmaid, Miss McMillen, is a daughter of Prof. and Mrs. W. L. McMillen of this city. She was dressed in white and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. A feature of the music was the singing during the service by Miss Grace Miller, of Decatur, an old song that has been a part of marriage services in the Ferry family for generations, entitled "The Bridal Vow." After the wedding service the bride and groom and immediate relatives were entertained at the home of Mrs. R. D. Boyles, of West Main street, where the aged grandmother, Mrs. Lucien P. Ferry, is now making her home. There were about thirty-five guests. An elegant collation was served. Today the bride and groom went to their home in Marion, where they will be at home at 903 East Seventh street. The groom is a manufacturer.

Andrews—Brinkroeger.

Miss Edna Brinkroeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. W. Brinkroeger, of Spy Run avenue, and Mr. Russell C. Andrews were married on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride by Rev. Paul Miller, assistant pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. The bridesmaid was Miss Esther Brinkroeger, sister of the bride, and Mr. Gaylord Andrews, a brother to the groom, was his attendant. Miss Grace Beitzell, an intimate friend of the bride, played the wedding music, which consisted of the Mendelssohn wedding march as the bride entered the room and "Hearts and Flowers" during the marriage service. The bridal party stood in front of a banking of palms and ferns with pink, red and white peonies arranged in big clusters among the green. The bride made a beautiful appearance in her wedding costume. Her gown was made of white silk crepe with shadow laces for trimming and in her hair the bride wore a wreath of white rosebuds and her bouquet was also of white roses. The bridesmaid wore a yellow chiffon and lace dress and held a basket of yellow and white daisies. There were about fifty relatives present at the wedding. After congratulations had been extended the company was served a supper of elaborate preparation. The tables were trimmed with ropings of smilax and bouquets of roses and daisies. Mr. Andrews is a clerk in the Aurentz grocery and with his bride has gone to housekeeping at 402 Nussbaum avenue. Both bride and groom have many warm friends who entertain for them both respect and admiration. Mr. and Mrs. Stutts and family, of Van Wert, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Andrews and family, of Dayton, O., and Mr. Leon Andrews and family, of Toledo, were out of town guests.

Lopshire—Thomas.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the new home of the bride and groom in Nuttman avenue when Rev. A. J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth church, united in marriage Miss Winifred Lillian Thomas and Mr. Clarence John Lopshire. Only immediate members of the two families were present. The bride and groom went to Chicago for a week's outing and on their return will be at home to their many friends. Mr. Lopshire is a foundry superintendent at the Fort Wayne Electric works.

WATERS FAMILY REUNION.

The Waters families held their ninth annual reunion at the farm of Wesley Waters, near Robison park on Saturday, June 6. This farm is known as the Waters homestead where most the older people that were present had spent their childhood days. The forenoon was spent in social chat and telling of the rambles and toils on the farm.

At noon a bounteous basket dinner was spread of which 110 guests partook. After dinner a short program was rendered by the children followed by talks given by N. W. Beavers, Fred Barrett, Mrs. Sadie Gregg, S. F. Bowser, L. T. Brokaw, Mrs. Martha Barrett and Dr. Mary R. Hutchinson, of Los Angeles, Cal. The business meeting followed. Two deaths and seven births have occurred since the last meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Bowser, of Fort Wayne, on the first Saturday of June, 1915.

Ice cream was served late in the afternoon after which each departed expressing their wish to be present at the next meeting.

UP-TO-THE-MINUTE GIRL THIS SUMMER IS THE GIRL WITH THE CAPE.

Capes are the most popular of all wraps; and it does not make any particular difference if you are short or tall, thin or fat, the clerk or the dressmaker will try to sell you a wrap.

The ones shown are of the two most popular varieties for morning and afternoon wear. The plan one is of blue satin-faced broadcloth, with a black satin collar. The fluffy-ruffle one is made of soft black moire silk, with ruffles of black taffeta.

Wonderfully Attractive Hats

White Duck Tennis Hats, light in weight, best made..50c

For Bride and Graduate

White Felt Hats, soft crushed style, light as a feather 75c

We went to particular trouble to obtain for June brides and graduates the most delightfully pretty hats for weddings and commencement exercises that could be obtained. They are now on exhibition and sale at prices that are as little as the hats are bewitching.

Among these are very Summery hats of lace, hair braids, hemps and chip straws, Panamas, peanut braids and every conceivable straw that yields to the bleaching process. They are all engagingly trimmed and ready to wear.

These Hats Are Sold for $5.00

Heretofore we have sold Hats at $5.00 that we thought quite exceptional. In comparison with these, however, they pale considerably, for we have never beheld anything quite like the present lot of all white or white trimmed in dainty colors at $5.00. You will like them immensely.

PRETTILY TRIMMED HATS AT $2.95

Particular attention is directed to these very smart new Hats at $2.95. They represent very exceptional values. All are elaborately and stylishly trimmed with flowers, wings, ribbon and malines.

UNTRIMMED HATS, 95c—The material is hemp, chip braid; the assortment includes all of the new styles now in demand. Best of values, at 95c

RIBBONS—June is the month for ribbons for bride, graduate or anyone else in a great variety of prices. Finest satins in every fashionable color bayaderes, Romans, moires, failles, fancy light and dark ribbon up to 9 inches wide for girdles.

Hats for outing wear—white duck, white felt Tennis Hats, light in weight, some with green underbrims, white lined, best grade and workmanship, at 50c and 75c. White Felt, soft, at 75c. White Corduroy, 75c to $1.50. New Honeycomb material and crepe, at $1.00.

Illinois Students Follow Advice of Scientist in Drink Buttermilk.

Champaign, Ill., June 11.—"Got 2 cents?"

"Yep."

"Let's get some buttermilk."

This conversation is carried on to the tune of forty gallons a day among University of Illinois students. The milk is sold by the dairy department. Counting 210 days in the college year, and averaging forty gallons a day, the Illinois students consume 8,400 gallons of Buttermilk between September and June. In the last few years buttermilk has become a popular drink. This is due in a large measure to the experiments of Metchnikof, of Paris, a scientist, who says one can keep young at one hundred by living right and drinking lots of buttermilk. Illinois students are following his advice.

Gen. Funston's Great Story, "Memories of Two Wars".

Hand-to-Hand Battle American Muscle Wins

(In the foregoing chapter Gener Funston told of the night battle when the Filipinos opened fire from the trenches surrounding Manila on the Americans opposite them in the city. The next day and for several days following there was more or less firing between the trenches and one or two lively skirmishes. The following is Funston's story of one of the fights.)

CHAPTER XIII.

By GEN. FREDERICK FUNSTON, Brigadier General, United States Army.

Major Metcalf was to assist me in leading the attack. At the word of command three companies of the Twentieth Kansas rose to their feet and fixed bayonets. Leaping over the trench, the start was quickly made. Our right was directly opposite the enemy's left, but it developed that our left considerably overlapped his right.

For the first hundred yards the woods screened our movements, but when we broke into the open at a distance of 300 yards from the dike we could see that it was fairly alive with the straw hats of the Filipinos, and they opened on us as rapidly as they could fire. Our men, perfectly steady, did not reply until ordered to a few seconds later, and when they did they fairly combed the top of that dike with bullets.

We were advancing at a walk and it was point-blank range, and our fire so disconcerted the enemy that though they plied their rifles with great vigor, they were not exposing themselves enough to get any sort of good aim. They were armed entirely with Mausers, so that they had no smoke to interfere with them, while our Springfields produced the usual prairie-fire effect. What little wind there was, however, served to drive the smoke behind instead of ahead of us, so that we were not so much troubled by it as ordinarily.

The men were under perfect control, and while somewhat excited, were attending to their knitting. There had been scarcely a word spoken except for the occasional commands given by officers and non-commissioned officers, but when we were within eighty yards I had "charge" blown.

Only the men near the trumpeter could hear it, but as they raised a yell and went forward on a run the others followed suit. It does not take long to cover eighty yards if you are in a hurry, and in no time we were among them. Of course, as soon as our men began to run, they ceased firing, though it was recommenced to a certain extent when we closed.

As we reached the position and went over the dike all of the Filipinos who had not been killed or disabled rose to their feet and tried to get away. If we had molested them no further, and had let them go, it is probable that the fight would have ended at once, but our men were among them and a good many fought to save their lives. It did not seem to occur to them that they would be spared if they threw down their arms, but they had been used to fighting Spaniards, who had given them the same kind of quarter that they had given the insurgents of Cuba. A confused melee followed. It was the only time in my life that I saw the bayonet actually used.

THE FILIPINO FLAG WAS THE CENTER OF THE FIGHT.

Within twenty feet of me, a plucky little Filipino, one of the few of them who had his bayonet fixed, made a vicious jab at one of our sergeants, and a second later was run through the body. And he was not the only one to get the cold steel. During the mix-up I saw a Filipino raise his rifle and at a distance of only a few yards take a shot at one of our men. Just as the bullet struck the soldier in the thigh he saw the man who had shot him lowering his rifle. At first he seemed dazed, dropping his own weapon, but without stopping to pick it up, sailed into that Filipino barehanded, twisted his rifle out of his hands and beat his brains out with it. The enemy had a very fine silken flag with the emblem of the Katipunan embroidered on it. A number of them tried to get away with it, and it became the center of a short and sharp struggle in which firearms could not be used. In fact, in resembled as much as anything some of the confused scrambles that are seen on the football field. When we finally got the flag it had been riddled by bullets and was drenched in blood. It is now in the state house at Topeka.

The whole affair had lasted less time than it takes to tell it. The companies were assembled as soon as possible, preparatory to returning to our own lines, as a counter-attack which might be made on us by the Filipinos in the Caloocan trenches, distant only a few hundred yards, might have brought on the general engagement that I had orders to avoid.

The Filipinos suffered severely in this combat, but we did not take the time necessary to make a complete count of their dead and disabled, though along the left of their trench, where the hardest fighting had taken place, I counted thirty dead.

Among the dead we were surprised to find a very large and coal-black negro. As this was many months before any of our colored troops had been brought to the islands, the man could not have been a deserter from them, but was probably some vagabond seaman who had run away from a merchant-vessel in Manila bay. Madame Edvina

Vancouver, B. C., June 12.—Out of Vancouver rather than Paris or Vienna comes the world's newest and brightest grand opera star—Mme. Louise Edvina. She has created a furore this season in Paris.

When Mme. Edvina left Vancouver several years ago she was known as Mlle. Marie Louise Lucienne Juliet Martin. She was very proud of her names, but her first concert manager had no respect for them and he renamed her Louise Edvina. In private life she is Hon. Mrs. Cecil Edwards and the sister-in-law of Lord Kensington.

MERELY MAY AND HER UNCLE JOHN

Couple of Cold Ones for Supper Leads to Souse and to Jail.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

May Boitte did not attempt to deny that she had been drinking, but she hinted that she was not as drunk as had been represented and she told a palliating story of the events that led up to her run-in with Officer Lew Crawley. First there were a couple of "cold-ones" for supper. After supper May started out to old Aunt Mary's. Was Uncle John Reed at home? To be sure Uncle John was just that and nothing else. Good Uncle John slipped from the house and when he shortly returned he was embracing an armful of "cold ones." Whereat May refreshed herself anew and felt much better. Then under the affectionate guidance and cherishing protection of Uncle John out into the night fared May to seek diversion where she may be found. The next recorded incident of the evening's history was when May reeled from an alley onto Broadway. Patrolman Crawley was there as large as life and as solid as a cheese, just as though his sole appointed office had been to be there to receive May, which certainly Officer Crawley did. Meanwhile, reappeared Uncle John with his brawny arms again enclosing "cold ones"—three of them. So Officer Crawley included Uncle John in the little party that motored in smart style to police headquarters. In the city court Friday morning May had to admit that this was her third offense and that she had been let off twice previously on promises of sobriety and circumspection. One dollar and costs were laid upon her for public intoxication. Uncle John Reed had nothing to say and drew a similar penalty. Mrs. Boitte admitted she had three children, the youngest but fifteen. Later her husband refused over the telephone to pay her fine and said that for anything he meant to do she might just as well be carted off to jail at once.

Youthful Pervert Sent Over.

Otto Onspacher, aged 17 years, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the circuit court on a charge of assault and battery with intent to commit criminal assault. His bond was fixed at $500, and he was sent to jail. Young Onspacher's crime was attempted against Virginia Meyers, 2-year-old daughter of Ed Meyers. The child was not injured by the heinous abuse to which she was subjected. Onspacher, who resides at the corner of Buchanan street and Weisser Park avenue with his parents, was alone in his home Wednesday afternoon and the pretty little child wandered in. Then it was that she was mistreated. At home the little girl was able to relate enough of her experience to make clear to her mother what had happened. Detective Sergeant Charles Spillner was put on the case and he arrested the lad, who readily confessed his crime and told enough about himself to indicate that he is a pervert. He drives a delivery wagon for a southside grocer and it is learned he attempted a criminal assault on a 7-year-old girl who was riding with him not long since.

Out Again and In Again.

Jim Carmody and Jim Welch had but recently got out of jail after doing quite a "bit" for petit larceny. They went back Friday morning to welter in Allen county's well-known bastile for as much time as $25 and costs and sixty days added will come to. They stole a bicycle belonging to Harry Kiefer from the corner of Baker and Calhoun street and were trying to dispose of the wheel at a second-hand store corner Montgomery and Lafayette streets when Detective Sergeants M. A. Rundell and Joseph Brennan pinched them.

Other City Court Cases.

Tom Jones said the barkeep in quenchery just across the street from his domicile has a disagreeable fashion of picking up Tom's quarters and saying, "You get no change, see," just like that, when Tom has but a single flagon of suds and has 20 cents coming to him just as fair and square as you like. The barkeep repeated Thursday night and Tom got peeved. Thereupon the barkeep threw him out into the street and Officer Collins threw him into the police headquarters container and Judge Kerr threw him into jail for eleven days unless he can raise $11.

Donald Doyle, on a loitering charge, was put under $200 bond and went to jail. When arrested by Detectives Rundell and Brennan Doyle was trying to sell two new blankets worth about $3 each. He said he bought them from a stranger on the city dump, paying 50 cents for them. He will be investigated.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

CARNIVAL SHOWS FOR ALL TASTES

Summer Festival Brings an Aggregation to Please the Multitude.

THE QUEEN CONTEST

The people of the United States have learned to love the modern carnival show. Even when the show fails to deliver any great part of what it promises, the people are disposed to be tolerant because the carnival offers the most enjoyable and relaxing of amusements. The theater confines one indoors for three hours lashed uncomfortably to a seat. The circus is a two-hour affair that dazzles with its rapidity and stupefies with its crowd. You leave the hard seats with a gratified sigh while your mind remains a confusion of what has been seen.

The carnival ground is a meeting place for democracy. Everybody goes, everybody falls into the light spirit of the occasion and everybody enjoys himself. There is freedom, movement, life, intermingling, good humor and the stirring and mixing of every pleasant emotion. The carnival affords all the variety, novelty and action of the circus, but so distributed and so made convenient to your time and pleasure that you enjoy them rationally and with capacity and leisure for their digestion. There is all the diversity of change and all the kaleidoscopic commingling of color that can be found in your pick and choice as the "greatest show on earth," but the carnival does not give you merely a fleeting tantalizing glimpse. You see it to the full of your capacity to enjoy. If one visit does not suffice, you make two, or three or one a day for the carnival's season. You apply yourself to enjoyment of what appeals most strongly to your taste and interest or most pleasantly excites your emotions.

In presenting the Con T. Kennedy shows for the Summer Festival week and public playgrounds benefit, the local committee offers the best carnival attraction it knows of. It is ranked the premier carnival aggregation of the United States. It consists of twenty great shows, all of them of the first order, and the carnival as a whole is clean and good. From it every objectionable feature has been stripped these many years and so high is the repute of the Kennedy shows that they are solicited to exhibit year after year at the Indiana State fair, in Kansas City, Minneapolis and other places where only the best can get it. The Kennedy shows come with a country-wide reputation for merit and with a guarantee that is attested by scores of cities and organizations.

The Queen's Contest.

The contest for queen of the Summer Festival has been marked by a new leader, Miss Hazel White passing Miss Clara J. Dingman, who has held the first position all week. The standing at the close of the canvass of votes Thursday was as follows:

HAS TOO MANY HUSBANDS.

Mrs. Mabel Martin, of Alexandria, is Given Fine and Jail Term.

Anderson, Ind., June 12.—Six months in jail and a fine of $100 were imposed by Judge Buget on Mrs. Mabel Martin, of Alexandria, when she admitted she had two living husbands and had not been divorced from either. She said she was married in 1911 to Joseph Harvey, who was killed a few months later in a mine explosion. She married Alger Box, of Indianapolis, in 1913, after a courtship covering one day. She soon left him and last September was married to George Martin without going through the formality of getting a divorce from Box.

AREONAUT FALLS TO DEATH.

Parachute Fails to Open for J. O. Gill at Richmond.

Richmond, Ind., June 12.—J. O. Gill, an aeronaut of Mount Sterling, Ohio, was killed here last night when the third parachute of the string attached to his balloon failed to open and he fell nearly 500 feet, his body being literally crushed to a jelly. Gill's performance was to have marked the closing number of the program at the formal opening of Morton park and lake.

Several thousand persons were still on the grounds to witness his act, when Gill ascended at 7 o'clock. Instead of one parachute, Gill's balloon carried three, arranged one beneath the other and on the ring at the base of the lower parachute Gill had attached himself. The ascension was successful and at a height of 2,000 feet Gill cut loose from the balloon. The aeronaut then cut loose from the top parachute and a few seconds later from the second.

Instead of opening to the breeze, the big spread of canvas collapsed and the crowd of spectators realized that Gill was falling to his death. When spectators had traversed a field that intervened they found his lifeless body with the ropes of the parachute twisted about it. The man was 27 years old and had been making ascensions and parachute leaps for ten years. The failure of the parachute to work properly was not explained.

Articles of incorporation have been filed for the First State Bank of Pleasant Lake. The capital stock is listed at $25,000 and the incorporators are E. S. Croxton, Frank H. Chadwick, Frank G. Gilbert, Cyrus Cline and John I. Rarsell. E. S. Croxton is president, Frank H. Chadwick vice president and Frank G. Gilbert secretary.

Only One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Toilet Tips.)

It is not longer necessary to feel embarrassed because of ugly hairy growths, for with a delatone paste you can make every hair disappear in a very few moments. Just make a paste with a little powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure it is real delatone you get.—Adv.

TOADS AND SNAKES FARM AID.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 1.—Official opinion has been received by Prof. H. A. Surface, state geologist, that the toad is more to be desired than the snake. But at that, the professor says, the snake is a good kind of creature, and should be esteemed by mankind.

He commends snakes—copperheads excepted—to the people as worthy of protection, because they are bug killers.

When the snakes eat toads, which are also bug killers, the professor admits the situation is complicated. But he gives the toads the decision. "If you have toads in your garden and can keep them there," he officially advises a correspondent, "it is well to do so. They are really more beneficial as insect destroyers than are the serpents.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE TAUGHT BY AID OF FIVE-ROOM BUNGALOW.

A GROUP OF MISS WILLIAMS' PUPILS LEARNING TO WEAVE AND SEW.

Berkeley, Cal., June 9.—Beatrice Williams, principal of the Hawthorn school, teaches domestic science in a practical way. In a model five-room bungalow, built chiefly by boys from the manual training department and fitted with every modern convenience, Miss Hawthorn daily instructs hundreds of girls from the factory district of West Berkeley how to become perfect housewives.

"Rug weaving, gymnastics, singing, dramatics and dancing are a few of the things I teach," said Miss Williams, "but my most important work is teaching the cooking of three meals a day and practice in making beds, sweeping and general housework, the object being to make the future homes of the pupils as attractive as possible with limited means."

PERKINS THERE WITH SOB STUFF

Doesn't Allow Himself to Be Left Behind on the Literature.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Washington, June 12.—One reason why progressive party men object to George W. Perkins as the official spokesman of their party is found in the kind of literature he insists on putting out about himself. For instance, in the letter just made public by Amos Pinchot, demanding Mr. Perkins' removal as the party chairman, it is pointed out that Perkins sent out as official party literature a pamphlet containing the following sob stuff:

"It was the night before Albert J. Beveridge delivered his key-note speech of the new political crusade. He asked Colonel Roosevelt, George W. Perkins and a few other leaders to come to his room and hear him read the manuscript. The reading proceeded in tense silence. Beveridge was evidently laboring under emotion, and Colonel Roosevelt himself was visibly moved. But on George Perkins' cheeks the tears were coursing—and when Beveridge came to those passages in which he outlined the course of justice for the men who make the nation, Perkins, with a sob he could not stifle, hastily left the room and paced the corridors to regain his self-control."

As a press agent for himself and his trusts, Mr. Perkins is regarded by Mr. Pinchot as a great success, but he objects to a man heading the party who, though so deeply moved at the reading of Beveridge's treatise on social justice, yet permits conditions in the steel trust such as obtain in the Pittsburg mills.

Woman suffragists are delighted at the plan to have a vote on prohibition in the house. Woman suffrage and prohibition are alike in being outside of the official program prepared for the party by the house caucus. They are on an identical footing. If the rules committee can bring out a special rule for one it can for the other. The women have resumed their requests that the suffrage amendment be brought to a vote in the house.

* * *

An enlightening incident has occurred in the matter of the impeachment of Daniel Thew Wright, associate judge of the District of Columbia supreme court. The sub-committee has been digging up interesting facts about Wright so interesting that one Pollock, representing Wright, sought and secured an interview at the New Willard hotel between Wade H. Ellis, well known Ohio politician and formerly connected with the department of justice during Taft's administration, representing Judge Wright on the one hand, and one Cooper who has been active in pushing the impeachment inquiry, on the other. Ellis desired in behalf of Wright to arrange with Cooper that certain evidence in the form of letters should not be brought before the investigating committee. The incident speaks for itself. Chairman McCoy issued a warning threatening contempt proceedings, which might be interpreted as placing Judge Wright in danger of being haled before the bar of the house on a charge of attempting to suppress evidence.

To visiting newspaper correspondents President Wilson announced that he sincerely hoped the conservation bills would be added to the house program. In this Congressman Kent, of California, coincides. Kent has been making the fight of his life all winter and spring before a hostile committee to get these bills out, and now that there is a chance for their passage he would like them pressed to a vote. Secretary Lane has assisted in formulating the bills, which are practically those first formulated by Gifford Pinchot in 1908-10, and all conservationists will applaud the president in his desre for this addition to the party program.

During the consideration of the tariff bill, of the loudest complaints heard against the danger of foreign competition, and i chinability of American industries to compete with the "pauper labor of Europe," none was more shrill or insistent than the pottery makers in Ohio. It is interesting, therefore, to note the reports of that trade recently contributed to the senate by Senator Pomerene, taken from newspapers (mostly republican) in the pottery towns. For instance, the following from the Sebring Times, of Sebring, Ohio, in its issue of March 24: "The past two weeks hold the record for the biggest output of pottery in the history of Sebring. The most gratifying feature is that the ware is not going into stock, but is being used to fill orders, and is being shipped as soon as made."

The senator also quoted a Pittsburg trade journal, which on April 14, said: "Never before in the history of the American potting industry have there been so many kilns in use or so many potteries in active operation. Shipments are greater than ever before in the history of the trade."

GREAT RUSH OF WATER HINDERS

Men at City Power Plant Work Waist Deep in Icy Flood.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

The big force of city employes engaged in making the excavation for the large intake pipes for the condensing system at the city light and power plant are working waist deep in a flood of icy water that is pouring into the pit through the bed of gravel in which they are laboring. The water comes from the copious veins that drain the hills in the vicinity, and it is greatly hindering the work, both causing frequent cavings and preventing the men from working for more than a few minutes at a time. Laborers stay in the water until their lower limbs are numb and almost paralyzed by the cold and then come out to get warm. It will take considerable time to get the work completed. In making the excavation a splendid bed of gravel has been opened and about thirty loads have already been removed.

LAKESIDE PARK CONCERT.

Elks' Band Under Prof. Verweire Will Play This Evening.

The municipal concert season will be inaugurated in Lakeside park this evening, when the Elks' band under Director John L. Verweire will offer a program of exceptional attractiveness. Special features of this concert will be the cornet solo by John L. Verweire and ragtime songs by Ray Shreve. The program, which begins at 8 o'clock and lasts until 10, is as follows:

March—"Nibelungen" ..... R. Wagner
Overture—"Poet and Peasant"... Suppe
Simplicity—"Characteristic" ..... Theo Moses
Grand Fantasia, "Providence," introducing "The Seasons," "When Jesus Our Lord," "Inflamatus," "I Would That My Love," "Priest's March From Athalia," "The Holy City," "The Heavens Are Telling" from the "Breakers"..... Arr. by Tobani
Cornet Solo—"Greater America"..... Rollinson
John L. Verweire.
Selection from "Lucia di Larmmermore" ..... Donizetti
Rag-time Songs ..... Selected
Ray Shreve.
Valse, from the French opera "Adele" ..... Briquet
Selection from "Faust"..... C. Gounod
March—"The Battle Commander"..... Hermandez

GET DOWN TO SEWER BREAK.

Trouble With Interceptor Has Been Uncovered.

Mayor Hosey and Messrs. Singrey, Kelly and Hilgeman, of the board of works, went out Friday afternoon to view the break in the intercepting sewer, on Erie street, between Hanover and Howard streets. The Moellering Construction company, which last Monday went on the job to complete the excavation begun by the city, got down to the sewer arch Friday at a depth of about thirty-five feet. The break was uncovered and the reason why the big drain had not been working was disclosed. The task has been difficult and it will require considerable time to remove the obstructing accumulation of earth from the conduit and to repair the big breach in the masonry.

BOARD OF WORKS MEETING.

At the Thursday night meeting of the board of works assessment rolls were confirmed for paving Swayne avenue from South Wayne avenue to Fox avenue; paving Berry street from Rockhill to College and paving the alley between Wayne and Washington streets from Ewing street to Fairfield avenue. Frank J. and Jessie Federspiel submitted a deed conveying to the city half of the ground necessary to continue a street on the south line of Pugh's addition from Weisser Park avenue to the alley east of Gay street. The board confirmed resolutions for several sewers in the south part of the city, one in the east part and for the construction of a cement curb on the east side of St. Joe boulevard from Lake avenue to Forest avenue.

WATER FOR FOSTER PARK.

Board Lets Contract for Running Main Into Recreation Grounds.

The park board has given James E. Ford, former superintendent of the water-works department, the contract for extending a city water main into Foster park, and the work will be inaugurated at once. It will cost the park department $475 to have this done. The main will run 1,500 feet into the park and will terminate in the center of the principal picnic ground, where there will be installed a bubbling drinking fountain and a tap from which picnickers may obtain water for culinary purposes. This is one of the improvements that the Southwest Civic association has urged the board to make.

Water pipes are now being laid through Pontiac place park to furnish water for irrigating the grass, shrubs, trees and flowers of that twelve hundred foot strip of ground which is to be made highly ornate and beautiful. Trenches for the curving sidewalks are being dug and soon strips of sod will be placed along them. Grass seed will be sown for the balance of the ground.

HAYDEN PARK CONCERT MONDAY.

The municipal concert scheduled for next Tuesday evening in Hayden park has been arranged for next Monday evening owing to the fact that a circus will exhibit in Fort Wayne Tuesday afternoon and evening. That the concert may not be interfered with it has been set a day ahead.

CONSULTS HOUSING LAW.

A man who is building a three-story apartment house designed to accommodate about fifteen families, has been consulting the health department on the question of the provisions of the new housing law. The man was warned some time ago that his building as designed would not conform to the law and that no license for it would be issued by the department. The man has been advised to consult legal counsel for enlightement as to his rights and the authority of the board of health under the housing law.

WILL BE COMPLETED JULY 1.

Contractor Ed Hans as started work on the Weisser park comfort station, for which the park board gave him a contract Wednesday, and will have the work completed by July 1.

SALVATIONISTS IN RALLY.

World's Congress in London Represents 45 Nations.

London, June 12.—Delegates to the world's congress of the Salvation army today filled to capacity a specially erected hall near the Strand with accommodation for 4,000. Representatives of forty-five nations and colonies, speaking twenty-three different languages, were present. The gathering formed the biggest rally ever achieved by the Salvation Army. A conspicuous place was taken by the large contingent from the United States under the command of Miss Eva Booth.

WHEAT BULLS ARE HIT.

Chicago Firm Posted for Failure to Pay Debit Balance.

Chicago, June 12.—Notice was posted on the board of trade today that Sidney Long & Co., had failed to pay their debit balance at the clearing house. The firm has been active on the bull side of the wheat market which has recently suffered a sharp decline.

OUIMET LEADS AMATEURS.

Troon, Scotland, June 12.—Francis Ouimet, of the Woodland Golf club, Massachusetts, open golf champion of the United States, led all the amateurs with an aggregate score of 154 in the two qualifying rounds concluded today for the British open golf championship. Ouimet was tied for twelfth place in the entire list with Tom Ball, champion of Belgium. The nearest amateur to Ouimet is Gordon Lockard, who is tied at the twenty-fifth position with a score of 157. Harold Weber, of Toledo, whose aggregate score was 171, did not qualify to play in the championship.

PITTSBUR GSTRIKE SPREADS.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 12.—The refusal of the Westinghouse Electric company to treat with their strikers was answered today when the Allegheny Congenial Industrial union called out the 1,500 men in the plant of the Union Switch and Signal company at Swissvale. It is said 1,400 workers responded at noon. With five bands, one of them made up of bagpipers, fully five thousand men and women marched to the Turtle creek playgrounds for a meeting before moving on to Swissvale and encouraging the switch plant workers to strike.

MILLIONAIRE THREATENED.

Denver, Col., June 12—Police are guarding the home of Col. D. C. Dodge, a millionaire railroad builder, as a result of a mysterious note found at the door of his home last night demanding $200,000 by midnight tonight. The note threatens death unless the demand is met and bears thes ignature, "Amateur Blackhand."

WORK AT BABY MILK DEPOT.

One Infant Shows Eleven Ounce Gain in Less Than a Week.

One new infant was examined and prescribed for Friday morning at the free milk depot at the First Presbyterian church, and another baby, aged one year, examined last week, was brought back for inspection. The infant showed a gain of eleven ounces in weight in less than a week. Sixty bottles of modified milk were sent out Friday morning. A handsome sign bearing the words, "Baby Milk Depot," has been placed on the Clinton street entrance to the church.

ANTILLA UNLOADS CARGO.

Ammunition for Rebels Safely Delivered at Tampico.

Tampico, June 11.—(Via Laredo, Tex., June 12.)—The steamship Antilla, from New York, today discharged her cargo of ammunition for the constitutionalists. Sixteen hundred cases of ammunition and two aeroplanes were immediately dispatched north on a special train.

Until after her arrival at the wharf here the Antilla knew nothing of the projected blockade of the port or the presence of the federal gunboats Zaragos and Bravo outside the harbor. The Antilla will sail tomorrow for Tantiyuca to recover the body of Weston Burwell, the American reported murdered by federals April 22.

Miss Elsie Rohlman, of East Creighton avenue, entertained a number of young ladies Monday evening and announced June 25 as the date of her coming marriage to Mr. Alva Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Noble, of Columbia City, Ind. The rooms were tastefully decorated with garden flowers and a delicious luncheon served at the close of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward B. Mayer, of College street, will spend the week-end in Wabash, the guests of relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. De Buchananne, of St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Cal Favorite, of Huntington, who have been the guests of friends in the city, returned to their homes this morning.

WOMAN'S CLUBS MAY ACT.

Will Be Asked to Endorse Proposed Lake-Erie-Michigan Canal.

Nation-wide publicity will be given the proposed canal from Lake Erie to Lake Michigan by way of Fort Wayne, if a resolution to be prepared by Mrs. O. N. Guildlin, of this city, is adopted at the meeting of the Federation of Woman's clubs, now in session in Chicago.

Believing that concerted action is necessary to accomplish desired results, Mrs. Guildlin informs United States Junior Engineer P. M. Churchill that she will present resolutions asking that the national congress of club women endorse the building of the canal. She informed Mr. Churchill that she would draft the resolution as soon as she reached Chicago and will be assisted by Mrs. Richard Elbell, wife of the second vice president of the Erie-Michigan Deep Waterway association, who is also a delegate to the biennial convention of woman's clubs.

BRAKEMAN IS KILLED

Ed McCarthy Fell from a Moving Pennsylvania Train at Burton City.

Two Collide in Making a Run and Another Strikes Ankle Against Iron.

Edward McCarthy, a freight brakeman on the Eastern division of the Pennsylvania, was instantly killed at Burton City, Ohio, last night. News of the accident was brought to the city through a telegram to Engineer Tom McCarthy, who is an uncle. Edward McCarthy resided at Lima, Ohio, and once worked on the Western division of the Pennsylvania. He was transferred to the Eastern division some time ago.

HIGH SCHOOL EXCURSION.

Only Fifty in the Party to Rome City Today.

The annual excursion of the Fort Wayne high school graduating class to Rome City occurred this morning. There are fifty people in the party and they were furnished with an extra car on Grand Rapids and Indiana train No. 7. This is the smallest excursion party given by the high school classes since the practice was inaugurated—about thirty years ago. It used to take a special train of six or seven cars to handle the people who went with the graduates to Rome City.

CONCORDIA SEMINARY STUDENTS.

Fifty of Them Brought Here from St. Louis by the Wabash.

Wabash passenger train No. 28, which was one hour and thirty-five minutes late today, brought in a party of fifty graduates and students from the Concordia seminary at St. Louis, who will visit here two or three days. They had a special car from St. Louis to Fort Wayne. They will remain here over Sunday and Monday leave for their homes, some over the G. R. & I., others over the Nickel Plate, the Pennsylvania, the Lake Shore and the Lake Erie and Western.

ATTENDING CLASS REUNION.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop to Princeton to Meet College Chums.

A special Pullman car on the Pennsylvania limited, No. 2, last night carried twenty-five or thirty men from Chicago and cities beyond that point en route to Princeton, N. J., where the 1899 class of Princeton college will hold its annual reunion. Supt. W. M. Wardrop, of the Pennsylvania, was a member of that class and he joined the Chicago delegation at this point and accompanied them to Princeton.

THREE FIREMEN HURT.

The volunteer firemen at the Fort Wayne Electric works were given a surprise call yesterday to test their efficiency and in the rush three of the boys were slightly injured. Robert Golmer and Lee Morrison had a head-on collision as they met at the corner of the building and each was sent sprawling to the ground. Mr. Golmer had a lip painfully cut and was temporarily rendered unconscious by his head striking the pavement, but he soon revived. Mr. Morrison suffered a bruised cheek, but was not disabled. Robert Graff received an injury to one of his ankles by striking it against a piece of metal as he was running through the shop towards the fire apparatus house. There was no fire.

BURNED WITH CARBOLIC ACID.

Arthur Meyer, the young man who so nearly cut off his left hand with a meat clever Wednesday, had a painful experience with carbolic acid on Decoration day. The folks had been cleaning house and replaced some of the articles and among them was a bottle of witch hazel used by Arthur in bathing his face after shaving. On Decoration day he reached for the lotion and instead got hold of a bottle containing carbolic acid, with which he bathed his face. Discovering the mistake, he ran to the pantry and seizing a bottle of milk applied it freely to his face, counteracting in part the effects of the acid. He suffered some painful burns, however, but they were only temporary.

MANY TOLEDO PEOPLE COMING.

Agent A. C. Eggers, of the Wabash, has been advised that hundreds of Toledo people will come to Fort Wayne on June 21, to attend the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Concordia college. They will be given a special train. The Wabash is also expecting an immense crowd from the west on that occasion and will probably have a special train from that direction.

FINGER PIERCED BY SPLINTER.

John Rayl, assistant foreman of laborers at the Fort Wayne Electric works, had the second finger of his right hand pierced by a wooden sliver this morning. The piece entered the digit at the nail and passed up under the skin to the second joint. Dr. Schultz was called to remove the splinter and close the wound. No serious results are apprehended.

WILL VISIT PACIFIC COAST.

Nickel Plate Conductor Charles M. Bushey and his wife are preparing for a trip to the Pacific coast. They will leave June 20 and expect to return about the middle of August. Conductor Bushey has been running the Knox-Chicago local freight for several months, but he formerly ran through freight in and out of Fort Wayne.

WILL MOVE FLAG POLE.

Preparations are under way for the transfer of the flag pole from the old to the new depot of the Pennsylvania. The pole will be located in the lawn plat east of Harrison street. This pole, which is the longest and best in the city, was erected in 1895, and though nearly twenty years old, is in good shape.

EYES FILLED WITH RUST.

Dawson Williams, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, had to seek the services of an oculist this morning for relief from pain caused by getting a lot of rust and dust in his eyes. The accident was caused by a sudden gust of wind.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

D. C. Knickerbacher, passenger and freight agent at Danville, Ill., for the Wabash, was in the city yesterday.

Chief Engineer A. L. Hadley, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, has returned from Madison, Wis., where he spent several days on business for the company.

Conductor Sam Cutchall is again on Wabash trains 9 and 28, between Danville and Detroit, after being out of service for some months.

Wabash Machinist W. J. McCarthy and his wife will be the guests of friends in Chicago over Sunday. They will leave for that city tonight.

Howard Watkins, a machinist's helper, resigned his position at the Wabash shops today. He will work at the carpenter trade with his father hereafter.

Mrs. Frank J. Schwarz and children will visit relatives in Kendalls, Wis., next week, leaving for that city Sunday. Mr. Schwarz is a pipefitter at the Wabash shops.

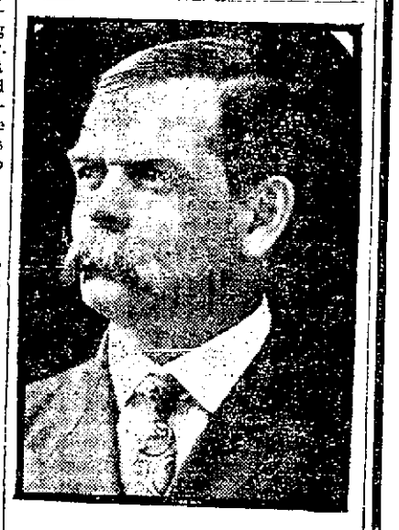
U. G. Gatchell, Pennsylvania conductor, who has been quite sick for some time, is now improving and hopes to entirely recover. He resides at 2320 Euclid avenue.

Alton Hess and Harry F. McClaren, Nickel Plate brakemen, have taken thirty days' leave of absence to spend with their parents, the former in New York state and the latter at Hobart.

Daniel McElgunn, a Wabash brakeman residing at Montpelier, Ohio, fell from a freight train near Hamilton, Ind., Wednesday night and was instantly killed. He was walking over the train when he slipped and fell between the cars. A tramp riding on the bumpers witnessed the accident and notified the engineer, who stopped and the remains were picked up.

TONY MILLER HAS BIRTHDAY

This is the anniversary of two very important events in the life of Anthony T. Miller, a foreman of one of the departments at the Fort Wayne Electric works and a well known German-American citizen. He was born fifty-one years ago today and left his native country—Germany—thirty-one years ago today for America. He was a band instrument maker, but finding no employment in America in that line, he took employment in Brooklyn, N. Y., with James J. Wood, the inventor of the electrical machinery now being built at the Fort Wayne Electric works. He came to Fort Wayne with Mr. Wood in 1890 and has been here ever since.



ANTHONY T. MILLER.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

School Children's Matinee at Majestic Tomorrow.

The "Les Miserables" pictures at the Majestic this week represent the highest achievement of photographic art, and the settings are wonderfully adapted to the purposes of the story. The principal actors and actresses who figure in the photo-drama were selected on account of their especial fitness from the Theater Sarah Bernhardt, the Theater de l'Odeon, the Theater de la Porte St. Martin, the Comedie Francaise and other famous Paris theaters. M. Henri Krauss, of the Theater Bernhardt, takes the role of the ex-convict, Jean Valjean. He is a huge man, with a huge head and huge shoulders, and a shock of hair which fits Hugo's pen picture of the Toulon galley slave. He seems a visualized reincarnation of the fugitive whom the law, in the concrete form of the implacable Javert, is hounding from pillar to post. The part of Javert also is excellently played, and throughout the story his sinister presence hovers like an ominous shadow over the life of Jean Valjean. The interpretations of the characters of Fantine, Cosette, Marius, Thenardier and his giant wife leave nothing to be desired, and fulfill the idealizations of the characters as we conceived them from the book.

AT THE TEMPLE

Brushing aside all the canons of dramatic art, George Summerfield, the author of "Why Girls Leave Home," has written a big play with a punch in every act and the punch is well aimed—it goes home with a certainty and effect.

"Why Girls Leave Home" is a play intended to make people think, to hurt a danger signal on the high-way of life and stir the indignation of decent men and women. It does things and that is its chief virtue. It is blunt, forceful and direct. It rings the changes on mother, home and heaven with a refreshing assurance that there are still people who have faith in these old fashioned notions, and the punch is aimed at that up-to-the-minute problem, "The White Slave Traffic." No girl will be harmed and many may be safe-guarded by the greatest moral lesson ever staged, "Why Girls Leave Home."

This play will be the attraction at the Temple the balance of the week with a splendid cast.

AT THE EMPRESS

"The Unwritten Justice," a first run feature film, proved to be all that was expected of it this afternoon at the Empress theater. The picture is one full of thrills from the start.

In connection with the film two hundred slides depicting the present conditions in Mexico will be shown this evening. The slides have been well received everywhere Professor Claud Michelon, of this city, has shown them. They have never been shown in Fort Wayne, however.

Tomorrow afternoon the Empress will give a special matinee for the school children. This matinee will be highly interesting as well as instructive to the children, and none of them should miss it.

During the intermissions the Empress trio will continue to sing the latest songs. During the warm weather that has been "well apparent" during the last few days there have been no complaints about the "coolest spot in town."

Name Archbishop of Quebec as Member of the Sacred College

Cardinal Begin

Cardinal Begin, archbishop of Quebec, is one of the sacred college at Rome. His appointment came as a complete surprise, Archbishop Paul Bruchesi, of Montreal, having been slated for the place for several years.

As a matter of fact, Canada has been entitled to a cardinal for some time, but the place has been vacant since the death of the late Cardinal Taschereau in 1908.

TOOK HIS NOSE PRINT INSTEAD.

New York, June 10.—Armless and legless, Ernest Riley was a puzzle for the finger print man after being convicted on an intoxication charge.

But a record was taken, anyway, for it was found that Riley's nose has a deep scare on the end. An imprint of this scar is now preserved in the police archives of Brooklyn.

Magistrate Folwell heard the case against Riley, and without looking at the prisoner ordered that a finger print be taken. Everybody in court snickered at the puzzled expression on Policeman Gerhard's face. But the policeman had an inspiration, and seizing the helpless man in his arms carried him to the record room and rubbed Riley's nose on the record sheet.

M'ADOO'S CLAIM TO FAME.

Butte, Mont., June 11.—Miss Ella Crowley, county superintendent of schools, while conducting an oral examination at Melrose a few days ago, met one pupil possessed of a keen sense of humor.

Name a cabinet officer and tell of some one thing he has accomplished during his term of office," was the form in which Miss Crowley put the question.

"William McAdoo," was the answer.

"Very good. Now tell of something he has accomplished."

"Mr. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, accomplished the marriage of the president's daughter, and now she's his wife," was the youngster's unexpected reply.

Youth, Who Killed Father-in-Law, Cries When Placed in Solitary Cell.

Aurora, Ind., June 11.—Herbert J. Gillum, age twenty, who is confined in jail on a charge of murder in the first degree, cried when placed in solitary confinment. He says he is sorry he killed Joseph P. Higham, his father-in-law. He says he shot in self-defense.

Gillum's young wife is in a serious condition from the shock of the death of her father and the arrest of her husband. Andrew J. Gillum, father of the prisoner, says that Higham was very quarrelsome when drinking and had threatened his son's life when the boy eloped with Miss Nola Higham last September.

"White Wolf" and His Army of Human Fiends Butcher Thousands in China

THE BUTCHERS.

The type of soldiers of the interior of China, wearing the old uniform of the nation's army. Whole regiments of these men have deserted bodily to join the White Wolf's campaign of murder, loot and pillage. The soldiers of the larger cities near the sea are equipped just as are those of the United States and European nations, but those inland are of a lower grade of intelligence, cruel and heartless, just the kind of material from which the White Wolf creates his fiends.

Shanghai, China, June 12.—"The White Wolf is coming! The White Wolf! Flee for your lives!"

The death terror, humanity's worst devil today, grips three of China's most densely populated provinces. One hundred million people are paralyzed with fright.

The couriers are sounding the call to flee to terrified multitudes. For the new Napoleon of the orient, with the genius of a conqueror and the heart of a fiend, is abroad. Death and destruction lies on his line of march. Torture inconceivable to the Caucasian mind is one of his weapons.

He put to death 4,000 persons by bullets, boiling in oil and burial alive, on his last expedition alone!

The facts about the depredations and power of this desperado have just reached the American quarter at Shanghai. He is a military marvel, and, to show to what proportions his lust for blood and power has grown, he now contemplates the capture of Sian-Fu, capital of Shen-Shi, a city of a million souls.

Educated in a Japanese military school, Pai-Lang-Chai, the White Wolf's real name, served on the staff of General Wu during the last rebellion that resulted in the republic of China. He was left out of the reorganization of the nation and set himself up as a rebel leader a year ago. Deserters from the army made up his band, and this was quickly augmented by adventurers and criminals. He spent some time in minor pillage until sure of his followers. Now he is strong enough, in fact, to overthrow the government.

White Wolf, this creature of hideous tortures, is much like the Genghis Khan of centuries ago, whose hordes swept through Europe and left a mountain of skulls behind to live in history as a permanent example of his military genius and atrocity. Europe could not withstand his legions. He was the first yellow peril, and his savage soul finds its reincarnation in the White Wolf.

The story is told of how the White Wolf and his soldiers enter a town, shoot down the men and children, boil in oil those who offer resistance, carry away the women and girls and leave to die the ones they terribly mutilate and discard.

When Lao-Howkow fell into the hands of the notorious bandit, 1,500 persons were slain and every woman who had not fled suffered outrage. Loot amounted to $5,000,000.

The government is powerless to stop him. President Yuan-Shi-Kai seems to be accepting the horrible operations as part of the natural order of things, but is trying to allay the panic in Ho-Nan with vague promises.

Army expeditions against the White Wolf have failed. Garrisons have opened the gates to his force. The military governor of Ho-Nan has been dismissed and the general commanding court-martialed, because it was learned that his report of defeat with a loss of 4,000 men at the hands of the rebel chieftain was untrue. No such battle took place.

In the meantime the White Wolf is graudally nearing Pekin.

It is now believed that nothing can stop the advance of the White Wolf to the sea. He is resourceful enough to organize an army of hundreds of thousands of men in this land of half a billion people. On the defensive he can retire to his mountain stronghold and never be beaten.

It looks like world intervention in China again!

MADE PLACE HERSELF

San Francisco, June 12.—As supervisor of recreation in the largest department store here, Loliat Corella has created a unique position for herself. She devises amusement for the employes of the establishment. For a year she has done this and so pleased are her employers with the results shown in the better service that they have doubled her salary

MISS LOLITA CORELLA.

Dancing under Miss Corella's direction is the chief recreation. Every day during the three hours allowed for luncheon, between 400 and 500 young people gather in the assembly hall and waltz, one-step, tango and rag.

The etiquette and decorum of entertaining in a private home is observed.

"They are as nice a crowd of young people as you'd want to meet," said Miss Corella. "If any rough play is started, I find it is easily stopped. Just a few quiet words spoken to the one who is misbehaving ends it. Once in a while a newcomer begins to dance in an objectionable way. I do not criticise, but simply show that one how to dance a prettier step. I find they are always eager to dance my way."

In addition to supervising the dancing, Miss Corella has organized several social clubs among the girls. She also gives talks on hygiene and salesmanship to the younger employes, dancing lessons to the heads of departments and helps arrange the store entertainments.

In Camp With Carranza---Mexican Rebels on Flat Car Going Out of Tampico to Meet Federals

(By Fred L. Boalt.)

Tampico Mex. June 12.—Terrible fellows are these rebels. Bloodthirsty and relentless bandits. Yet when I went among them at the old Quartel they gave me food. When night came they gave me a blanket. And in the morning I joined with them in entertaining two pink-cheeked and bashful sailor boys who had strayed from the Dutch man-o'-war in the river.

We drank their black coffee—the Dutch boys and I—and smoked their cigarettes beneath a sign which said:

"Fumar Proibe."

I gave them the English translation, "Smoking Forbidden," and they managed it very well. But when the Dutch boys gave them "Rooken Verboden," their tongues twisted and they roared with boisterous laughter over their failure.

Then they posed for the camera, and it was a pleasant game. They seemed more like amiable children than bandits—children playing at war, with real rifles and with belts heavy with real cartridges for toys.

This, though, is a mistaken impression. They are neither bandits nor children, but real men, awake and pursuing an ideal.

By and by there came to us a man from the north. He had been a cowboy in Texas, and the spoke English. Lean and worn and very old he was, but agile as any boy.

"We do not like this fighting," he told me. "We are tired of it. But we must go on and on fighting, until Mexico belongs to the Mexicans.

"I am a cattleman, senor, but most of these men about you are farm laborers. We are not Spaniards, but Mexicans, and many of us are full-blooded Indians.

"We want the land—the land which was our fathers' and which was taken from them. But what chance have we when only a few hold all the land, when estates run into the millions of acres, and when an American, English, Spanish or German land owner counts himself poor if his estate is less than 25,000 acres?

"You have been told, senor, that we fight because it is an easy life, giving opportunities to rob. That is a lie!

"We knew when we enlisted in the constitutionalist army that this was not like the revolutions that have gone before. We knew we were enlisting to fight to get back the land, so that his wife and children might have good food and good clothes and an education.

"Well, senor, after we had taken Torreon, our chief, General Carranza, gave us some of the land we had taken. You can not know how glad we were. It seemed to us that this was the fulfillment of our dream.

"We could not wait. We built little homes, and very soon the green things were springing from the good ground that had been waste.

"The time came to move on, and we did not want to go. It looked for a while that the constitutionalist army would fall to pieces, so anxious were we to have farms and homes of our own. We were tired of fighting.

"But our chief explained to us, through our officers, that the time of peace had not yet come to Mexico. Though we had land, there were millions of other Mexicans to the south who had none. So, when we understood this, we left our farms, though it was hard, senor, and took up again the southward march.

"Well, we have taken Tampico now. Soon Saltillo will fall; then San Luis Potosi; and, after San Luis Potosi—the capital!

"Then we shall have peace in Mexico."

WILL MEET JUNE 22.

Executive Committee of Young Men's Forward Congress Will Gather at City Hall.

The executive committee of the Young Men's Forward congress of this city will hold a meeting Monday evening, June 22, in the city council chamber in the city hall building. Some important business will be transacted and every member is urged to be present.

This committee is composed of a representative of every Young Men's Bible class of the city, besides the regular officers. There are forty-one Protestant churches in the city and every one is eligible of belonging to this union of young men, whose chief aim is to place a Young Men's Christian association building in this city.

The committee is planning on some great work and steps have already been taken to secure some of the best speakers of the country for a lecture course to be given during the winter months.

To Observe Children's Day.

Children's day will be observed Sunday evening at the St. Joe Methodist Episcopal church, which is located four and one-half miles west of the city. A fine program has been arranged by the children and it is expected that a large crowd will be present. An invitation has been extended by officials to all city people who wish to attend.

THE DEATHS.

JULLY.

Caroline B. Jully, aged 71 years, the widow of Louis Jully, died at 7:15 o'clock Thursday night at her home, 1120 St. Mary's avenue. Her death was due to apoplexy and followed an illness of four months.

Mrs. Jully was born in Germany September 3, 1842, and came to this country at the age of thirteen years. Her husband died fourteen years ago. Surviving she leaves the following children: Mrs. W. C. Bando, Mrs. A. W. Siemon, Mrs. Gottlieb Linderman, Mrs. Sophie Engelking, Mrs. Frank Schlebecker, Henry Schroeder and Louis Schroeder. She also leaves twenty-one grandchildren and two brothers, Fred and Henry Beerman. Mrs. Jully had been an active member of the Trinity Lutheran church.

MURPHY.

Agnes Murphy, aged thirty-eight years, died at 11 o'clock Thursday night at St. Joseph's hospital after a prolonged illness from complications. She resided at 1011 Cottage street and was a member of the Cathedral congregation and treasurer of the Young Ladies' sodality of that parish. Surviving she leaves the following brothers and sisters: E. C. Murphy, of Peru; Mary Murphy, of Detroit; Mrs. Harry Money, of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Nellie, Rose, Genevieve and Clara Murphy, all of this city.

Funeral services Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

RICHIE.

Mark Richie, aged twenty-four years, a resident of Fort Wayne for several years, died suddenly Wednesday night at his home in Oakwood, Ohio, where he had been visiting for the past week. Notice of his death was received here by officials of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers' alliance, of which the young man was a member. He was employed as a waiter, working at different times for the Wellington and Transfer lunch rooms.

OLDS.

Mrs. F. G. Olds, aged fifty-four years, a resident of Fort Wayne and widely known, died Thursday afternoon at the home of her son, C. A. Olds, at Indianapolis, where she had gone three weeks ago for a visit. Her death was due to complications and she had been ill ever since reaching the home of her son.

Mrs. Olds was born and reared in Fort Wayne and her entire life had been spent here. Surviving she leaves three sons, C. A. Olds, of Indianapolis; Walter Olds and Roy Olds, of this city.

CRANCE.

Mrs. Florence M. Crance, aged twenty-two years, the wife of Delbert Crance, died at 12:15 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krokne, 2417 Euclid avenue. She had resided in Fort Wayne all her life and was married to Mr. Crance June 20, 1910. Surviving she leaves the husband, parents, one son, three brothers and three sisters.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Freiburger.—Funeral services for Ida Veronica Freiburger will be held Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence, at Sheldon, and at 9 o'clock from St. Aloysius' Catholic church. Burial will be made at the Sheldon cemetery.

Fuchsuber.—Funeral services for Theodore Fuchshuber will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 1824 St. Joe boulevard and at 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's Lutheran church, Rev. Jacob W. Miller officiating. Interment will be made at Concordia cemetery.

Beekes.—Funeral services for Peter Beekes will be held Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the residence, 2425 New Haven avenue, and at 9 o'clock from St. Andrew's Catholic church. Interment will be made at the Catholic cemetery.

Roosevelt's Friend Makes a Trip Abroad

London, June 12.—Oscar Straus, a leader of social reform in the United States and a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt, is in London, studying England's social justice laws.

"Europe is ahead of us," says Mrs. Straus, "in enacting into laws old-age pensions, minimum wage, industrial insurance and other phases of social justice, and we can profit by study over here."

Mr. Straus' investigations were interrupted while he attended the wedding of Kermit Roosevelt in Madrid on June 10.

Non-Royal Princess Engaged to Oscar Kaiser's Fifth Son

Potsdam, Germany, June 12.—The engagement of Prince Oscar, fifth son of the German emperor, to Countess Ina Marie von Bassewitz-Levetzow, maid of honor to the empress, has been announced. The prince is 26 years old.

Much comment has been aroused by this announcement, owing to the fact that the marriage will be the first morganatic union which has occurred in the Hohenzollern family since 1853.

George Waldschmidt, of the German-American National bank, is at Peru today on business.

O'ROURKE IS THE WINNER.

Cleaned Up His Running Mate in Final Tilt of School Tournament.

In the final play of the Fort Wayne high school tennis tournament Bill O'Rourke defeated Bob Vernon, who had been his running mate in the doubles, and won the championship in the singles. This pair took the finals in the doubles and the last rounds of play resulted as follows:

Doubles (semi-finals)—Vernon-O'Rourke won from Hunting-Wentz, 6-1, 6-3 and 6-4; Saylor-Knight won from Diffenderfer-Stevens 8-6, 6-8, 3-6 and 6-2.

Finals — Vernon-O'Rourke won from Saylor-Knigh, 6-1, 6-4 and 6-0.

Singles (semi-finals)—O'Rourke won from Riker 6-4, 6-2 and 6-0. Vernon won from Hunting 6-0, 6-3 and 7-5.

Finals—O'Rourke won from Vernon 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 and 6-4.

NEW FRONT HELP IN FINAL SCRAP

Manager George Hughes and New Players in a Slaughter.

BRAMBLE THE VICTIM

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 12.—Manager George Hughes, whose black stockinged warriors have been slipping badly all season after winning a flag in the jousting of 1913, presented a new battle front in the final scrap with the Billiken troupe and said new front made an attack on Freddie Bramble and his Canadian league curve that resulted in real slaughter.

In the first place Mr. Elmer Ponder, recently secured from the Western league, debutted as hurler for the champs, and he displayed a line of goods that held the enemy under subjection all through the encounter and resulted in four hits for the invaders, of which Paul Beyers, called into the fray as a substitute for Freddie Bratchi, pinched off two and McLafferty and Holderman split the other pair.

Next in importance came the initiation of a new first baseman in the person of Mr. Brewer, late of the Peoria team of the Three-I league, and he succeeded the manager, who has been playing a rather unsteady game on the first corner for several weeks. The Peoria gentleman featured his advent into Central league society by copping three hits and each of them was a two-ply crash.

Harry Lake was shelved and Eddie Justice shunted over to third base to cover the position which Joe Grodick and Marty Killilea fell down so badly on after it was made certain that Tommy Nee would not be here to play. Tommy has shown no disposition to reconsider his resolution to abandon national pastiming, principally because he did not go up after a rather aggressive brand of play put on display during the campaign of 1913.

Once in a while in every sort of baseball from the major league variety down to the back-lot brand, some team gets a thumping that makes its laboring athletes look like cheese ball players and false alarms. This has happened to Fort Wayne at least once every season and when the Billiken battlers entrained for their own dugout last night most of them regretted the result of the matinee but all of them were glad that the awful affair had been thoroughly worked out of the collective system of the Varnell squad.

Every ball player and every intelligent patron of the game who has seen Fred Bramble work knows that he is not the sort to go in and get the daylights hammered out of his repertoire in the heartless way the Grand Rapids club handled him in the Thursday performance, but the best of them slip now and then and this was Freddie's day to slip, and he indicated that when he does slip he puts on a classic in slipping.

For three innings his faithful salary arm responded cheerfully and effectively to his efforts to advance in his profession by mowing down the opposing batters and showing the kind of hurling the managers want up in the big league. Then all of a sudden something got into the pesky salary producer and it went on strike and every offering was speedily converted into a hit that ranged from troublesome infield rollers that evaded the pursuing Billikens long enough for batters to reach first to deadly smashes of the home run variety.

Twenty-two hits counted for a total of thirty-eight bases and before the contest was half over the few faithful or the faithful few who have stuck to the gilding champs had started for home, convinced that the home talent would make a farce of the game.

Two runs in the fourth didn't look so bad, especially after the Martins came back with one in the fifth, but things happened so fast in the fifth that harrowing details have been charitably omitted. Suffice it to say that when the count was finally finished and the last man retired it was shown that nine runs had been accumulated and that Grand Rapids batsmen had fattened up to the extent of nine hits. Another onslaught in the eighth added five, and taken all in all it was one of the worst bombardments that a Central league pitcher was ever subjected to.

Wife of French Aviator Dares Death To Prove Success of Husband's Life-Saving Parachute

Mme. Decastella

MADAME DE CASTELLA,

And As She Looks When Strapped Beneath Her Aeroplane.

Is there anything in the round world women will not face except a mouse?

Madame De Castella is the latest candidate for honors as the bravest woman in France. Her husband, an airman, recently designed a parachute intended to prevent aerial catastrophes. The safety of aviators, fame and fortune depended on his success.

To test the invention it was necessary that someone take big chances.

Madame De Castelle was bound to her husband's biplane, which rose with her suspended beneath it. At the heighth of 2,500 metres, when the earth was a dim map spread far below, she calmly cut herself loose and parachuted back to safety.

BRATCHI IS OUT OF THE LINE-UP

NESPO JOINS TEAM

When Harry Martin and his troopers trailed into Fort Wayne early this morning they lugged along with them another piece of bad luck in the shape of an injury to Freddie Bratchi that will probably keep that hustling young gardener from doing any work at his regular job for a week or such a matter.

In fielding a fly ball at Grand Rapids he fell and cut a long gash in his left arm, and Secretary Bert Dennis had to pilot him to a surgeon who took three or four stitches to close the wound. Misfortune is sure part and parcel of that grand old game of baseball and any doubt on the subject will probably be removed after a conversation with the local manager.

Another bit of ill luck struck camp when George Smykal was ordered to report to the Ottawa club in the Canadian league. In fact he had several times been ordered to report and his time in this league was extended almost to breaking off negotiations and friendly relations with Francis Joseph Shaughnessy, who loaned the young infielder to the Fort Wayne club to fill in while Nespo was out.

All the players liked this youngster, and hated to see him go, as he is an intelligent ball player, and was hitting in good shape. The Ottawa infield is going badly and Smykal was needed.

Frankie Nespo will be forced back into the game at once but his injured ankle has not recovered sufficiently to allow him to do his best at second. Tommy Atkins has been working out a couple of days and will probably be able to pitch by Sunday.

The Sabbath matinee will be a two-piece event as the Terre Haute club was prevented from playing one game of the first series and has a postponement here. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock.

When the Terre Haute club registered today at the Wayne, Billy Colligan was not with it, having been sold yesterday to the Erie club in the Canadian league. Yank Davis, who was expected to play in the game here this afternoon, has been held up at St. Joe by the injury of one of the regular outfielders. This information was conveyed to Manager Larry Quinlan before he left Terre Haute last night.

Just when he will get here is a question. In the meantime Bert Fisher, utility man for the club, is playing the outfield. Monday Bob Craig, who was given time to finish his college term, will report to the club and will be ready for the series with Dayton. He will likely go to the outfield as there is apparently no place for him on the inner works with the present lineup working to good advantage.

Quinlan is after players and has had the same luck that other managers have encountered in the search. Ted Anderson is playing great baseball for him, and Andy Kyle has shown form since he joined the club, and his pitching staff is rounding to.

Owner Claude H. Varnell has announced his arrival for today, and he will remain with the club until it takes the road again. Players on the local club and members of the Terre Haute team say that in Smith the Fort Wayne club has a real ball player. He is fast in the field, has been hitting the ball hard and his work has the stamp of intelligence.

Jack Gilmore is a better outfielder than any of the crop of this season and it is believed that he will hit as soon as he has gotten his bearings.

This is the Store That Does things.

SOUTH BEND HAS ASKED FOR HELP

Regular Custom of Passing the Hat Revived in St. Joe Hamlet.

NEED NEW PLAYERS

The annual custom of passing the hat to support its baseball team has been made necessary at South Bend a little earlier this year than usual from the fact that Ed Smith has not been able to make his Southern Michigan team win and attributes it to want of players.

This tail-grass habit of mulcting patrons is unusual where the electric lights burn after 10 o'clock at night, and that it has become necessary is proof of the wisdom of President Louis Heilbroner when he turned South Bend down in favor of Evansville. This is what the News-Times has to say of the muddle:

"Booster day, one of the annual features of the Southern Michigan league, is one week from Thursday, June 18.

A committee of South Bend fans is preparing plans for the event, which is expected to bring out one of the largest crowds seen at Springbrook park this season. An effort will be put forth to bring out every baseball enthusiast, young or old, masculine or feminine, on Boosters' day, and give the Benders a deserving acknowledgement of the work they have done in the circuit this season.

"Tickets will be placed on sale at many points throughout the city, while the committee intends to start a personal canvass campaign. The receipts of the day will go toward building up and strengthening the South Bend club, which is hitting a fast gait at the present time, with the view of making it a first division club. Tickets will be sold for $1 each.

"Booster day throughout the league is but one of the features of the season, first instigated by the fans themselves. One of the principal purposes of the event in South Bend will be to secure funds with which to purchase a couple of new players which are needed by the club. Manager Smith has had his hands full this spring organizing the club and has encountered serious difficulties, losing one valuable player when "Doc" Schmick jumped his contract two days after Smith had paid for him, in addition to several other discouraging features.

"This has not hindered the playing of the club as a whole and the Benders are rated as one of the fastest organizations in the league by other magnates, although they have to show up in the standings as well as some of the other clubs. The regular fans are well satisfied with the performance of the Benders as their fighting spirit and spectacular playing has made them favorites.

"Harry Arndt, part owner of the club, is in town today, having left the club at Adrian Tuesday night, and is denying that he has resigned or sold or intends to sell his share in the team. He will not be in the game for some time, however, as it is necessary that the club cut down to the salary limit. Smith also wishes to get a couple of new men whom he has in sight and their purchase depends much upon the success of boosters' day. One of these men is well known to South Bend fans and is one of the best players in the business. His addition to the club would mean almost double strength.

"Arndt denied strongly that he was out of the game for good, which has been reported, although Harry has been going fast this spring.

"'I was born with a glove on my hand,' said Harry, 'and will have one with me until I step on my whiskers.'"

"Ducky Holmes and his Saginaw Ducks will be the opponents of the Benders on boosters' day, which insures some exciting battle for Ducky has it in for the local club, and Smith would be more than pleased to put one over on the Holmes bunch.

"Other plans for boosters' day will be announced by the committee which will be appointed today, within the next few days, and it is anticipated that a number of interesting features will be added to the afternoon's program."

TO BE BURIED HERE.

Mrs. Bertha R. Garber, aged thirty-five years, wife of Arthur Garber, and a sister of Mrs. A. M. Tower, of this city, is dead at Saranac, N. Y. She was formerly a resident of Fort Wayne, but after leaving this city resided first in Chicago and later in New York city. The remains are to be brought to Fort Wayne for burial.

WILL START TENNIS PLAY.

Spring Handicap Tournament to Begin Tomorrow at Country Club.

Play will be started tomorrow afternoon at the Fort Wayne Country club courts in the spring handicap tournament in which about thirty-five players have been entered. The play will continue through the first few weeks of the season.

Tennis players in the Country club have shown more interest this year than at any time since the courts were opened, and with the prospect of the northern Indiana tournament ahead of them the cracks of the club are shaping themselves for good play in the big meeting.

THIS IS SOME BATTING.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 12.—For the twenty-two days since the season opened the Cadillac team of the Michigan State league has a team batting average of .344. This figure is said to have set a new record for class D, if not for all classes of organized baseball. Nine of the thirteen men on the team have batted over .300, Manager Jay Parker leading with .462.

President Thinks He Has Found An Honest Man and Tells Why He Thinks So

President Louis Heilbroner, of the Central league, thinks he has discovered an honest man and but for the fact that he overlooked the minor detail of getting the fellow's name he probably could make some history.

In making this discovery he has a little edge on Diogenes because he didn't work with a lantern, and easily accomplished the task that took the ancient philosopher up and down the highways and byways in a vain search.

Thursday afternoon the president took an inventory of his stock of hats and found that it did not contain a straw one of recent vintage so he went into the busy marts of trade to purchase. The position of president of the Central league, author and editor of the blue and red books and head of a thriving statistical bureau makes some sartorial demands that must be heeded, so the person who is all of these found a hat that suited his fancy and parted with the price of four annual subscriptions to said blue book, which is $1 per throw.

Then he went to the Anthony for dinner, put his nice shiny straw hat on the rack with the top downward and his initials in gilt letters plainly visible to the naked eye.

When he had finished he went from the dining room to find that somebody had beaten him to his new straw hat, and the only one left was of the output of 1913, and in a season of service had accumulated more or less dirt and had taken on that yellow shade common to straw hats after an active campaign of a few months.

He concluded that he was out one good hat, and went to his office to look over his list and see if he could sell four more blue books, and gave it up as hopeless. When he returned to the hotel he asked if his hat had shown up and was told that it hadn't. He retired and tossed on his pillow for a time with the loss of the hat uppermost in his mind, and later was aroused from fitful slumber by his telephone bell. A message from the office was to the effect thatt the hat had been returned.

"You can't fool Louie that way," he said, and returned to his fitful slumber and it took a second call to convince him that a man who had picked out a good, new straw or any other kind of a hat, and left an old one in its place had ever taken the pains to return it.

Anyhow, he got the hat and he cheeks now when he eats. "Say, come to think of it, maybe that guy wasn't so honest after all. He was a big fat fellow, and didn't look good under a narrow brim like my new hat has," was the afterthought of the president.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

BODY OF UNKNOWN IDENTIFIED.

Wabash, Ind., June 12.—The body of the unknown boy who was killed by an eastbound freight train three miles west of this city, near the Wolf stock farm on May 28, was this morning positively identified by Mrs. Katherine Kovacs, of 1973 Columbus road, Cleveland, Ohio, who claims the body to be that of her son, Victor Kovacs, aged 16, who had not been seen nor heard of since the latter part of April. Miss Agnes Power, of Cicero, Ill., came to this city, believing the body to be that of her nephew, Robert Power, who disappeared from a Catholic school in Pittsburg, and arrangements were made to have the body, which was buried in Falls cemetery on May 31, exhumed. In the evening Mrs. Katherine Kovacs arrived in this city.

MAY TAKE FRESH AIR CHILDREN.

Auburn, Ind., June 12.—Auburn citizens may entertain a hundred or more fresh air children from Chicago this summer. A movement has already been started to provide a summer outing for these poor children who are housed up in the great city of Chicago. Attorney Glenn Miller is at the head of the movement, he having become interested at Cromwell last year, where a number of the children were entertained. On next Sunday Mr. Miller will visit the various churches in the city in an effort to have each denomination appoint a committee to act with those of the other churches in formulating plans for entertaining the children for two weeks. The ladies clubs in the city will also be asked to help.

ESCAPED MEXICAN REBELS.

Huntington, Ind., June 12.—Mrs. E. C. Smith, of this city, has just received a letter from her brother, P. J. Rafferty, whom she had thought dead until word from him reached her. While the situation in Mexico was at highest tension Mrs. Smith read in a press dispatch that a P. J. Rafferty had been murdered April 27 by Mexican rebels. This was her brother's name and she did not doubt that it was he who had been killed. Rafferty says in his letter that he was told by the authorities in Gonzales that he had better leave, as no protection could be guaranteed him. He took to the mountains and lived for a while in a cave, nearly starving before he thought it safe to come out.

SUES BETRAYER OF DAUGHTER.

Huntington, Ind., June 12.—Alleging that E. L. Tobias seduced his nineteen-year-old daughter, Shem Z. Kaufman filed suit for $10,000 damages and for the setting aside of conveyances of property. The daughter is named Frances Kaufman, with whom Tobias was arrested last Saturday night at Kokomo.

The complaint is against E. L. Tobias and his wife, Ida M. Tobias.

ROME CITY MAN INSANE.

Kendallville, Ind., June 12.—Before a commission consisting of Justice E. P. Lash and Dr. C. A. Gardner, of this city, and Dr. H. M. Newman, of South Milford, J. J. Nichols, age 31 years, residing near Rome City, was found to be of unsound mind at an inquest held and was taken to Albion by Constable Charles DuWan, where he will be held in jail awaiting commitment to the hospital at Richmond.

For the last three weeks Nichols has shown signs of mental derangement and has threatened violence to members of the family in addition to threatening he would take his own life.

RIMMELL FAMILY REUNION.

Kendallville, Ind., June 12.—The seventh annual reunion of the Rimmel family, held at the country home of George Rimmel, four miles northwest of the city, was a decided success, there being eighty members present. The day was spent in a social way and after the bounteous dinner was served on the shady lawn, an intervesting program of music and recitations was given.

A business session was held and the officers of the association were re-elected. They are: Lewis Rimmel, president; Albert Rimmel, vice president; Glenn Rimmel, secretary and treasurer.

NAIL IN HIS HEAD HELPED SOME.

Portland, Ind., June 12.—Contrary to the expectations of the attending physician, Charles Bisset, the Canadian who attempted suicide in jail at Redkey last Monday night, by driving a nail into his skull, continues to improve. He seems to be regaining his mental faculties and has assumed a far different attitude. It is believed possible that he was deranged from the excessive use of liquor at the time he tried to end his career and that when he recovers from the effects of his recent drunk he will be all right, unless complications should develop from the self-inflicted wounds in his cranium.

PORTLAND LAD IS A HERO.

Portland, Ind., June 12.—Jack Imel, 16, sprang in front of a speeding automobile and, grasping an 18-months-old babe in his arms, saved the child from death under the wheels of the car. Imel's heel was grazed by the wheel of the touring car as he jumped across the street wit hthe babe. He saw the danger to the little one that had strolled onto the street from a home nearby. The driver of the car did not see the babe until Imel had it in his arms.

BLOCKS TRAIN WITH HIS BODY.

Portland, Ind., June 12.—Ed Mack, an itinerant umbrella mender, got soused with liquor and held a freight train in this city, refusing to move from the tracks. He had ridden here on the train and was "unloaded." When the train stopped Mack got in front of the engine and refused to budge. The conductor tried to persuade him to leave, but Mack pulled a razor and showed fight. He was finally "ditched" and had not recovered his hearing when the officers arrived and took him in charge.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Warsaw, Ind., June 12.—Wynn Winship, aged 27, of this city, went to sleep on the Big Four railroad track about a half mile south of this place and a local freight came along and bumped him. His head was resting on a tie and his shoulder was elevated so that a part of the engine pilot struck him. The train was stopped and he was picked up unconscious, rushed to his home in Warsaw and surgeons summoned. He was brought to his senses and found to be not dangerously hurt.

AFTER THE GAMBLERS.

Hartford City, Ind., June 12.—John Coughlin, indicted by a grand jury in 1913 for frequenting a gambling room, pleaded guilty before Judge Eichhorn in the circuit court here. He was fined $10 and costs and a jail sentence of ten days was suspended. Martin Bantz, Elmer Slentz and Walter Carpenter, indicted for running gambling rooms, were granted continuances.

WELLS ROAD BONDS SOLD.

Bluffton, Ind., June 12.—County Treasurer J. A. McBride has sold the bonds on five gravel roads to the Studebaker bank for $23,486.85. The roads are four streets that are to be constructed in Bluffton under the three-mile gravel road law, and one street in Poneto. All will be built this summer.

AGED WOMAN BADLY BURNED.

Van Wert, Ohio, June 12.—Mrs. Matilda Norris, an aged resident of this city, was badly burned when a gasoline stove which she was lighting exploded, throwing the burning fluid about her face and arms, causing burns which are painful but not serious. The interior of the kitchen was slightly damaged by the burning fluid.

FIXING UP MONTPELIER TRACK.

Montpelier, Ind., June 12.—Work on the new grandstand at the Montpelier race track is progressing rapidly. The old pavilion was blown down last fall. The Montpelier track is known over the state as one of the fastest half-mile tracks in this part of the country and interesting race metings have been events there for years.

HUNTINGTON'S BIG DELINQUENCY.

Huntington, Ind., June 12.—According to the figures just compiled in the office of the county treasurer, the delinquent tax of Huntington county for the year is $19,370.85. The delinquency for 1914 is greater than the unpaid tax in 1913, the figures of the June settlement tax sheet shows.

BODY FOUND ON PORCH.

Continental, Ohio, June 12.—The body of Mrs. John King, an aged recluse, was found on the porch of her residence, one and one-fourth miles north of Continental. It is thought she died the day before from heart failure.

PIERCETON'S HOMECOMING DATE.

Pierceton, Ind., June 12.—The week of August 22 to 27 has been fixed by the committee as the date of Pierceton's homecoming celebration and carnival. Word will be sent to all expatriates who can be located that this is the date and they are expected to attend.

Beauty Editor Advises on Superfluous Hair

A well known beauty editor writes: "Avoid painful electric operations and evil smelling, skin-burning depilatories for removing superfluous hair. Mrs. Osgood's Wonder will speedily clear the face, neck, arms or any other part of the body of all unwelcome hair. This harmless prescription is being universally used and endorsed by leading society and professional women everywhere.

Every woman should know that Mrs. Osgood's Wonder is the finest and surest remedy for hair blemishes. You can try it without risk by depositing its small purchase price with Meyer Bros. Co. or at any leading druggist or toilet counter. If it fails, return the empty package and get your money back, as agreed in signed guarantee which comes in every package.

GEN. FUNSTON'S BABY BORN WHILE HE WAS ON MEXICAN FIRING LINE.

MRS. FREDERICK FUNSTON, WIFE OF GENERAL FREDERICK FUNSTON, AND THE NEW FUNSTON BABY, ELIZABETH.

San Francisco, June 12.—The stork recently stalked into the Letterman General hospital at the Presidio, San Francisco, and left with Mrs. Frederick Funston, wife of "Fighting Fred," the famous brigadier general now in charge of the American troops occupying Vera Cruz, a ten-pound baby girl.

Wife and baby are doing nicely, thank you!

Baby Elizabeth, as they call her, has increased the grand total of the Funston family to three—a boy and two girls. The boy, Fred, jr., is 10 years old, and Barbara, his sister, is 5½. Baby Elizabeth is a little past one month; she was born on April 26.

GETS $5,000 FOR BANDIT'S CAPTURE

Mrs. Colen Was a Victim of Robbery by Ralph Fariss.

MAKES CLAIM GOOD

San Francisco, June 12.—While Ralph Fariss, train bandit and slayer of H. E. Montague, sat in the death cell at San Quentin prison, a woman was paid $5,000 for sending him there. She is Mrs. Arthur M. Colen, one of those robbed

MRS. ARTHUR COLEN.

when Fariss held up the Sunset express and killed Montague. Her eyes picked Fariss from a crowd in Market street, San Francisco, and she, with her husband, caused his arrest.

The Southern Pacific company had offered a reward of $5,000 for the arrest of the train bandit.

That the Colens would have received the reward much sooner had not a claim for the money been made by the policeman who actually arrested Fariss, is the statement of the Southern Pacific officials.

After Fariss had been sentenced to death and was in the condemned cell at San Quentin the Colens claimed the reward.

The policeman put in a counter claim and obtained an injunction restraining the Southern Pacific from paying the money to the Colens. Later the injunction was dissolved.

Fariss' appeal for a new trial is under consideration by the supreme court.

SAYS SULPHUR DRIVES ECZEMA FROM THE SKIN

Use like cold cream to instantly stop itching and clear the skin.

Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common bold-sulphur made into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it to the irritated parts the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years common cold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the practice of dermatology and cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticidal, but also antipruritic, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always effecting a permanent cure it never fails to instantly subdue the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin. An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 1914.

Topic, "The Friend of Sinners"—Luke 18:9-14; 19:1-10. Golden text, "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners"—Mark 2:17.

Three kinds of sinners: The Pharisee in the temple who said, "God, I thank thee that I am not as the rest of men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers. . . . I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I get." He was self-righteous and boastful. The publican in the temple, who prayed, "God be merciful to me a sinner!" He was penitent and humble. Zaccheus, the publican in Jericho, he was penitent and desired to make good.

As Jesus went in and out of the temple during his ministry on earth, he frequently saw the first two kinds of sinners. Humanly speaking we should say that the Pharisees were a thorn in the flesh of Jesus. As we read of Jesus' dealings with them, we can not see that he was ever fretted or annoyed by them, but he was always ready to meet them fairly and squarely and to give them deserved rebuke. He did not cast them off; we read many times that he went to a feast in a Pharisee's house. The second kind of sinners, publicans, were notorious for their cheating, over-reaching qualities as tax collectors, but they were not irretrievably bad, because many publicans came to John for baptism (Luke 3:12-13). Also they came to Jesus to hear his words (Luke 15:1). They sought close intercourse with Jesus. (Matt. 9:10.) Jesus called a publican to be one of his twelve apostles. (Matt. 9:9.)

Zaccheus, the chief publican, the "majordomo" of his class, was so curious to see Jesus as he was passing through Jericho, that he climbed into a sycamore tree under which he knew Jesus would walk. Zaccheus saw Jesus, and Jesus saw Zaccheus, and recognized in his curiosity a spark of true seeking. He called to him, "Zaccheus, come down, for today I must abide at thy house." And Zaccheus made haste and came down, and received him joyfully. He did not shake hands with Jesus, according to our western fashion, but he bowed low before him, and the expression "received him joyfully" leads us to think that he may have kissed Jesus on either cheek, according to the oriental way.

How exasperated were the Pharisees! They were loud in their mutterings, "He is gone to be a guest with a man that is a sinner." What they deemed Jesus' greatest reproach was his highest praise, for he was bearing God's banner of love. "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16.) That was a memorable visit, the outcome of which was the complete surrender of Zaccheus to the rule of Christ in his life, for not only did he tell Jesus that he proposed to give half of his riches to the poor, but out of the half remaining to restore four times the amount he had unlawfully taken over for himself in collecting taxes. We are not told that Zaccheus thereby made himself a poor man, but undoubtedly he did strip himself of his fortune. We can almost hear him joyfully saying, "This is the best day of my life. How good is it to be unloaded of selfishness and sin!" Zaccheus and all repentant sinners may be thus described: "The happy man was born in the city of Regeneration, in the parish of Repentance, unto life. He was educated at the school of Obedience, and now lives in Perseverance road. He works at the factory of Diligence, and is noted for his large estate in the country of Christian Contentment, and does not a little business of self-denial. He wears the plain attire of Humility, but goes to the court of the Great King, the 'holiest of all,' in a garment called the Robe of Christ's Righteousness. At the close of the day he is found in the valley of Self-Abasement as he reviews its occurrences, and invariably climbs afterward the bright-visioned mountains of Spiritual-Mindedness. He breakfasts every morning on spiritual prayer, and sups every evening on the same; has meat to eat the world knows not of, and his drink is the sincere milk of the Word."

It is our privilege so to live that such things may be said of us.

"But I am not a sinner," said the lady to whom a clergyman tried to talk about becoming a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ. "What do you mean when you declare you are not a sinner?" he asked. She replied: "I mean that I have never done anything wicked or wrong." In fact, she was of good standing in the community where she lived, as one who acted well the proprieties of life. "Do you read your Bible?" "I have no Bible," she replied; "it does not interest me in the least. But I am not disposed to think it is not given of God." The clergyman replied: "The Bible says 'All have sinned, and come short of the glory of God,' and 'If we say we have not sinned we make him a liar.'" (Rom. 3:22-23, and I. John 1:10.) She turned pale, as her sin began to loom up before her. The clergyman continued: "The Bible distinctly says that 'Sin is lawlessness.' The Lord Jesus distinctly says the law is embraced in these two sayings: 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind,' and 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Permit me to ask, have you always loved this way?" "No, I have not," she replied. "Then, according to your own confession, you are a sinner; and if you have never thus loved God and your neighbor, and you are, as I suppose, about thirty years of age, you have been sinning with every breath, and thus have committed millions of sins, and you are adding to the frightful number every moment you live."

The clergyman went on: "Neither is this all, nor the worst. You have received God's mercies of health and home and love, and have shown no gratitude for them, but worst of all, you have rejected his dear Son who died upon the cross to your Saviour. Dare you now say in the shadow of that cross, 'I am not a sinner?' Then she broke down and exclaimed, "I am too great a sinner to be saved." "No," replied the clergyman, "for Jesus himself has said, 'Him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out.'" And on that very day that she was willing to reckon herself a sinner, she was "saved by grace."

A missionary in India used the following illustration: "A great and deadly serpent entered into a house, and made its abode in a hole in the wall. The family was greatly alarmed, and the neighbors came running in to see what was the matter. 'A snake, a deadly snake has come here to live! Oh, what shall we do?' they cried. Said one, 'Have the house thoroughly whitewashed,' Said another, 'Have it painted, too and send for the carpenter to mend doors and windows.' Said a third, 'Send for a Brahman to utter a mantra' (sacred voice,' in Sanscit). All this was done, and for a while the family lived in peace. But one night, when all were asleep, the snake came out of its hole, and bit the father, so that he died. Two nights afterward the snake bit the son, and he died also. Brother," said the missionary, "do you know the meaning of this parable? The house is the body; the hole in the inner wall is the heart, and the serpent is sin. All of your daubings and ceremonies are of no avail; you need a remedy for the bite of the serpent, and Christ is the only remedy."

"The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.'" (Luke 19:10.)

The apostle Paul is gazing with wonder on the Son of man coming down from heaven on the ladder of humiliation round by round when he writes, "Christ being equal with God made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men; and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross." (Phil. 2:7-8.) That ladder speaks of our loatness. It reminds us that we are in the slippery places of temptation and sin, as it brings salvation within our reach. To those who do not recognize their lostness the ladder of salvation can do no good. A person not convinced of being in peril refuses a rescue, and so those who think themselves safe will not receive the Saviour. The Lord Jesus when he was on earth went not merely to the synagogues and temple to speak to those who had interest enough to come; he went out into the streets and lanes of the cities, seeking and saving those who in soul as well as body were poor and maimed and halt and blind. It was not enough that he had provided an open heaven and open temples and synagogues as sheepfolds to which every wandering sheep would be welcome, but he must also seek and save the lost.

And Jesus came to all the world not only to seek and save lost souls, but everything lost through sin—lost innocence of Eden and childhood; lost powers of holy thought and love; lost possibilities of noble manhood; lost hours of the past; lost treasures of every kind which Satan had stolen from us.

The late Bishop Whipple has been called "the nineteenth century apostle to the Indians." He was once visited by a wild chief who asked that a missionary might be sent to his tribe, saying: "I want your religion for my people. You are patient, and you make the trail plain." The mission was planted, the chief because a faithful Christian. Let it be the aim of Sunday school teachers to make "the trail plain" in teaching of this lesson. Bishop Whipple was called "Straight Tongue" by the Indians, because he always made his message so simple and clear that all understood what he was trying to teach them. Let Sunday school teachers all strive to be "Straight Tongues!"—Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Crafts in the Christian Herald.

THE MARKETS

CHERRY SEASON COMING.

Watermelons Reach Local Markets in Larger Quantities; Prices Lower.

Farmers and truckmen remarked at the market this morning that the cherry season would soon be here. The early cherries are turning red and it will only be a few days, perhaps the first part of the coming week, and they will be ready to be put on market. The early cherry trees are more heavily laden with fruit than the later ones.

Watermelons are reaching the local markets in great quantities and as a result the price is towering. They are now retailing at 75c to 90c a piece. Last week and the early part of this week they were selling for $1 and better apiece.

The outlook for the farmers' crops this year seems to be rather bright as reports from various parts of the county are to the effect that the wheat and oats have a good stand and that the heads of the wheat are filling nicely. One farmer stated that he thought his wheat would be ready to cut the last week in June.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 12.—Belief that after four days' decline a reaction was due helped bring about a rally today in wheat. The opening, which was ⅛c off to ⅛@¼c up, was followed by a substantial advance all around.

The Lorimer bank troubles, too, were taken advantage of by the bear side. Closing prices were steady, ⅝c to ½c under last night.

Corn weakened on account of general rains where needed. After starting unchanged to ⅛c lower, the market steadied close to last night's level. Notwithstanding that the breaking of the drouth had some bearish influence on oats, the effect was not of a lasting sort. There was but little pressure to sell.

The close was steady, ½c to ⅞c under last night.

Provisions leaned to the bull side. Higher prices at the yards formed the chief reason.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 12.—The demand for stocks in the early market today was small but there was a good undertone and a majority of the active shares were fractionally higher. Speculators bid up transcontinental railroad shares on the passage by the senate of the canal tolls repeal bill, acting on the theory that the imposition of tolls on coastwise ships would make less formidable their competition with the railroads. The Harriman shares were strongest, Southern Pacific rising a point. General Carranza's decision to send delegates to the mediation conference was another factor in favor of the bulls, who have never failed to push their advantage aggressively. Beet Sugar after gaining considerable ground recently, reacted a point.

Prices worked higher slowly through the morning. Although the average advance was small, the market revealed a more decided upward tendency all through the list than for several days. Confident buying of seasoned dividend payers inspired bullish interests in other quarters, especially among low priced shares which offer speculative possibilities. The gold export movement continued with the engagement of $2,000,000 more coin, and exchange rates continued to climb. Demand sterling touched a new high mark at 4.89.10. Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Speculators favored the long side today. Business was small, but there were numerous advances of a point or so. Sluggish conditions prevailed in the latter part of the session and earlier gains were reduced.

DAILY MARKET LETTER.

(Furnished by J. S. Phillips, North American Building, Fort Wayne, Ind.)

Chicago, June 12.—Wheat conditions still bearish. Market making new low points. June break has failed to develop any investment power. Shorts best buyers. Forecast is for warmer northwest and showers elsewhere. Rain has appeared in the drouth sections central west. Cash corn demand slow and coarse grain markets also heavy on rains and sales by recent bulls. Argentine ships no corn to the United States this week. Harvesting is increasing over the southwest and early run of wheat seems assured. Some expectation of showers over the week end. Russia continues to export wheat hetavily and the weekly amounts from India, Australia and Argentina are above expectations.

The stock market is a waiting affair just now, but liable to get out of the rut at any moment. Some expect the rate decision tomorrow after the close of business. If it comes and is favorable, stocks will move and will not stop for some time to come. We do not mean by this that they will always move one way, but we will at least see more activity. Changes in London today were trifling. Paris is being closely watche. Grave doubts are expressed in some quarters that the new ministry can put through the proposed Hugh loan. Paris is overloaded with securities, many of which have proved unprofitable.

Prices of stocks at 2:45 p. m. as follows:

Atchison, 99¼; Copper, 71⅞; Smelter, 64⅛; C. & O., 62; B. & O., 91½; Canadian Pacific, 194; Erie, 29⅜; Missouri Pacific, 18; Norfolk, 105¼; New York Central, 93¾; Pennsylvania, 111⅜; Reading, 165; Southern Railway, 25⅝; St. Paul, 100¼; Southern Pacific, 94¾; New Haven, 86½; Union Pacific, 156¼; United States Steel, 62⅞.

OFFICIAL FORECAST.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight, with probably local showers; Saturday fair.
For Indiana: Local showers tonight; Saturday generally fair.
For Ohio: Unsettled tonight, with probably showers; slightly cooler in south portion; Saturday fair.
For Lower Michigan: Fair tonight and Saturday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Somewhat cooler weather has overspread the northern and northwestern districts and temperatures were not above 80 degrees over Iowa, the Dakotas and Minnesota yesterday. Over the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the southern states excessive temperatures continued yesterday, and 100 degrees was reached at Evansville, Raleigh and Montgomery, with temperatures from 94 to 100 degrees general from the Ohio valley to the gulf coast.

Local showers have given much relief over Missouri, southern Illinois and southern Indiana. A rainfall of 1.50 inches has occurred at Kansas City since last evening, while 0.42 of an inch is reported from Evansville. Light rain was falling at Indianapolis this morning.

The showery conditions which prevail over the central and southern portions of Indiana this morning may spread northward and give some showers in this section this afternoon or tonight, followed by fair weather on Saturday. Moderate temperatures are indicated for the next two days.
W. S. PALMER,
Local Forecaster.

For Graduation Give a Set of Violet Dulce

So many dainty women prefer the fragrance of Violet Dulce, especially in talcum powder. The finest and purest talc, exquisitely scented with the true extract of the fresh-cut Victorian Violets. It is refreshing and soothing, and so impalpably fine that it clings to the skin thus prolonging its soft comfort and satiny appearance. We know that any young woman will find the most altogether satisfactory and delightful she has ever used. Designed not only to fill all the ordinary requirements to which talcum powder is put, but to really benefit the skin, to promote its health and beauty. In either flesh or white. Other Violet Dulce preparations are the Toilet Water, the Extract, the Complexion Powder, Toilet Soap, Cold Cream, etc., of which a complete outfit would delight any girl graduate.

New Ambassador from Turkey Here

A. Rustem Bey

A. Rustem Bey, the very American-looking ambassador from Turkey, who is now establishing himself in the Washington embassy, as successor of Zio Pacha.

president, "is the only thing we can afford to do; a voluntary withdrawal from a position everywhere questioned and misunderstood. We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong, and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation.

"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration. I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."

Speaker Clark, Majority Leader Underwood and other democratic leaders in the house opposed the president's demand for the repeal, but after a vigorous legislative struggle the house, on March 31, passed the Sims repeal bill. The measure then went to the senate.

In the senate, the fight was prolonged and brought the leading debaters of that body to the front. Party lines were largely eliminated. Senator Root and Senator Lodge were prominent among the republicans who supported President Wilson's position in debate and with their votes; the fight against the repeal was led from the democratic ranks, with Senators O'Gorman and Chamberlain leading the opposition to the president.

GETS $11,250 FOR INJURIES.

Session of U. S. District Court Here Ends With Donat Case.

Returning a verdict shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday evening, the United States district court jury in session here for three days reported in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Marion Donat against the Pennsylvania company, and Donat was given judgment in the sum of $11,250 for personal injuries sustained while in the employ of the company.

Attorneys for Donat argued negligence on the part of the company in not having placed lights along that portion of the right of way where the plaintiff was compelled to labor after night. The Donat case was the last on the docket for the session and immediately after a verdict was returned the jury was dismissed and court adjourned by Judge A. B. Anderson.

DRIVES NAIL INTO HEAD.

Man Tries to Kill Himself in Jail at Redkey.

Redkey, Ind., June 1.—A man, who was placed in jail here yesterday after he had appealed to many persons to protect him from an imaginary mob, was found lying on the floor of the jail last night with an eightpenny nail driven full length into his head. The man had tried to drive the nail into his left eye. He said he found this would not kill him, so he tried to drive it through his brain. He used a piece of coal to drive the nail into his skull. The man says his name is Charles Bassitt, age thirty-nine, of Cornwall, Ontario, Canada.

SENATE WIPES OUT FREE TOLLS, 50-35

President Wilson Wins His Victory on Canal Bill Decisively.

FIGHT WAS LONG ONE

Washington, D. C., June 12.—By a vote of 50 to 35 the United States senate last night passed President Wilson's bill repealing the exemption of American coastwise shipping from the payment of Panama canal tolls.

The final vote marked the end of one of the most spectacular and bitterly contested legislative struggles of the last decade. It came at the close of a twelve hour session in stifling heat when senatorial tempers had been worn to a frazzle in the battle over amendments and at least one physical encounter—between Senators Vardaman and West—had been narrowly averted.

Ends Stain Upon Honor.

The action of the senate wipes out the stain put upon the national honor of the United States by the legislation of the last congress remitting tolls to American vessels in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, in which the republic pledged equality of canal privileges to the shipping of all nations.

It also wipes out the indirect subsidy which the remission of tolls would have given the coastwise shipping trust, at the expense of the taxpayers of the nation and the discrimination against the producers and consumers of the middle west in favor of seaboard interests.

How Senators Voted.

The vote in favor of the bill follows:

Democrats—Bankhead, Bryan, Chilton, Clarke (Ark.), Culbertson, Fletcher, Gore, Hitchcock, Hughes, James, Johnson, Kern Lea, Lee, Lewis, Martin, Myers, Overman Owens, Pittman, Pomerene, Saulsbury, Shafroth, Sheppard, Shively, Simmons, Smith (Ariz.), Smith (Georgia), Smith (Md.), Smith (S. C.) Stone, Swanson, Thomas, Thornton, West, White, Williams—37.

Republicans—Brandegee, Burton, Colt, Crawford, Gronna, Kenyon, McCumber, McLean, Nelson, Morris, Root, Sterling, Sherman—13.

The vote against the bill: Democrats—Ashurst, Chamberlain, Lane, Martine, Newlands, O'Gorman, Ransdell, Reed, Vardaman, Thomas Shields—11. Republicans—Borah, Brady, Bristow, Burleigh, Carton, Clapp, Clark (Wyo.), Cummins, Dillingham, Dupont, Goff, Jones, LaFollette, Lippitt, Page, Perkins, Smith (Mich.), Smoot, Sutherland, Townsend, Warren, Weeks Works—23.

Progressive—Poindexter. Total—35.

Story of the Fight.

The question of making the Panama canal free to American vessels was brought to the front when the house, on May 23, 1912, incorporated in the act providing for the establishment of civil government in the canal zone, a provision authorizing the president to charge tolls to vessels using the canal, with a proviso exempting coastwise vessels from such charges. President Taft, in a message to congress had urged the exemption. The bill had been reported to the house providing tolls for all vessels but the exemption provision was adopted as an amendment. This amendment was in the bill as it went to the senate.

Before the bill passed the senate, Great Britain, on July 11, 1912, filed a formal protest against the proposed exemption. The note transmitted to the state department contended:

"The British government thinks that to allow American vessels to pass through the canal without the payment of tolls would be to violate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty whether the tolls are not collected, or whether if collected they are refunded. As to coastwise trade, the British government thinks it would be difficult to frame a provision which would not do justice to their interests."

The Hay-Pauncefote treaty superseded the Clayton-Bulwer treaty under which Great Britain and the United States States were, jointly, to build the canal. The Hay-Pauncefote agreement, after providing rules for the regulation of the canal, based on the rules governing Suez canal traffic, set forth:

"The canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations observing these rules on terms of entire equality, so that there shall be no discrimination against any such nation or its citizens or subjects in respect of the conditions or charges of traffic or otherwise. Such conditions or charges of traffic shall be just and equitable."

British Note of Protest.

The British note of protest started a lengthy diplomatic correspondence on the subject. Great Britain throughout claimed that the United States could not, under the terms of the treaty, make toll exemption of any vessels, whether its own or of other nations. Secretary Knox, who conducted the correspondence for the United States, in several lengthy notes contended that the exemption of American coastwise shipping was in no way a discrimination against other traffic using the canal. He asserted that the exemption was in the nature of a subsidy, paid, not by imposing the tolls for certain American vessels upon other ships passing through the canal, but by the American taxpayers themselves in paying for the maintenance of the canal.

"The avoidance of possible friction," said the note, "has been one of the main objects of those methods of arbitration of which the United States has been for so long a foremost and consistent advocate."

The President's Stand.

Throughout the first year of President Wilson's administration there was a constant agitation for the repeal of the exemption clause. The president let it be known that he favored the repeal, and on March 5, 1914, he delivered an address to congress in joint session, earnestly urging the repeal. The exemption, he said, was a "mistaken economic policy" and was "in plain contravention of the treaty."

O'MARA HELPS IN SIGNING PLAYER

WON THE OPENER 6-2

Patrons game enough to stick to a slumping baseball team and who displayed their loyalty by greeting Manager Harry Martin and his warriors at the milliners' matinee on Friday can thank Ollie O'Mara for the presence of Outfielder Smith, who is regarded as one of the best prospects in the Central league.

Smith debutted at the Claude Varnell stadium yesterday afternoon and displayed speed, good judgment in the outfield and looked like a real ball player from the top of his head to the spikes of his shoes. Speaking of his head the hair therefor was selected from the same pile as Earl Ainsworth's and he would be called "Red" but for the fact that the monicker has been already annexed on the Fort Wayne club. The debut of Smith and Gilmore, the return of Frankie Nesbo and some real pitching by Earl Ainsworth were nearly as gratifying as the 6 to 2 triumph over the Tots in the curtain raiser of the short stay at home.

Returning to O'Mara and his part in the capitaulation of Smith—not Smythe—it was like this: The famous little shortstop who was obtained in the deal with Detroit for Guy Tutweiler and LaVerne Fabrique, and who it was believed would stick in the Central league another season on account of his age, and whose work is featuring the play of the Brooklyn club, and whose courage prompted him to take a "poke" at Manager Miller Huggins, of the Cardinals, is a native of St. Louis. So is Smith.

Mr. Smith concluded early in the season he did not want to play ball at a salary in keeping with the limit of the Central league, and he got a bit ugly about it. When the weather finally warmed up and he saw the other players working hard and earning good money in the game he caught the fever but thought he was "in bad" with the Fort Wayne management and he didn't like to write and say he would report.

While these things were bothering him Ollie O'Mara drifted into St. Louis with the Brooklyn ball troupe and Smith imparted to him the information that he would like to report but was a little doubtful about writing a letter. After the conversation O'Mara took upon himself the task of writing to Charlie Varnell, explaining Smith's attitude and he finally was signed and ordered to report.

O'Mara liked the treatment accorded him here last season and he indicated his gratitude by taking up the Smith case and helping out the management.

Earl Ainsworth got a bad start in the opening chapter of the encounter and probably would have been yanked from the mound if Tommy Atkins had been in shape to take his place but after the first inning the Pittsburg product settled down and held the Quinlan organization tight while his pards came up from behind and scored a victory over Oscar Graham.

In this work he was badly assisted by Manager Harry Martin, whose throwing caused the demise of the three players who tried to pilfer second base on him. Also there was one more feature. Andy Kyle got four hits in as many times up and staged some fielding that kept Fort Wayne's score to the half dozen mark.

Chubby Dolly Gray was outed for a starter in the first inning but Tommy Sheehan matriculated with a single and had a good start on Andy Kyle's double and scored. Ted Anderson battered a sign on the left field fence and sent Kyle over but was caught off second by Ainsworth on Quinlan's grounder. Fisher hit and Meisner was passed, filling the bases, but McLafferty picked Vann off at first and saved the day.

Quinlan's fumble of Martin's grounder, Nespo's single and Fisher's muff of Ainsworth's fly put the locals even in the second. Gilmore opened the seventh with a homer, and Ainsworth was passed with one down. Smith also was passed and singles by McLafferty and Holderman sent in three runs.

SLUMP HITS THE VARNELL TROUPE

Batting Averages Show a General Falling Off in Local Camp.

CLEMENS IN THE LEAD

General Slump has invaded the ranks of the Fort Wayne ball players and as a result most of the batting averages show a decided falling off in their work in spite of the fact that the club has been putting up a better brand of baseball than when it had a couple of hitters above the .300 mark.

Smith had played six games at the time the averages were tabled and he is second in the list with a mark of .364, but half a dozen games do not count for much and he will probably get down to his level within the next ten days. He looks like better than a .300 hitter in class B, but he can hardly be expected, unless he is a phenomenal hitter, to maintain the clip he set in the first few games.

Tommy Atkins is also holding a high average but he has not played for several days and cannot be counted among the regulars now as the club has an outfield that looks likely to stick for the rest of the year.

Manager Harry Martin, in spite of his managerial worries, is hitting better than he did last season and is leading the local squad with an average of .271, and is one point ahead of Freddie Bratchi and three ahead of Jake Holderman, who are second and third respectively.

Mark McLafferty is holding at .263, which is a good figure and which will prove highly satisfactory if he sticks around this mark to the end of the season. It is not quite as satisfactory, of course, either to him or his host of friends as the old figure that topped .300 at the start of the year. The other players are ranging from .232 on down to .190.

Predictions that Ward Clemens, Dayton's snappy little third base recruit from the Cotton States league, would "slow" before the season was six weeks old, do not seem anywhere nearer realization than they did a month ago. Old managers in the league declared the boy was going away above his natural speed but he has played fifty games and is still sticking at the top of the column with a batting average of .367, which is most remarkable and decidedly unusual in the Central league.

Mr. Charles "Punch" Knoll, leader of the Evansville second placers, has evidently found the pitching in the league to his liking as he is right up crowding the leader and in forty-seven games he has run along at .364, which is some mark for a player who it was thought had lost his batting eye, which was his best asset.

Ray "Deerfoot" Spencer, whose single ambition in life is to hit a baseball, and who gratifies this ambition with most discouraging regularity, viewed from the standpoint of the pitchers, is plugging along at .333, which is a pretty comfortable sort of a mark.

Baker, of Evansville, is another batter whose work early looked to be a little bit better than he was capable of through an entire season, is doing about as well as when he got away in the Central and his stick work taken in connection with that of the manager and of Dick Grefe, has kept the Evas trailing the Vets. Tydeman, .327; Hughes, .318; Marshall, .317, are three Grand Rapids batsmen showing speed.

Johnny Nee, Dayton leader, is slumping and is now just above the .300 mark, which is better batting than he ever did in his life. He has been a target for the critics who thought he was going faster than his past records warranted, and the prophesy that he would fall down has been freely made.

Getting down to the real slugging of the league, the other batters will have to take off their hats to Mr. Knoll, who is heading the procession and being kept at top speed by his ambitious young third sacker, Mr. Baker.

Fort Wayne is not represented in the ten leading sluggers or the ten leading run getters, but Bratchi is keeping the city among the ten leading base stealers by his work on the paths.

Skippers Who May Race for the Cup

Charles F. Adams
©UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD.

Capt. D.P. Burton

Yachting men the world over now concede that the races for America's cup this year will be a contest of men rather than of boats. Admittedly Shamrock IV is the fastest boat Sir Thomas Lipton yet has sent to capture the battered old piece of silver which is the greatest trophy of the yachting world, and American yachting sharps declare Resolute is the fastest defender Herreshoff has built.

The contest then comes between two of the greatest skippers in the world—Capt. Charles Francis Adams II and Capt. D. P. Burton. Captain Burton has commanded many of the famous English racing yachts and has long experience in many waters. Charles Francis Adams II. is a yachtsman through love of the sport. He is extremely wealthy and is a great grandson of John Adams, and a descendant of John Quincy Adams. He has been sailing racing yachts for nearly thirty years and is considered one of the greatest masters.

RAISE FIRST PENNANT.

Indianapolis, June 13.—The first pennant of the Federal league, won by the Indianapolis club in 1911, was unfurled at Federal park here. Mayor Joseph E. Bell and other city officials will speak at the flag raising exercises. Indianapolis will play Pittsburg after the ceremonies.

THE RESOLUTE.

This striking photograph shows the towering height of the "sticks" on the sloop Resolute, one of the three American yachts contesting for the honor of meeting Shamrock IV for the international cup. The height of the mast appears in great contrast to the length of the boat, it towering 140 feet in the air, while the craft is but 75 feet on the water line.

Fifteen of Sixteen Major League Managers Need Ball Players

Of sixteen managers in the American and National leagues only one is not complaining; only one is not wanting some one thing to make his team a champion ship team.

If you think that the value of some ball players is overestimated, listen to the managers:

FRAN KCHANCE—A combination of hitters and run getters approaching the Cobb-Crawford combine would make a pennant winner out of our team as it now stands.

HUGH JENNINGS—Give me one of four of the White Sox pitchers and I would claim the pennant right now; just one more pitcher that I could rely upon.

JOE BIRMINGHAM—Give me my regular team and one more reliable right-handed pitcher and we would be up right at the top.

FRANK CHANCE—A combination of ters and we would have a team that ought to win a championship or at least satisfy everyone.

CLARK GRIFFITH—All I need is one hitting outfielder to help out. That would make us the pennant winner.

BILL CARRIGAN—Wagner back in shape, and a finished first baseman and we'd win another championship.

JIM CALLAHAN—Two hitting outfielders and the pennant is ours.

HENRY O'DAY—We need a shortstop and with a topnotch man there we'd go right along.

JOHN M'GRAW—Needs a third baseman of higher calibre to make the pennant a chinch.

FRED CLARK—One more catcher and an outfielder who can hit and he would claim the pennant.

GEORGE STALLINGS—A first baseman and a finished catcher to handle and steady young pitchers, and his team would be up near the top.

MILLER HUGGINS—A hitting outfielder and one more pitcher—and the Cards would be there or thereabouts.

WILBUR ROBISON—A shortstop and one more reliable pitcher.

RED DOOIN—A shortstop to make the team formidable.

CHARLIE HERZOG—A finished catcher and a hitting outfielder, and his team would look best in the circuit.

Judging from that how much luck enters into the making of a ball club. Suppose Chance had happened to pick up a man nearly as good as Cobb, or a hitting second baseman. His team would be right in the pennant scramble. Suppose Herzog had stumbled upon a pitcher like Johnson. The Reds would be figuring on a pennant.

New stars spring up every year and such accidents do happen. First year men sometimes develop suddenly into world beaters—and turn a team from hopeless to a contender. Glance over the lineups—Zabel, Conselman, Acosta, Wyckoff, Pennock, Niehoff, Doak, Fritz, Ulder, Farrell, Evans of Brooklyn.

The White Sox failing to find any hitting outfielders such as they needed, and adding to their already strong pitching staff. There is a lot of luck in the draw besides judgment and brains.

ST. LOUIS SHOWS WELL IN TABLES

Cardinal and Brown Hitters Stand Out in the Averages.

MAISEL SETTING PACE

Chicago, June 13.—St. Louis players lead the batters of the American and National league this week, C. Walker in the American with .357 and C. Miller in the National with .344. In the American next to Walker are Crawford, Detroit, .339; Baker, Philadelphia, .333; Cveleski, Detroit, .333; Cobb, Detroit, .320; Jackson, Cleveland, .314; Milan, Washington, .311; Lelivelt, Cleveland, .308; McInnis, Philadelphia, .301; E. Foster, Washington, .298; Oldring, Philadelphia, .298.

Following Miller in the National are Hummel, Brooklyn, .400; Dalton, Brooklyn, .358; Burns, New York, .356; Gather, St. Louis, .349; Byrne, Philadelphia, .346; Elberfeld, Brooklyn, .344; Grant, New York, .333; Meyers, New York, .333; Cravath, Philadelphia, .325.

Both Philadelphia clubs lead in team batting, the Nationals with .269, just ahead of New York with .268, and the Americans with .266, in front of Detroit with .249. Maisel, of New York, is leading base stealer in the American with 21, and C. Burns, of New York, in the National with 16.

Batterymen continue to lead the American association batters, though Titus' .500 is still untouched. Severn, of Louisville, next to the Kansas City man, has .375; Knight, Cleveland, .372; Hall, St. Paul, .371; Karger, St. Paul, .348; Lake, Minneapolis, .364; Killifer, Minneapolis, .357; Compton, Kansas City, .356; Hinchman, Columbus, .352; V. Clemons, Louisville, and Paddock, St. Paul, .340 each. Wortman and Compton, of Kansas City, lead in stolen bases with 16 each. St. Paul is ahead in club batting with .280, and Cleveland next with .274.

Kauff, Indianapolis, leads the Federal league in hitting, with .404 and in base stealing with 19. Next are Campbell, Indianapolis, .390; Evans, Brooklyn, .385; Bradley, Pittsburg, .378; Lennox, Pittsburg, .369; Mcuire, Chicago, .353; Wilson, Chicago, .347; Mattis, Pittsburg, .340; W. Miller, St. Louis, .339; Walsh, Baltimore, .336. Indianapolis leads in club batting with .286 and St. Louis is next with .274.

BEN KOEHLER TO MANAGE BENDERS

Bought from Jersey City by Owner Ed Smith to Guide Club.

LOUDERMILK BOUGHT

South Bend, Ind., June 13.—Ben Koehler, who played several years with South Bend Central league teams, and who went to Grand Rapids from here and was sold to Jersey City after finishing a most sensational year at second base, has been bought by Owner Ed Smith and will assume charge of the local Southern Michigan league club.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the acquistion of Koehler comes the word that Louis Loudermilk, the Grand Rapids Central league left hander, has been added to the Bender pitching staff and will report to the club at Lansing.

It is believed that the purchase of Koehler and Loudermilk are the finishing touches for the start to the pinnacle of the league standing, as both men are good ball players.

Smith has been trying to secure Koehler since the Southern Michigan league season opened but an agreement on the price held up the deal until last night. The Jersey City club was not anxious to be relieved of the crack player and it was necessary for Smith to pay a round price to secure him.

Loudermilk was secured at a reasonable figure. The Grand Rapids hurler was with Fort Wayne last season, winning 20 out of 39 games in which he participated. He fielded .916 and hit with the usual pitcher's speed. He has been going good this spring and Smith was fortunate in securing him.

Smith is also dickering on a trade which if completed will mean the addition of an outfielder who at this time is hitting .381 in the Southern Michigan league. Manager Smith is sparing neither money nor trouble in strengthening the club and expects to return home next Wednesday with a team capable of defeating any club on the circuit.

The acquisition of Ben Koehler means a big shift in the color of the Benders. Smith will depose himself as manager and place Koehler in charge of the crew. This will give Smith more time in which to work on the mound and will relieve him of many duties which have impeded his playing this spring. Koehler is expected to go to the outfield. Ben hit .314 and fielded .965 in the Central league last season. He hit more than .200 in the International and fielded .955 during the latter part of the year.

He is famed for his brainy playing, while his speed and skill on the bases is considered his greteast asset. With Koehler as pilot of the Bender crew the other clubs will be kept guessing as to what is coming next as Ben has something up his sleeve every minute of the game.

KNIGHTS PLAY HUNTINGTON.

The Knights of Columbus baseball team will go to Huntington, where it meets the Huntington Knights of Columbus aggregation tomorrow. Players will go at 1:10 on the Interurban. The club is neatly uniformed and will play good ball. The management invited all knights and their friends to accompany the club to Huntington for its opening game.

SHOOTERS TO BE HERE FOR SHOOT

More Than 500 Programs Mailed and Many Inquiries Made.

TO OPEN ON MONDAY

Many inquiries received by Dr. A. G. Emrick, president of the Fort Wayne gun club, indicate that the third registered tournament to be held on Monday at Germania park the attendance and the entry list will be fully as large as it was a year ago when all of the cracks of the country were here, and the full capacity of the range was necessary to take care of the men entered in the events.

The Interstate association has donated for the meet three handsome watch fobs to be given as prizes at the match and the committee in charge will decide at the traps before the program is opened in which events these trophies will be awarded.

Officials of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company today agreed to run cars every hour starting at 8:30 o'clock, and as often afterward as the traffic to the park demands, and stated they would do all in their power to aid in making the meeting a success.

Ten events are carded for the day and each at fifteen targets. Local trap shooters have been practicing hard for the meeting and many of them will be contenders throughout the day. Shooting will begin promptly at 9 o'clock in the morning and dinner will be served on the grounds. Fifty dollars in prize money has been added to the three trophies and the events promise to be the most interesting the club has ever given. The Squier money back system will apply to all matches on the regular card.

OUTFIELD INTACT FOR GAMES.

Bratchi Refused to Go on Hospital List of Local Ball Club.

Freddie Bratchi's injury at Grand Rapids was not as severe as the management thought it would be and Manager Harry Martin was able to present on his arrival home an outfield that was intact. He is working under difficulties but will be ready to help out in the double bill scheduled for tomorrow.

Bill Cramer is scheduled for the opening game of the double bill and unless he is forced in in the afternoon game today, he will start against the Tots, with Bramble for the second event. The clubs will wind up the series on Monday afternoon and Fort Wayne will then hit the trail for eight days.

SEAVEY HARDWARE TEAM.

W. R. Seavey to Manage New Baseball Organization.

Employes at the Seavey hardware store have organized the Seavey Hardware baseball team with Otto Wood as captain and Walter R. Seavey as business manager. The team has for one of its pitchers J. F. Brooks, who pitched for three years at Purdue university, and the aggregation expects great things of him.

The team is after games with Fort Wayne and outside amateur nines. All challenges should be sent to the Seavey store. The club has been neatly uniformed by Mr. Seavey, and will present a good appearance.
